LONDON, March 16.—The shipping interests of Germany have beaten the Von Tirpitz-Von Hoeflow war party. Chief among the opponents of Von Tirpitz, who, according to the best authority, is now out of the post of Grand Admiral of the Kaiser's navy, is Albert Ballin, shipping-general of the Hamburg-American line. Tied up in ports of the United States are the most costly ships of the steamship company, the fleet being headed by the gigantic Vaterland, which is interned at Hoboken, N. J. Ballin feared that Tirpitz supremacy of Von Tirpitz on questions of naval warfare would certainly mean war between Germany and the United States. Besides meaning the loss of these German merchant vessels, their seizure, in the event of war being declared, would mean that the United States would be enabled to swell her future trade immeasurably by converting the German steamers to her own use.

HOLLWEG'S VICTORY.

The report that Von Tirpitz was forced to abandon his office because of illness is not credited here. A victory on the part of Chancellor Von Bethman-Hollweg, rather, is regarded as the real reason. The latter

Pullman Porter Says War-ridden Country is Tame Compared with Chicago.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—Mexico is tame compared with Chicago, in the humble opinion of Luis Padilla, a Pullman porter. And Senor Padilla ought to know. For many months he was the personal "baronet of the berths" to the bandit leader, Villa. For years he has been making "the uppers and lowers" while bullets popped and popped and shrapnel danced about him—bullets which came through the car windows as his train sped through Mexico. Then, too, he has enjoyed the privilege of being taken off the train and hearing his fate decided by fellow-Mexicans, whether they should hang him, shoot him or let him go. And he's always been fortunate. Yesterday Senor Padilla arrived in Chicago on a new run and he read the local papers about the strike riots, revolver battles, shootings and hold-ups. Then and there he decided to return to war-ridden, revolutionary-stricken Mexico. Not a sound did he utter in protest when told he was to leave. It was good news to Luis.

Inefficiency.

WILSON RESPONSIBLE FOR THE WHOLE MESS.

Absurd War on Huerta Breeds Still More Strife, Says Senator Lodge.

Massachusetts Man Declares the President Destroyed the Only Government in Mexico that Could Have Restored Peace and has Humiliated the American Nation Before the World — Present the Worst Administration Ever.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LYNN (Mass.) March 16.—The administration at Washington was criticised severely tonight by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in an address, during which he announced himself a candidate for re-election. He spoke before the Lynn Republican Club.

"In my own opinion," he said, "with the exception of the administration of Buchanan, there has been no administration in power which has been so injurious to the United States, both at home and abroad, as that now in control at Washington."

After condemning the tariff and taxation legislation enacted by a Democratic Congress, Senator Lodge turned to the foreign policies of the administration. He said the plans for national defense suggested by President Wilson "proved on analysis to be partly shams and wholly inadequate." Continuing, he said:

RESPONSIBLE FOR MEXICO.

"The responsibility for the conditions in Mexico rests largely on the government of the United States. The present administration found Mexican and American relations in bad condition. They have made these bad conditions infinitely worse.

"The result of the President's war against Gen. Huerta was the destruction of the only government that offered any prospect of order, or peace, or responsibility. The murderers and bandits favored by the administration in preference to Gen. Huerta, who also was a murderer, have been desolating the country and fighting among themselves ever since. Out of this miserable tragedy one thing commands our attention above all others. Americans have been murdered in Mexico; soldiers wearing the American uniform have been shot on the soil of the United States.

"The Americans robbed and slain in Mexico were entitled to our protection, both for their property and their lives. They have had none. Within a week Mexicans have invaded the United States, attacked an American town and killed American citizens and American soldiers. This is the inevitable result of our failure to protect Americans in their rights everywhere by land and sea."

With reference to the administration's policy in the European war, Senator Lodge said that when "the neutral rights of Belgium were shamefully disregarded" the United States was the great neutral power.

ANOTHER LOST OPPORTUNITY.

"We made no attempt," he went on, "to unite under our leadership all the neutral powers of Europe and America in defense of neutral rights. Such a league would have had a powerful influence and prevented some of the horrors of the war and saved us from some of the difficult and dangerous controversies which now menace us.

"More than a hundred American men, women and children, rightfully on board the Lusitania, were sent to their death without warning, and nothing has yet been done except pour out words and carry on inconclusive negotiations for eight months. Not until February 25, when the President's note to Senator Stone appeared, was any real step taken to protect Americans in their rights, and that step which the President then took in words boldly and clearly, but in words alone, came only because his own party in the House was clamoring for the public surrender of American rights in order to conciliate one belligerent and its voters. The Democratic party showed itself to be worse than its own administration. There is, it would seem, a point of humiliation at which the President stops, definitely I trust, firmly I hope. There is no such point apparently to be found in the action of the party to which he belongs.

AMERICANISM.

"We are told the great cry of the Democratic party is to be that their President has kept peace. The virtue of keeping the peace depends altogether on how it is kept. You can always keep the peace if you will submit to any wrong, to any outrage, to any oppression. The peace of this country would have been far better kept, we should be in far less danger of war today, or of war when peace comes among the warring nations of Europe, if we had kept it without humiliation, kept it in honor and without fear.

"We all want peace, we all are against war if it can possibly be avoided, but we shall insist, we Republicans at least, that American rights shall be protected at home and broad."

AMERICA'S SLOGAN IS "GET VILLA."

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—If America has a laureate he is George M. Cohan. If a laureate's cue is ever sounded the present sentiment in America is his call to the colors. Mr. Cohan, who is visiting here, was asked to write a timely verse. Mr. Cohan was beset, busy and "beating it." But he wrote the following lines:

"Let's quit talking of Kaisers and Kings.
"Get Villa.
"Let's quit thinking of all foreign things.
"Get Villa.
"Let's quit talking political views,
"Let's quit wasting our words to abuse;
"Come, Americans—Christians and Jews—
"Get Villa.

PASADENA MAN KILLED AT HACHITA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOMAHAWK (Wis.) March 16.—A dispatch received at Tomahawk on Thursday reported the death of Dean Black, a former resident of Wisconsin. The report further states the young man was killed at Hachita, N. M. It is thought that he was one of the United States cavalry troops sent there under order of Gen. Funston to capture Villa and his outlaw band. The young man, together with his parents, resided at Tomahawk until a year ago, when they moved to Pasadena, Cal. It was there that Mr. Black, who is about 21 years old, enlisted in the United States cavalry. According to reports, the dispatch was sent to Tomahawk in hopes that it would reach the young man's father, who has thus far not been located.

The army authorities are trying to get orders for the disposition of the body.

U. S. CAVALRYMEN ORDERED TO PINTO.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DEL RIO (Tex.) March 16.—A detachment of United States cavalry today was sent to Pinto, twenty miles east of here, in response to a telephone call from there telling of the organization of a force of Mexicans across the border from the border town. The Mexican force is reported to be 150 strong.

TO BUY HORSES FOR THE ARMY.

EAST ST. LOUIS (Ill.) March 16.—Capt. C. E. Hawkins of the quartermaster's department of the United States army arrived here today to arrange for the purchase of 1050 horses and probably 1000 mules in this market.

The government will spend here at once for horses and mules about $325,000.

RUSH TO ENLIST AT CHICAGO STATIONS.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Fifty men enlisted in the United States army at local recruiting stations during the first hour after their opening today. Seven hundred and fifty applications for enlistment were received yesterday.

POPE BENEDICT'S PLAN IS ADOPTED.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, March 16 (via Sayville.)—A definite agreement in regard to the transfer to Switzerland of wounded and sick French and German prisoners of war has been reached between Germany and France. Negotiations were initiated at the suggestion of Pope Benedict. A German proposal to extend the agreement so as to cover civil prisoners has been accepted in principle by the French.

More than 700 incapacitated French and German prisoners are now lodged in Switzerland.

FRANCE BEGINS RULE OF CONQUERED LANDS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, March 16.—The government today asked an appropriation for the provisional civil administration of the conquered territories in the German Kamerun, the administrators to be officers and subalterns of the French forces, assisted by native chiefs. Certain functionaries, especially those having to do with finance, will be sent from Paris.

Scouts from the Mormon Colonies are Leading United States Troops.

Punitive Expedition is Proceeding Under Ideal Weather Conditions — Secretary of War and the Officers of the General Staff Hold a Night Conference to Read Dispatches from Funston — Censorship Tightened.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Secretary Baker and officers of the General Staff assembled at the War Department tonight to read reports from Gen. Funston. One long dispatch in code was received, but Secretary Baker said it contained no news of importance and would not be made public.

EL PASO (Tex.) March 16. — The Seventh and Tenth cavalries, said to be advancing into Mexico by forced marches from Culberson's ranch, near Hachita, N. M., were nearing the Villa territory in the Casas Grandes region tonight, according to the most reliable information which could be obtained here.

These troops were reported to be marching with the minimum of equipment and to be led by scouts from the Mormon colonies at Colonia Dublan and Colonia Morales. From their point of departure the distance is eighty-five miles to Casas Grandes and the start was made early yesterday morning. If Villa intends to offer any organized resistance to his pursuers it might be possible for United States soldiers to come in contact with his outlying posts very soon.

The American expedition is penetrating Mexico under ideal weather conditions. The hot season will not be reached for a month or six weeks and if the windmill wells are not dried up, the water supply situation should be relieved.

MORMONS SAFE.

Definite information that the Mormon settlements with their 500 American men, women and children were safe and unmolested was brought here today by Daniel Hurst, son of P. H. Hurst, the Mormon bishop resident here. Mr. Hurst brought news understood to be of much military importance, which was forwarded to Gen. Pershing. Hurst refused to make public its nature or details.

According to Hurst, Villa has at most 400 men, some of whom are wounded. He said also that it was not believed in the Mormon colonies that the bandit chief had more than 500 men with him when he raided Columbus.

What the intentions of Villa are remained a profound mystery today. Andres Garcia, the Carranza Consul here, asserted that he was satisfied that Villa had disbanded most of his men and intended to take refuge in the heart of the Sierra Madres with only a few trusted companions.

"Thousands of men are not needed to pursue Villa," said Consul Garcia. "He has no intention of fighting anyone, but will take refuge in the mountains which he knows so well. He will be captured, I believe, when a price is put on his head."

A CARRANZA DENIAL.

A flat denial that there were any Carranza troops with the American expedition was made today by Gen. Gavira, the Carranza commander at Juarez. Gen. Gavira made this statement after being informed that news of the presence of Mexican soldiers with Gen. Pershing came from American headquarters at San Antonio. He declared that the troops of Gen. Calles reported to be with the Americans were scattered between Chihuahua, Madera, Pearson and Guzman and that Gen. Bertani with an escort was at Juarez. All efforts to find Gen. Bertani at Juarez failed.

Fresh troops have arrived at Juarez, but the Mexican authorities would give no information as to the number of men now in the garrison. Trains loaded with provisions have crossed the Rio Grande from the American side, but their destination was kept secret.

Safe.

REFUGEES FROM TORREON REACH TEXAS BORDER

LAREDO (Tex.) March 16.—Traveling the entire distance in box cars, Consul C. A. Williams and eighty-six other Americans arrived here late today from Torreon, Mex., having left the Mexican city, they said, because they were convinced it was the best thing to do. Eleven Americans joined the party at Monterey.

There were a number of American women in the party, including Mrs. Williams. Consul Williams said he would remain at Laredo or near the Mexican border pending instructions from the State Department. Other members of the party said a few unmarried American men remained in Torreon. Durango City, it was said by several of the American refugees, is cut off entirely from all manner of communication with the outside. There are said be at least twenty Americans there.

NEWS OF PERSHING'S DASH IS RECEIVED QUIETLY.

NOGALES (Ariz.) March 16.—News of the crossing of United States troops into Mexico was received quietly by the Mexican people of Guaymas, Hermosillo, Magdalena and other towns along the west coast on the line of the Southern Pacific Railway of Mexico, according to Americans who reached Nogales tonight.

Dr. W. Woodman of Douglas, Ariz., who returned from Hermosillo, said manifestos were issued there by the Carranza authorities telling of the arrangements with the United States government for the pursuit of Villa and urging the population to remain calm, he said.

Lieut.-Col. Garcia, in command of the garrison, assured American residents a special train to the border would be placed at their disposal any time they desired it. George J. Richardson, manager of the Mexican National Trading Company of San Francisco, said that the news was taken calmly by both newspapers and population of Guaymas.

STEAMER TUBANTIA SUNK; AMERICANS ON BOARD.

Holland-Lloyd Vessel Goes Down Either as Result of Striking a Mine or Having been Torpedoed—All the Passengers and Crew Said to Have been Rescued When the Wireless Calls Were Sent Out.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, March 16.—The Holland-Lloyd passenger steamer Tubantia sank early today off the Noord Hinder lightship as the result of striking a mine or an attack by a submarine.

All the passengers, among whom are said to have been several Americans, and the members of the crew, are believed to have been rescued. The steamer carried between eighty and ninety passengers and a crew of 200. She was a vessel of 15,000 tons.

The Tubantia left Amsterdam Wednesday for the River Plate and was to have stopped at Falmouth for additional passengers and freight. Early this morning wireless distress calls from the steamer were received at the Hook of Holland and torpedo boats and other craft rushed to her assistance. Some of these boats reached the steamer before she sank and took off passengers and members of the crew, while others picked up survivors from the ship's boats, in which they had taken refuge after the explosion.

The first flashes from the liner said she had been torpedoed and was in a sinking condition near the Noord Hinder lightship. Later messages credited the disaster to the vessel coming in contact with a mine.

Among the American passengers said to have been on board the Tubantia was Richard Schilling, described as an American Consul, and his wife and daughter.

Seventy survivors of the disaster were taken into Flushing, Holland, by two torpedo boats. Others took refuge on board the lightship, while still others were picked up by Dutch and Swedish steamers. Those arriving at Flushing said the explosion occurred at 2:30 o'clock this morning, just as the Tubantia was about to drop anchor. Opinions among them vary at to whether the vessel had struck a mine or had been torpedoed by a submarine.

A wireless dispatch from the captain of the Tubantia declared that the vessel had been attacked without warning, according to a dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam. The torpedo, the dispatch says, struck the stern of the steamer.

Among the passengers on board was Dr. Luis Salinas Vega, Bolivian Minister to Germany, with his wife and three daughters, bound for Buenos Aires.

REPORT AT AMSTERDAM.

AMSTERDAM (via London) March 16.—The Royal Holland-Lloyd officials inform the Associated Press that Consul Schilling, his wife and daughter, were American passengers aboard the Tubantia.

The American consular records do not contain the name of "Consul Schilling."

DUE TO MINE, SAYS BERLIN.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, March 16 (via Sayville.)—The Overseas News Agency says the Dutch newspaper Nieuwe Rotterdamshe Courant publishes a telegram dated Ymuiden, March 16, saying that the steamer Tubantia was not sunk by a torpedo, but by a mine, and that all the passengers were rescued in boats.

The news agency adds that according to the Amsterdam Handelsblad a torpedo boat with sixty-five survivors on board arrived at Amsterdam at 12:30 o'clock today. The same newspaper has received reports from Ymuiden that according to the declaration of port officers no American citizens were on board the Tubantia.

Other telegrams say that the steamer was anchoring when it was struck by a floating mine.

BRITISH BOMBARD OPEN GREEK TOWN.

BERLIN, March 16 (via Sayville, N. Y.)—"Reports have been received here from Athens that British warships have bombarded the open town of Vuria, near Smyrna, of which the inhabitants are nearly all Greeks," says an Overseas News Agency item given out today. "The town, the report states, was almost entirely destroyed. A part of the Greek population was taken to Mityiene.

"The Athens advices state that the news has caused a storm of indignation in the Greek capital."

Swamped.

SIX MEN ARE DROWNED AS FISHING BOAT SINKS.

PRINCE SUPERT (B. C.) March 16.—The Pacific American Canning Company's tender Alpha, which left Bellingham on Sunday for Alaska, was swamped off Rachel Island near here this morning. All on board, with the exception of a deckhand named Christiansen, are believed to have perished.

Christiansen says that as the Alpha listed and filled he threw a small boat clear and drifted away. The last he saw of Capt. Miller and the engineer they had life belts on and shouted that they would try to reach an island three miles distant. The wind and tide carried Christiansen to an island near Digby, where he righted the boat and, with an improvised paddle, reached Metlakatla this afternoon.

Local launches and the steamer Malaspina are out searching for other survivors.

HAD CREW OF SEVEN.

BELLINGHAM (Wash.) March 16.—The tender Alpha left here last Sunday bound for Excursion Inlet, going light. It was in charge of Capt. S. W. Miller of South Bend. The engineer, Louis Roche, is from Bellingham. The other five members of the crew are not residents here.

AUTO SKIDS; ONE KILLED.

BERKELEY, March 16.—One man was killed and three were badly hurt when an automobile skidded and crashed into a pole on the outskirts of this city this morning. The dead man is believed to be John Crane, address unknown. The injured men were E. C. Woodworth, an expressman; William Metlink, an electrician, and E. H. Baker, owner of the machine, all of Berkeley.

Holland liner Tubantia sunk.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

The retirement of Von Tirpitz as head of the German Admiralty seems to be all but officially confirmed. The failure of the promised submarine campaign against armed merchant vessels to develop is said to be due to the differences between him and the Kaiser, that have now reached the climax. Fear of the seizure of German interned vessels everywhere is back of the quarrel. There are indications that the Germans contemplated two grand attacks at Verdun and that the second failed to develop on account of the heavy losses sustained in the first. There is nothing in the dispatches to indicate that the Verdun campaign is likely to succeed.

The military censorship on the Mexican border is more rigid than when first instituted. Little information is coming through aside from the expected gossip about the hunt for Villa. There are indications, however, that the United States punitive expedition is nearing Villa territory and the public need not be surprised to hear of interesting developments soon.

NAVY BEING PREPARED FOR ALL EMERGENCIES.

Vessels to be Put in Fighting Trim; Big Increase in Army.

War Department is Getting Ready for Contingencies in Case Carranza Should Change His Mind or Lose Control of His Troops—Deficiency Appropriation Bill is Rushed Through Congress.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—Extensive preparations are now being made to put the United States Navy in fighting trim so that the American government may not be taken unaware if the optimistic assurances of the support of Gen. Carranza should prove unfounded.

There are two possibilities in connection with the present expedition into Mexico that are recognised by the War and Navy departments. One is that Carranza may change his mind and withdraw his support; the other is that he may lose control of the army, which may then oppose the American expedition.

Advices received by the War Department, as well as the State Department, today indicated that the Carranza forces are co-operating with Gen. Pershing's troops. The government, however, does not intend to be caught unaware. That is why no time is being lost in recruiting the army to its full strength and the recruiting stations have been opened for those who are willing to enlist.

It is because the navy is not in fighting shape that the House so promptly passed the urgent deficiency bill carrying $3,360,800, of which $3,575,000 is for navy ordnance, stores, repairs and other immediate needs of the department. The navy yards are to be hurried in their repair work.

FROM VERA CRUZ.

If the actual operation of the American expedition should eventually arouse resentment and lead to war the invasion of Mexico, which doubtless would follow, would be launched at Vera Cruz and not over the American border. An immediate emergency would find most of the fighting ships some distance away and it was thought best to get such ships as the Minnesota, now at the Philadelphia navy yard, into proper condition for a trip to southern waters, where it will be handier in case of a fight.

Transports, such as the Hancock, also at the Philadelphia yard, are being prepared for the transportation of troops. It is not believed at the War Department that any of these emergency measures will be necessary, but the government is at last playing safe.

The plan for military camps of instruction at Monterey, Cal., and other points under the Plattsburg idea, was officially approved by the Secretary of War today. In a formal statement to the Governing Committee of the Military Training Camps Association of the United States, Secretary Baker assured the committee of the continued co-operation and support of the War Department.

This means that it is the intention of the War Department to hold camps at seven or more different points in the United States this summer, under the instruction of regular army officers and troops. Plans are under way for holding camps at Plattsburg, on Lake Champlain, N. Y.; Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.; Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis; San Antonio, Tex.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Monterey, Cal.; American Lake, Wash., and at other points. Enrollment for the camps is now being made at the headquarters of the association, No. 31 Nassau street, New York City.

BAKER'S APPROVAL.

"I heartily approve and indorse the valuable and patriotic service that is being rendered to the country by the army training camps for civilians," said the secretary in his statement. "I believe in the work of these camps, not only from the military point of view, but as of value to the nation, educationally, in promoting discipline, order and good citizenship. The camps are exactly in line with the sound policy of reliance upon a citizenry trained to arms as our main safeguard for defense.

"I appreciate highly the service rendered by the university presidents and civilian committees who are forwarding this movement. These camps were originated by the War Department in 1913, for the training of students, and have been since extended for the benefit of our citizens, with gratifying results."

WHY BRITISHERS ARE SAFE.

Their Government Goes to Their Rescue with Powerful Expedition.

[Frederick M. Davenport in the Outlook.]

I SOMETIMES wonder whether a thoroughgoing democratic ideal, even though imperfectly realized at home, is not disqualified by its very nature from understanding and dealing with less advanced peoples. I think not, in the long run. The American people have given altogether too little consideration to foreign affairs, but I believe the instinct of the American democracy is sound even about the Philippines and Mexico. But there is no field of policy in which democratic theory is so likely to go astray.

The romantic sentiment about weaker peoples struggling for freedom—how it frequently captured the imagination of Gladstone! And yet what a mess he made of Gordon at Khartum! In foreign policy this prince of the English democracy was not the equal in efficiency of his grim old Conservative competitor, Disraeli.

Disraeli was never haunted by specters of democratic idealism at home or abroad. But his Abyssinian coup d'etat in the '50s of the nineteenth century is a model. A representative English subject was imprisoned by the King of Abyssinia in the fortress of Magdala without cause assigned. Disraeli sought to discover the cause, but without success. He thereupon embarked 10,000 British troops upon transports and ships of war, under the leadership of Gen. Napier. They landed on the east coast of Africa, marched across the desert to the foot of the hill on which the fortress stood, and demanded its surrender.

Upon refusal, they stormed and took the fortress, the King of Abyssinia killing himself with his own pistol. Then they reached down into the dungeon and drew up that one British subject, marched back across the desert, embarked again upon the transports and ships of war, and returned the British captive to his home in safety. That expedition cost Great Britain $10,000,000 and made Gen. Napier, Lord Napier of Magdala. But for a generation the person and property of a British subject were safer anywhere in the world than the person and property of the subject of any other country.

AMMUNITION DELIVERED TO THE CARRANZA ARMY.

Three Hundred Thousand Rounds are Released by Douglas Officials.

This is Only the First Consignment, as Much More is to Follow—Act is Declared to be Proof of America's Confidence in the de Facto Government — Censorship of Official Messages is Amended.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 16.—Three hundred thousand rounds of rifle ammunition, the first shipment of a consignment of 700,000 rounds, will be delivered tomorrow to Gen. P. Elias Calles, military Governor of Sonora, by the local customs officials. The cartridges are to be used by the detachment of Carranza soldiers led by Col. Dato Campbell, former commander of the Mexican garrison at Agua Prieta, in aiding the United States troops to capture Francisco Villa and his bandits.

The ammunition, which has been held up here by customs officials since Sunday, was released late today by orders from Washington. This action in aiding the de facto troops to obtain the cartridges, it was declared by Ives G. Lelevier, Mexican Consul here, would be of material benefit in assuring many residents of Sonora that the United States intended no aggressive action against the Mexican government.

"It proves," he added, "that the American government has confidence in the intention of the Mexican government to co-operate with the United States soldiers in pursuing the bandits of Villa. Many Mexicans have believed that the ammunition would be held up indefinitely."

According to Mr. Lelevier, the remainder of the ammunition purchased by the de facto government should reach Douglas within a day or two by express. It is to be sent immediately upon arrival to the Carranza troops operating in Eastern Sonora, to cut off Villa's retreat in that direction.

Censorship placed by the United States army officials against all messages in code to points in Mexico was amended today to allow Consul Lelevier the use of code words in official telegrams.

Gen. Calles, immediately following announced the telegraph censorship in Sonora also had been changed so as not to affect telegrams sent to American consular officers in Hermosillo, Guaymas and other cities in Mexico by Frederick Simpich, United States Consul at Nogales, Sonora. In offering Consul Lelevier to file a number of official messages the American authorities requested that he not send them via Nogales or El Paso. Messages from the consulate, therefore, will be sent through Agua Prieta, Juarez, opposite here, and through Laredo.

Army officers here ordered telegraph companies yesterday to refuse all telegrams in code to points south of the border, and official messages of the Mexican consulate were among those refused. In retaliation, official messages of American Consul Simpich were refused transmission to points in Mexico.

The First Cavalry, comprising six troops, arrived here during the night from Monterey, Cal. They went into camp near town to await further orders. They left Monterey Monday.

ALL VILLA LIES.

Reports here of alleged reconnoitering of Mexicans of the invasion of the territory by American soldiers apparently emanated from Villa and other sources antagonistic to Carranza on this side of the border. One report, saying Gen. Alvaro Obregon had been assassinated was traced to this source.

Gen. Calles received a message from Col. Dato Campbell today stating he was making all possible haste to get to Ojitas pass with his column of 600 cavalry in order to prevent Villa entering Sonora.

Censorship.

PRESIDENT KEPT IN THE DARK OF MOVEMENTS OF THE ARMY.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—An impenetrable wall of secrecy surrounded tonight the movements of American troops beyond the Mexican border. So far as official Washington was advised the columns might have vanished into thin air after they crossed the international boundary yesterday in pursuit of Villa. Even the Commander-in-Chief, President Wilson, did not know where Gen. Pershing's men were.

Secretary Baker received virtually no reports from Gen. Funston dealing with events beyond the border. Late today he said he did not know whether the troops had proceeded southward from their first bivouac on Mexican soil last night. The only dispatch from the border made public during the day reported the death of Lieut. Zell, Eleventh Cavalry, at the Columbus Hospital, where he took his own life in a fit of despondency.

Army officials were convinced that no important developments were to be expected for several days. It seemed plain from the day's accumulation of rumors that Villa was far to the south of his American pursuers.

The War Department would not divulge any details of the number of troops across the border or of the regiments sent. Press advices, however, showed that infantry accompanied the cavalry and artillery out of Columbus in the main column. That means slow progress across the desert. It will take days, it is said, to cover the distance to Galeana, the last town where Villa was reported unofficially to have been seen.

CONSULS TO AID.

American consuls in Mexico so far have been able to give little aid to the troops, although all are on watch for information that might indicate the bandits' movements. Consular advices today continued to report general quietness. Officials displayed some concern over the situation in the Tampico district, however, where there are signs of unrest.

The State Department denied that other American consuls than Consul Williams at Torreon were leaving their posts. Williams, they said, merely represented that he was leaving because of rumors. He did not specify the conditions which he viewed as alarming. One other Consul at first reported he would leave; but later changed his mind, saying the situation had cleared.

CLOSING IN.

No reply has yet come from Gen. Carranza to the American note announcing the acceptance of his proposal for reciprocal action on the border. The fact that his troops evidently are co-operating with the American columns is viewed as answer enough in itself for the time being. The international forces are forming a huge steel ring about the bandits' lair, slowly closing in from all sides.

Reports from the scores of recruiting agencies reopened yesterday throughout the country began to filter into the War Department today. They contained little information. By the end of the week Adjt.-Gen. McCain expects to have figures available on the number of applicants who have been accepted. Not more than one man in five usually proves acceptable. When the depots turn in their first five-day report, however, a clear indication will be available as to the time it will take to enlist the 20,000 men Congress has voted to add to the army immediately.

Precaution.

BATTLESHIP KENTUCKY ORDERED TO VERA CRUZ.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The battleship Kentucky, now at New Orleans, was ordered to Vera Cruz today by Secretary Daniels. She will sail as soon as she can be provisioned and coaled.

It was explained at the Navy Department that the Kentucky, which recently went from Vera Cruz to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras celebration, was returning there because there was no naval vessel now on the east coast of Mexico with wireless equipment sufficiently powerful to maintain regular communication with Washington. The intention had been to send the vessel to Philadelphia from New Orleans.

The Kentucky will finish coaling tonight and her officers expect to sail for Vera Cruz early tomorrow.

TENSION IN CANANEA; INVASION NOT KNOWN.

Carranza Garrison is Still Ignorant of the Departure of Gen. Pershing's Force — Mines and Smelters are Working at Full Force — American Soldiers are on Patrol Duty at Nogales, Ariz.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NOGALES (Ariz.) March 16.—American arrivals here late today from Cananea said that while tension there has been noticeable recently, no popular resentment against Americans had manifested itself up to this morning. They said they believed that the Carranza garrison there had not been apprised of the departure of the American expedition.

Reports here yesterday that two American miners had been stoned to death at Fuertacitas, near Cananea, were denied by today's arrivals. It was said, however, that two Mexicans recently had been put to death at that place by Carranza troops, presumably as spies.

The mines and smelters were reported working at full force.

Both Nogales, Ariz., and Nogales, Sonora, continued quiet tonight. United States soldiers under the command of Col. William Sage were stationed on patrol duty every few hundred feet throughout the American city. For the first time in several days no Carranza soldiers were seen in the streets on the Sonora side today. It was reported that the small garrison had been withdrawn to the hills south of the city. Few Americans crossed to the Mexican side, but those who did reported they received courteous treatment.

M. J. Kingsbury, superintendent of the Sonora division of the Southern Pacific of Mexico, returned tonight from an inspection trip to Guaymas and said that there were few signs of disturbances in Western Sonora. For several days an armed man has been aboard every Southern Pacific train between Tucson and Nogales.

After Villa.

AMERICANS PLOWING A WAY THROUGH THE DESERT SAND.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) March 16.—Somewhere south of New Mexico, perhaps twenty miles and possibly a greater distance, Gen. Pershing and the divided force he is commanding are encamped tonight. They have had no encounter with Mexicans and their progress into Mexico in search of Francisco Villa and his little army has been uninterrupted, according to the laconic messages received by Gen. Funston.

"Merely plowing their way through the desert sand," were the words of Gen. Funston, in summarizing the day's developments.

The campaign is being conducted on the assumption that the de facto government's troops will co-operate in the efforts to destroy Villa and his followers, but wit hthe exception of the support given by a portion of the small garrison at Palomas, opposite Columbus, which joined Gen. Pershing's column, as scouts and guides, military headquarters here was without evidence tonight that active aid would be given by Carranza's army.

The statement of Gen. Gavira, commander at Juares, that, while he had given orders for co-operation, in accordance with the instructions from his government, he personally did not fully indorse such action, was the basis for comment by army men, but those high in authority expressed the hope that discipline would prevail in all cases over personal opinion as it had in the case of Gen. Gavira.

HEADING OFF VILLA.

Gen. Calles, commanding the Mexican troops in Sonora, is reported to have placed at strategic points in the eastern part of that State some 4000 men to prevent the entry of Villa, and Gen. Luis Gutierrez is supposed to be directing five columns in Chihuahua to prevent the fugitive rebel from making his escape over the trails to the south or east.

A clash between any of the Carranza troops and the Americans is not anticipated by the American army officers, but the danger that some small mutinous band might attack a detachment of the American punitive force has not been ignored. Should such an incident occur army men here say it could scarcely be due to mistaken identity, since the uniform, equipment and general appearance of the Americans is sufficiently unusual in Mexico as to make confusion impossible.

Secrecy is maintained as to the exact disposition of the punitive force, its composition and future movements. In general, it is admitted that juncture of columns now heading south will be made before the end of the week, perhaps Saturday, when they will be some fifty miles south of the international boundary line.

OPEN COMMUNICATION.

Gen. Pershing will maintain his communication, by means of wireless and courier, automobiles and aeroplanes being at his disposition for the latter. Gen. Funston arranged today for a direct telegraph wire from El Paso to Fort Sam Houston in order that there might be as little delay as possible in receiving Gen. Pershing's reports, and the problem of preventing amateurs from interfering with the transmission of wireless reports was discussed with agents of the police.

Rumors of an unfriendly attitude assumed by Mexicans generally towards Americans in Mexico continued to be received at Gen. Funston's headquarters, but they were not taken with great seriousness, although it was admitted they tended to show that unofficially the interference of Americans in what many of the people regard as their own affair, was unwelcome.

In no report of Gen. Pershing to Gen. Funston has there been any mention of sniping or other aggression by Mexicans. The last report was received after 6 o'clock tonight.

FUNSTON WELL PLEASED.

Gen. Pershing's start into Mexico without opposition from Mexican forces, and apparently without serious disturbance resulting along the border, was the big topic of conversation at Fort Sam Houston, headquarters of Maj.-Gen. Frederick Funston.

Ever since he began planning the expeditionary movement Gen. Funston has paid close attention to the attitude of Gen. Carranza and his followers. When Gen. Pershing wired yesterday that he had crossed the border and had been joined by the Carranza forces stationed at Palomas, the major-general evinced great satisfaction. This was heightened today when early reports indicated that the only violence along the entire border occurred near Kingsville, Tex., where a small detachment of troops guarding the Barredo bridge on the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico Railway was fired on in the dark about midnight.

First stories of this affair were that at least 100 shots were exchanged before the attackers, said to be Mexican bandits, retired. It was later announced from Fort Brown at Brownsville that not more than five shots were fired, none taking effect. For fear that another attack might follow reinforcements were sent from San Benito.

CENSORSHIP AN EXPERIMENT.

While the primary purpose of the censorship ordered by Gen. Funston was to mystify Francisco Villa, it is known that it also was in the nature of a military experiment, partly to determine the attitude of the American newspapers and people toward such methods. That it met without any sort of objection, and in many cases was freely indorsed by newspapers, was a surprise to Gen. Funston, who had said when he announced the secrecy plans: "I suppose they will haul me into court for this."

Gen. Funston voiced his satisfaction that, after the public fully understood the situation, there had been no expressions of impatience at the failure of the expeditionary force to make an earlier start.

It was generally felt in army circles that, in consuming only a week in preparing for the search after Villa and at the same time for the defense of the border, the southern department had done fast work. There was a shortage of rolling stock in many sections; there was no large force available at any particular point, supplies had to be transported, and mounts for the cavalry had to be added.

MARRIED MEN REVOLT; CRY "BACHELORS FIRST."

LONDON, March 16.—Premier Asquith and the Earl of Derby were criticised severely at a large meeting here today of married men who have attested for service in the army. Speakers declared there still were 2,000,000 men available and that the married men would refuse to serve until Premier Asquith redeemed his pledge to bring out the single men before the others were called to the colors.

The feeling of the meeting was intensified by the reading of a letter from Mr. Asquith declining to receive a deputation representing the married men on the ground that the matter was subject to be dealt with by Parliament.

The meeting adopted by acclamation resolutions demanding that the Premier receive deputations and that all proclamations calling up married men be withdrawn.

Harmony.

MUTINY AT OJINAGA DENIED BY COMMANDER.

MARFA (Tex.) March 16.—Absolute denial that de facto Mexican government troops at Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, had created a disturbance, or even expressed antagonism against Americans, was made tonight in telephonic messages here from Gen. Rojas, Carranza commandant at Ojinaga. Recent reports stated the garrison at Ojinaga had revolted because of the American expeditionary force entering Mexico and either killed their commander or forced him to take refuge at some point near there.

Gen. Rojas stated a band of Villa adherents on the American side had attempted unsuccessfully to stir up antagonism among his troops. There is, he said, a band of Villa bandits located at Santa Rosalia, 125 miles south of Ojinaga, the nearest point to the border that any of these bandits are operating in the Ojinaga district, and that his garrison could control any attempted invasion of the United States on their part.

The United States patrol headquarters here has the border situation well in hand and is in close touch with the Big Bend country of Texas, which is apparently quiet.

ENSENADA PEOPLE QUIET DESPITE OUR INVASION.

SAN DIEGO, March 16.—The torpedo-boat destroyer Stewart, which was dispatched to Ensenada at midnight last night by Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow, returned to port tonight. Lieut. Bernard Wills, commander, reporting normal conditions prevailing at the Lower California port.

Lieut. Wills informed Admiral Winslow that news of the movement of American troops into Mexico in pursuit of Villa had been received by the military and civilian population of Ensenada without any outward sign of indignation. This report set at rest fears that an anti-American demonstration might occur. There are only about twenty Americans in Ensenada, but a number of others are in the immediate vicinity, Lieut. Wills said.

HOSTILE IRISH SOCIETY IS BULL-BAITING BRITAIN.

LONDON, March 16.—The Post publishes an article in regard to what it characterizes as the serious situation in Ireland on account of activity on the part of the Sinn Fein Society. It says:

"From motives of patriotism English newspapers hitherto have refrained from commenting on the situation in Ireland, but it is developing with such rapidity and gravity that silence is no longer possible.

"Through the south and west a vigorous organized campaign against recruiting is being carried out without serious hindrance. Within a few weeks several persons have been indicted and tried in Dublin, but in every case acquitted by the jury amid tumultuous applause from those in the courtroom. All these trials took place before ordinary juries, and we await with impatience the time when the authorities will utilize their powers to have such cases tried before special juries or military tribunals.

"In Cork a committee recently appointed to organize the St. Patrick's Day celebrations was offered the use of several companies of Irish soldiers but the committee refused to allow them to participate, stating in reply: 'The British army is in hostile occupation of Ireland and it would be as absurd for Belgians to invite a contingent from the German army to participate in a Belgian national celebration.'"

GERMAN ATTACK IS BEATEN OFF

French Army Still Victors at Dead Man's Hill.

Whole Front is Fighting from Belgium to Vosges.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, March 16.—Another very strong German attack was delivered this afternoon against the French positions at Le Mort Homme in the Verdun region, but the assaulting forces were driven back in the direction of the Corbeaux wood, where, according to the official statement issued by the War Office tonight, the concentrated fire of the French guns inflicted heavy losses on them.

No infantry attack took place today on the right bank of the Meuse.

WHOLE FRONT ENGAGED.

LONDON, March 16.—Repulse at the hands of the French again has been the net result of a German infantry attack launched with huge efforts after a heavy bombardment against French positions at Le Mort Homme, northwest of Verdun. The Germans, who attacked in serried masses, were driven eastward toward the Bois des Corbeaux, where the French guns inflicted heavy casualties on them.

The attack at Le Mort Homme constituted the only infantry maneuver along the entire French front, but from Belgium to the Vosges artillery on both sides has been active at numerous points. Around Douaumont and the village of Vaux the big guns are operating with redoubled violence, while southward in the Woevre the artillery duels in the Meuse hills continue.

In the Argonne forest the French guns still are shelling the German positions northwest of the road from Varennes and German batteries near Bagatelle.

The latest German official communication making references to French attempts to "dispute our possession of the height of Le Mort Homme" has brought forth a statement that the Germans never have gained a footing on the hill, which the French still hold. Only engagements between patrols have taken place on the Russian front.

ITALIANS GAIN.

The Italians continue strongly on the offensive against the Austrians on the Isonzo front, especially on the Gorizia heights sector and southwest of San Martino. On Podgora the Italians entered the Austrian lines, but according to Vienna, were repulsed in vicious hand-to-hand fighting.

Both Austrians and Italians claim successes around San Martino. The Austrians assert that an Italian attack in this sector failed and that the Italians left numerous dead on the field. The Italian official statement declares that, after severe artillery and mine preparation, the Austrians launched two strong attacks and succeeded in reaching the edge of the position taken from them recently, but were on each occasion repulsed, "leaving the ground covered with dead."

WEEKS OPPOSES AN ARMOR PLANT.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Senator Weeks, Republican, opposing the bill for government manufacture of armor plate, in a speech to the Senate today declared the speculative and uncertain character of dealings with the government justified and compelled the high prices demanded by the manufacturers.

"I am informed," said Senator Weeks, "that representatives of the manufacturers offered to permit expert accountants to examine their books and plants, and report actual costs, provided this information were not made public. No business man will fail to recognize the fairness of this."

SUGAR TARIFF MEASURE PASSED BY THE HOUSE.

Thirteen Democrats and One "Red" are the Only Ones to Oppose, the Administration Bill—Action Prevents the Free Clause from Going into Effect the First of May. Debate Causes Little Enthusiasm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—With thirteen Democrats and the lone Socialist member opposing, the House today by a vote of 346 to 13 passed the administration bill to retain the present tariff of one cent a pound on sugar instead of permitting the free clause of the Underwood-Simmons Tariff Act to go into effect on May 1. The measure now goes to the Senate.

Voting against the bill were Representatives Bailey of Pennsylvania, McKellar, Buchanan, Sabath and Tavenner of Illinois, Callaway of Texas, Fowler and Gordon of Ohio, Hilliard of Colorado, Howard of Georgia, Sherley of Kentucky, Thompson of Oklahoma and Van Dyke of Minnesota (Democrats) and London of New York (Socialist.)

Debate on the measure aroused little enthusiasm until late in the day, when Majority Leader Kitchin took the floor to close the argument. It was one of the few times Mr. Kitchin appeared for an administration measure during the session. Almost every Republican member was pressed into service by the minority leaders.

WHOLE TARIFF ASSAILED.

A spirited exchange resolved itself into a general assault upon and defense of the entire Underwood-Simmons Tariff Act. Opening with the charge that the Republican party had abandoned free-sugar organization in the United States, and quoting from Congressional records and campaign platforms of the early nineties to the present, the majority made attacks from former Speaker Cannon, Representatives Fordney of Michigan, Cooper of Wisconsin, Greene of Vermont and other Republican tariff specialists.

The sole cause for the proposed repeal of the free-sugar clause, Mr. Kitchin said, was that imports had fallen off due to the European war making the sugar taxes necessary to meet the expense of the government. Incidentally, he declared, the Democratic party never had committed itself to a free-sugar act for all time.

"I have heard a great many people denounce the Underwood act, but I have not heard a solitary, single Republican defend the Payne-Aldrich law," he added. "You repudiated the very act you passed in the first Congress following its enactment. President Taft at the very first opportunity after that act went on the statute books promised the people to revise it."

CANNON INTERJECTS.

"The Payne-Aldrich tax I approved of then," interrupted Mr. Cannon, "and I have never apologized for it since, and I would to God it were on the statute books now."

"Then you are repudiating the platform of the Republican party in 1912," Mr. Kitchin replied, "as you promised to revise the tariff after a commission had acted and specifically declared the Payne tariff act was too high and ought to be cut down."

Representative Bailey made a futile attempt to amend the bill so as to suspend the free clause until May 1, 1917, by which time, he said, he hoped the war would be over. Motions by Representative Howard to recommit and to amend the measure so as to preserve a tariff of one-half a cent a pound on sugar and to place a tax of 35 per cent. on raw silk were overwhelmingly defeated.

Sixty-fourth Congress.

DEFENSE BILLS BEING RUSHED.

Army and Navy Measures are Given Right of Way.

Vote in the House is Expected by Tomorrow.

Senate Sidetracks All Business for Quick Action.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Sweeping aside intervening issues, Congress set the stage today for prompt action on the national defense measures urgently pressed by President Wilson since the session began.

The House voted unanimously for a special rule under which the army increase bill will be taken up at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, with passage by Saturday night in prospect. A ten-hour limit for general debate was fixed despite the fact that the bill is the most far-reaching military measure ever favorably reported to the body.

The Senate Military Committee completed its final review of the Senate army increase bill and it was in the hands of the printer tonight. Senator Chamberlain, with the administration's influence behind him, will insist that it be taken up promptly, displacing the water power bill now under consideration unless the latter reaches a vote in a few days. The Senate measure in some respects proposes an even more drastic change in military policy than is provided for in the House bill.

Indications are that the joint conference committee, which will adjust the two bills and frame the final measure, will be at work within three weeks. The legislative framework of the army increase project may be an accomplished fact within another month.

NAVY BILL PROGRESSING.

While the naval programme has appeared to progress more slowly, possibly it will be completed sooner than the army projects. The increase bills for the army, known as organization bills, are distinct from the appropriation measures, which will provide money to carry out the authorized plans. These will have to be framed and passed after the passage of the organization bills.

The navy bill, under hearings for months before the House committee, is composite, including the appropriations as well as the programme. Hearings will end about April 1 and the completion of the measure is expected to take but a short time by the committee.

The Senate Naval Committee will not hold hearings on the appropriation bill. It has before it now the personal reorganization measure carrying out Secretary Daniels's plan for selective promotion.

WILSON URGES HASTE.

The House acted today after President Wilson had summoned leaders and urged them to make haste with the defense programme as a duty to the nation. Representative Burnett, who had right of way on the floor with the immigration bill, was induced today to make way for the army measure and the special rule went through with a rush. The immigration bill will be taken up next.

Although the rule adopted allows only ten hours of general debate, there probably will be extended discussion under the standing rule providing for five-minute speeches after the general debate closes. This may prevent a vote before next week, but every effort will be made to dispose of the bill by Saturday night.

The Senate committee made several changes in its bill on final review. As it will be reported tomorrow, it will include a provision designating postmasters all over the country as recruiting agents. The scheme was suggested by army officers. It contemplates paying a fee to postmasters for every recruit enrolled through their efforts and accepted for service. A fee for preliminary physical examination by civilian doctors also will be provided.

TWO BILLS DIFFER.

The essential difference between the House and Senate bills lies in the provisions as to the regular army.

The House measure proposes to add new organizations to the existing establishment to give it a total peace strength of 150,000 fighting troops. The proportions of artillery and cavalry to the whole army would be changed to produce a well-balanced organization.

The Senate bill provides for a sweeping reorganization of the regular army in all departments as urged by the War College in the plan of 1912. It provides a peace strength of 178,000.

Of first importance in both bills, army officials declare, are the provisions for the organization of Federal volunteers after the federalization of the National Guard to the utmost legal extent has been accomplished. The House bill would work out the project of building up a great citizen army in peace times through extension of the summer training camp plan. The Senate bill proposes to go directly at the task, giving the President wide authority to authorize regiments in every Congress district.

CITIZEN ARMY.

Details of these proposals in both bills are left to the army appropriation bill, which will follow. Both schemes, however, are directed toward a full test of the possibility of raising and training a citizen army when no emergency of war exists. The Senate bill would permit the continental army plan to be worked out virtually as it was proposed by former Secretary Garrison.

The measures differs slightly in the provisions as to federalization of the National Guard. Both approach the task through militia-pay provisions, however, and the limits of pay are identical. The House bill fixes a minimum force of 400,000 for the Guard within five years, while the Senate bill places its figure at 250,000.

CANADA TO OBTAIN LOAN IN NEW YORK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 16.—A group of American bankers, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., are negotiating with the Canadian government for the flotation of a new Canadian loan, according to a statement issued by the Morgan firm today. The amount has not been finally determined, but it was intimated that it would be in the neighborhood of $75,000,000.

J. P. Morgan & Co. issued the following statement:

"A group headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., Brown Brothers Co., and Harris, Forbes & Co., has been in negotiation with Dominion authorities covering a proposed issue of Dominion of Canada bonds, subject to legislative consent. The group referred to probably will organize a syndicate in the near future for the purpose of handling such securities.

"It is expected that the issue, the total amount of which has not yet finally been determined upon, will be divided into equal maturities running for five, ten and fifteen years."

It was believed in financial circles that the proceeds of the loan would be employed by the Canadian government for internal use.

The bonds will bear 5 per cent. interest.

FOR INTERNAL USE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) March 16.—The $75,000,000 Canadian loan announced in New York was forecast in the Commons by the Finance Minister Monday when he gave notice that he would move a resolution to confer the statutory authority necessary for negotiation of the loan. The notice explained that it was expected to raise by way of loan in addition to any sums already authorized an amount not exceeding $75,000,000, required for paying maturing loans and obligations of Canada, carrying on authorized public works, and meeting general expenditures of Parliament.

SERBIAN PRINCE ARRIVES IN ROME.

ROME, March 16 (via Paris.)—Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia arrived here today and was received with royal honors. Acclaimed by crowds, he proceeded to the Quirinal, where he was received by Queen Helena and the Duke of Genoa in the name of King Victor Emmanuel, who is at the front.

Prince Alexander said that when the history of the war was written it would be difficult to find a tale of greater endurance and loyalty than that of the retreat of the Serbians to the Adriatic. He found it impossible to express his gratitude to the Italians, who, in co-operation with the French and British, saved more than 150,000 veteran Serbian troops. This achievement, he said, sealed the friendship of Serbia and Italy and pledged them to "friendly mastery of the Adriatic."

Wabash Employee Confesses to Stealing Eighteen Thousand Dollars.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, March 16.—Robert E. Rigby, assistant cashier of the Wabash Railroad, today confessed to a shortage of $18,000. He has been arrested.

F. M. Myers, superintendent of a surety company, said a discrepancy in Rigby's accounts led to an investigation and that Rigby, who had been in the Wabash employ seventeen years, confessed to peculations extending over eight years. He said Rigby declared he had spent the money in gambling.

STEEL TRADE AT FLOOD TIDE.

Greatest Business on Record Enjoyed the Past Year.

Total Income of Corporation Nearly a Half Billion.

Employees' Salaries Close to Two Hundred Millions.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 16.—The fourteenth annual report of the United States Steel Corporation, covering operations for 1915, issued today, discloses the remarkable recovery of the steel and iron industry from its low state of the preceding year and the first quarter of 1915 to the highest level of activity and prosperity ever known. The corporation's total volume of business is recorded at $486,352,054 against $380,228,143 in 1914. This increase of $106,123,911 represents a gain of 27.9 per cent.

Of the total amount gained, domestic business showed an increase of 15.9 per cent, and export business 122.4 per cent.

Earnings of $140,250,066 show an increase of $58,503,548 over 1914 and balance of earnings, less interest on outstanding bonds and mortgages of subsidiary companies, is increased $58,732,396.

A net income of $97,967,692 is a gain of $51,447,555 and the balance, after interest payments on all classes of outstanding bonds, is greater by $52,337,064. Surplus net income amounting to $44,260,374 replaces a deficit in the previous year of $16,971,984, an actual gain of $61,232,308.

SURPLUS INCREASES.

Total undivided surplus on December 31, 1915, exclusive of profits earned by subsidiary companies on inter-company sales, aggregated $180,025,329, against $135,264,472 in 1914. Ordinary maintenance, renewals and extraordinary replacements amounted to $43,866,643, or about $2,000,000 less than in the preceding year.

Iron ore mined in 1915 totalled 23,669,676 tons, an increase of 38.95 per cent.; coke manufacture aggregated 11,172,914 tons, an increase of 29.77 per cent.

Blast furnace production increased from 10,052,457 to 13,641,509 tons and steel ingots from 11,826,476 to 16,376,492 tons.

The average number of employees totaled 191,126, against 179,353, and total salaries and wages amounted to $176,800,864, against $162,379,907. The average daily salary or wage per employee was $2.92, an increase of 4 cents.

GARY'S STATEMENT.

"The improvement in the demand for iron and steel products," says Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board, "which became evident before the middle of 1915, continued in increasing volume throughout the remainder of the year, both for domestic and the export trade. Until the latter part of the year, however, the advances in the prices received for domestic business were moderate and the average selling prices received for the year were only slightly in excess of those for the preceding year. In the closing months of the year the demand for products for the domestic trade for future delivery exceeded the producing capacity of the country and caused price advances. The demand for products for export was the largest for any year in the history of the corporation."

UNCOVER DRUG THEFT.

Quantity Secured by Police would have Netted $300,000.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT (Mich.) March 16.—In the arrest of Emil West, an employee of a local wholesale drug concern, and a raid on his rooms today, Federal officials claim to have uncovered one of the biggest habit-forming drug thefts they have ever known.

In the rooms they declared two suit cases filled with drugs were found. The officials said the drugs were stolen from West's employers. They placed the wholesale value of the seizure at $50,000, but said it could be retailed among drug users for fully $300,000.

TIRED ALL THE TIME

It is good to feel tired sometimes, when you have exercised sufficiently to cause a healthful feeling of fatigue.

But, you should be refreshed by rest. A tired feeling that does not disappear even after a night's sleep is abnormal. It means that you are anemic or debilitated, that you need a tonic to build you up and fortify your system against such a condition. If you do not you are inviting disease because thin blood means that the body's defense against the inroads of disease is lowered.

Thin blood is largely the sufferer's own fault. It results from neglect, because the blood can be built up. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply the elements that the blood needs to make it rich and red and to enable it to carry more oxygen. Building up the red portion of the blood is simple but because thin blood does not call attention to itself is often neglected. Have you seriously considered taking a course of treatment with these blood-making pills? If you are in doubt write for information.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box; six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write now for the free booklet "Building Up the Blood."

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean, the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

AT ONCE! STOPS STOMACH MISERY AND INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy Stomachs feel fine.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly, ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down; Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometime—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

Lime Medication in Tuberculosis

In the N. Y. Medical Record of December 5, 1914, Dr. John North of Toledo says: "I have come to the conclusion that one of the most prominent causes (of tuberculosis) is 'lime starvation.' In all cases of incipient tuberculosis there is a deficiency of calcium. Many do not eat food containing enough lime. In such cases we must resort to lime medication."

Eckman's Alterative should be given a fair trial in such cases, because one of its chief ingredients is calcium (lime,) in such combination with other remedial agents as to be easily assimilated by the average person.

Where its use is combined with proper diet, fresh air and hygienic conditions, we believe it will prove beneficial in any case of tuberculosis.

It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so is safe to try.

FOUR STRIKES ON IN CHICAGO.

Unorganized and Low-priced Workers are Out.

All Demand Higher Wages of Their Employers.

Gompers's Agitator Arrives to Initiate Trouble.

CHICAGO, March 16.—The police of Chicago now have four comparatively unorganized strikes of low-priced labor to deal with.

Three of them developed today in addition to the strike at the plant of the Corn Products Company at Argo. Four hundred laborers quit at the Pullman car shops, demanding an increase from 21 cents to 25 cents an hour. A number of laborers went out at the Patent Vulcanite Roofing Company, asserting that they would not return until their wages were increased from 17 to 25 cents an hour. The third movement involved a small number of Chicago & Alton railroad track laborers employed in the vicinity of the Argo plant. They claim that the railroad has not given them an increase promised for March 1.

Emmett Flood, representing the American Federation of Labor, appeared at Argo to organize the strikers. Only minor disturbances were reported.

LABOR SLUGGER SHOT TO DEATH.

CHICAGO AGITATOR IS LURED FROM HIS ROOM.

Killing is Regarded in Union Circles as Sequel to Slaying of Jimmie Kelly on Wabash Avenue a Year Ago—Brother Takes Occurrence Philosophically.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—Tom Dillon, labor slugger, lured from his room and his wife by a ring at the door, was shot to death early this morning.

His widow wept over the body and vowed vengeance, saying hanging was too good for the assassin, but his brother, Jerry, received the news calmly.

"They got him unarmed," he said. "Careless of Tom. He knew what was coming to him and should have had his shooting iron in his hand.

"It's the result of a gunman war that began when Jimmie Kelly was tumbled over on Wabash avenue, near Twenty-second street, a year ago. A lot of labor sluggers thought Tom did him because Kelly had told them he was 'out to get Dillon that night.'

"Friends of Kelly have been laying for Tom ever since, and some of the big men in the labor world realized he knew too much. He was dangerous—and dead men never turn State's evidence."

Frank Knox, who was a friend of Dillon and who lived in the same flat, was taken into custody. He is being held. His wife and Mrs. Dillon are also in custody. The police believe they know more about the shooting than they wish to reveal.

It was shortly before 2 o'clock that the door bell rang—Dillon was preparing for bed—but he had his boots on. He was shot twice in the back and twice behind the ear.

LYMAN IN CONTEMPT.

Refuses to Answer Any Questions in Bankruptcy Proceedings.

NEW YORK, March 16.—John Grant Lyman, awaiting trial here on a charge of swindling investors throughout the country in a stock selling scheme operated under the name of John H. Putnam & Co., was adjudged in contempt of the Federal District Court today for refusing to answer questions in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings against the firms of which he was head.

Lyman's mother-in-law, Mrs. Jane Hartman, ignored a subpoena served upon her and it was announced an attachment would be issued to compel her to attend the hearing. Lyman, accompanied in court by his wife, would not even admit his identity, persisting, when questioned, in the reply, "I decline to answer." Judge Hough became impatient with the erstwhile stock broker and declared that if Lyman succeeded in obtaining the necessary bail to free him from prison on the swindling charge the court would recommit him for contempt.

Lyman has been imprisoned in the Tombs since he was returned here several weeks ago from Florida, where he fled after the exposure of his alleged stock swindling.

EXTORTION CHARGE LAID.

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 16.—The Prosecuting Attorney's office today filed a complaint against Elsie Coots, charging that she extorted $500 from A. M. Bailey, a real estate agent, last year, by threatening to tell Bailey's wife of his alleged misconduct with Miss Coots, who was formerly stenographer in Bailey's office. Miss Coots's bail was fixed at $2000. She was arrested in San Francisco with Lillian Peterson of Miles City, Mont. These two and Mrs. Isabel Clayburg, now under arrest in Los Angeles, are said to have belonged to a gang of blackmailers who extorted large sums of money from wealthy Seattle men.

"DR." NEW IMPATIENT.

"Newthot" Head Protests Against Postponement of His Trial.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—"Dr." Newo Newi New, who styles himself bishop of the Newthot Church, and Mrs. Marie Tully Graham, his associate in the church, who were arrested last September, charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud, appeared before Federal Judge Maurice T. Dooling today to protest against the postponement of their trial till July on account of the illness of United States Attorney Preston. Counsel for "Dr." New declared that the defendants were prevented from gaining a livelihood pending their prosecution. According to Assistant United States Attorney Thomas, Dr. New is making use of the mails to solicit subscriptions from followers of the church for his defense.

COUNSEL FOR COURT ATTACKS DENVER AND RIO GRANDE.

Declares to Override Order Holding up Sale of Road Would Give Colorado Carrier a Chance to Escape Its Responsibilities as Guarantor of Bonds.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad interests were declared to be "masquerading in three forms and trying to shield themselves" in a legal battle being argued today before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for immediate control of the Western Pacific Railroad. Garret McEnerney, representing Judge William C. Van Fleet, made the declaration in opposing arguments made by counsel for the Equitable Trust Company, which is seeking an order compelling Judge Van Fleet to order the sale of the Western Pacific, and orders annulling other rulings by Judge Van Fleet.

The important ruling for which annulment is sought is an order by Judge Van Fleet compelling the Denver and Rio Grande, as guarantor of the $50,000,000 defaulted Western Pacific bonds, to plead as a defendant to the Western Pacific foreclosure suit that a construction of its responsibilities can be had before the road is ordered sold.

"This is arranged litigation—the Equitable Trust Company on one side and the railroad on the other," said Attorney McEnerny. "I won't say there is collusion but I do say there is a concert of action.

"The Denver and Rio Grande is trying to shield itself in this litigation. The plan for an immediate sale without first construing the contractual rights of the Denver and Rio Grande as guarantors of the interest of the Western Pacific bonds would inure to the benefit of the Denver and Rio Grande," added counsel for Judge Van Fleet.

He intimated that should the sale of the Western Pacific be permitted now the Denver and Rio Grande might escape later what he believes its responsibility to pay guaranteed interest.

CAPT. OVERTON'S CHARGES ARE NOW BEING HEARD.

Action to Secure Accounting and Other Relief for Alleged Mismanagement of Mining Concern Is Started Before United States District Judge Van Fleet.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—The hearing of the suit of Capt. W. S. Overton, United States Army, retired, of Maryland, against officers of the Presidio Mining Company, for an accounting and other relief for alleged mismanagement of the company, began today before United States District Judge Van Fleet. Capt. Overton, in behalf of himself and army officers, who are minority stockholders in the concern, began the suit a year ago.

William S. Noyes, president of the company, one of the officers sued, was recently arrested on complaint of Capt. Overton and held to answer in the police court on the charge of embezzlement.

It is alleged by Capt. Overton that for two years Noyes dominated the affairs of the company to his own private profit and to the loss of the stockholders. The company owns mining property in Presidio county, Texas.

PROGRESSIVES ARE HEDGING.

Johnson Fixing Things so He Can Jump Either Way.

Bosses Plainly Puzzled by Turn in the Tide.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—There is an amusing hesitation displayed among the members of the pay roll brigade here when asked whether they are going to vote as Progressives or Republicans in the May primaries. For the first time there has come forth from the Governor's office direct instructions. The Governor himself seems puzzled by the conflicting reports which he receives from his field lieutenants.

This perplexity increased today when the list of delegates to the Progressive national convention was announced and the names of the Governor and Chester Rowell were not among them. The decision on the part of the Governor to stay out of the Progressive national convention was an eleventh hour departure. The ticket as at first made up contained the names of Johnson, Rowell and Edwin T. Earl of Los Angeles. But at the last moment they were all three withdrawn.

ONLY ONE WITH NERVE.

State Treasurer Richardson is the only Progressive State official who has expressed himself. "I expect to remain as a Progressive," said Richardson this morning. "I see no reason why I should forsake my party. If the two are merged at Chicago under the name Republican, it will then be time enough for me to change my registration to Republican."

But in this Richardson does not voice the sentiments of the other Progressive leaders. Most of these are figuring to "get by" the May primaries by registering without stating their party affiliations. They will take part in the May primary without making a declaration when they register; but they will have to declare themselves when they go to vote at the primary day. The word has already been passed out from the Governor's office that "to register without stating party affiliations will be satisfactory," and this tip will be followed by most of the 6000 State employes. These are nearly all supposed to be protected by the civil service regulations from the politicians; but it is interesting to note that in 1914 less than 200 of the 6000 employes registered as either Republicans or Democrats. Word was passed out that year that "it will be satisfactory for State employes to register as Progressives."

HEDGING.

It is pretty well understood that the pay roll brigade will be expected to turn out in its full strength on Presidential primary day and vote for the Republican delegation headed by Guy Earl and other corporation magnates. This ticket has the open support of the administration; but the administration lieutenants have been warned to be careful that they do not support that ticket too openly, or to do so would compromise the chances of the Governor in case the ticket is beaten.

It is observed, however, that even one of the 124 subsidized Progressive papers in the State are opposing the regular Republican ticket and urging their readers to support the Earl ticket. The assertion was made by these papers that the Earl conferees were composed wholly of Republicans, but the names of two members of the Earl conference appear on the list of delegates to the Progressive national convention.

GREEK CONSUL PROTESTS.

Declares Arrest Is Violative of Country's Treaty Rights.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Cleanthe Vassardakis, Consul-General of Greece at San Francisco, today announced that he had made a formal protest to the Greek Minister at Washington against his treatment by the local court's and sheriff's officials. Vassardakis is confined to bed at his hotel today under the care of a physician as a result of his efforts to prevent the execution of a judgment against him.

"The treaty between the United States and Greece has been violated. consular papers and consular property have been removed from my office and my consular dignity has been offended and my constitutional rights have been violated," declared Vassardakis.

A legal firm recently obtained judgment against the Consul for $622 for legal services. When Vassardakis failed to appear in the Superior Court in answer to this suit a writ of attachment was issued charging an attempt. A stay of his arrest was granted by the State Supreme Court on the contention that he was not subject to the jurisdiction of the State courts. Yesterday a deputy sheriff and a policeman appeared at the Consulate to satisfy the judgment by seizing a quantity of small Greek coins belonging to Vassardakis which had been on exhibition at the exposition. Vassardakis was convicted but the officers were trying to arrest him for violation of the Supreme Court's order and resisted. He was then arrested and was knocked down and dragged to the police station.

WEAVERVILLE (Cal.) March 16.—County authorities here said today that it is their belief that the bones found in front of a deserted cabin in Lower Trinity Creek a week ago today are those of William Hagge, 811 Fifth avenue, North Seattle. ## SNIPERS' SHOTS HIT AMERICANS.

Troops so Far Unmolested to Any Great Extent.

Aeroplanes are Tried Out on Plains of Columbus.

Strict Military Censorship Prevails on Border.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (N. M.) March 16 (via El Paso.)—While most of the reports reaching here unofficially from the Mexican border, indicating that the American troops in Mexico were unmolested in their advance, there were also reports that a few snipers had been encountered. There was nothing to show which of the American columns might have encountered snipers.

According to these reports, six or seven soldiers of the American expedition had been hit by snipers.

Troop trains came in here during the night and Columbus awoke today to find the camp had grown considerably in population since last evening. Quartermaster wagons left constantly over the road to the south during the day.

Into a sage brush plain off to the south of the camp a number of aeroplanes were tried out. Curiously, although a flying machine had never been seen here before yesterday evening, today the residents of Columbus scarcely took the trouble to look at them. None of the aviators has yet joined the advance columns, so far as could be ascertained here.

The strict military censorship of all news on troop movements out of Columbus has not yet been relaxed.

NEW ARMY UNITS FORMED ON BORDER.

EL PASO (Tex.) March 16.—New and powerful army units were rapidly forming today along the Mexican border to fill the gaps left yesterday when the first expeditionary army entered Mexico from two points on the New Mexico line. In El Paso, Brig.-Gen. Frederick Bell, Jr., moving in here on the heels of Brig.-Gen. John J. Pershing, who led the first force into Mexico, was busy gathering a new organization and attending to the supply problem, the food, water and communications for more than 4000 men who today were out on a virtual march rapidly getting farther from their bases.

The Twenty-third Infantry from Galveston was pitching its tents at Fort Bliss here. At Columbus, N. M., the Tenth Cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe, arriving during the night, was ordered to move in after the first army troops had gone, or in which direction it would go, or in which direction Columbus was today the important base for Brig.-Gen. Pershing's army.

BRITAIN UNCERTAIN OF MEXICAN ATTITUDE.

NARROW ESCAPE OF THE PATRIA.

French Steamer is Attacked Without Warning.

Torpedo Misses Vessel Only by Thirty Feet.

Many Americans Reported on Passenger List.

NEW YORK, March 16. — The French steamer Patria of the Fabre line, carrying among her passengers twenty-nine Americans, including an American consul, was attacked without warning by a submarine off the Algerian coast March 1, Capt. Pierre Deschelles announced today upon the arrival of the ship from Mediterranean ports. A torpedo directed at the Patria missed the ship by about thirty feet.

Olney Arnold, American Consul-General at Cairo, was a passenger from Naples to Lisbon. He told Capt. Deschelles he would forward a full report of the attack to the United States government. It was news, however, to Capt. Deschelles, that cable dispatches have since reported that Mr. Arnold, who was returning home, died at Lisbon the day after his arrival there.

Information received by the State Department was that he was on the verge of a nervous breakdown at the time of his departure from Cairo.

The night before the submarine appeared Capt. Deschelles received the warning, "Be careful; submarine sighted about 100 miles from Cape de Guarde," by wireless from Algiers. He remained on the bridge all night and posted fifteen look-outs around the ship.

The captain said he did not see the submarine or the torpedo, but both were seen by his first officer and a number of passengers. The ship was making full speed at the time. Orders were immediately given to steer a zigzag course, and no further trace of the submersible was seen.

"I regret to say that I did not have any guns," Capt Deschelles said, and added that he would make a request that his ship be equipped with guns when he returns to France.

Capt. Deschelles said he had already sent a full report of the incident to the French government.

One of the passengers, Mrs. Friedenberg, whose address was not known, became ill from shock as the result of the submarine attack and left the ship at Lisbon. She was bound for New York, but said she was afraid to continue on the voyage. The majority of the Americans were naturalized citizens.

At the time the attack occurred there were 723 passengers aboard, of whom 332 were women, eight babies and 383 men. The steamer took on a large number of passengers at Lisbon and The Azores and when she arrived here she had a passenger list of 1961 persons.

INQUIRY IS ORDERED.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Only unofficial advices concerning the reported submarine attack on the liner Patria had reached the State Department tonight, but officials indicated that an investigation of the incident probably would be ordered tomorrow. The report said to have been forwarded from Lisbon is supposed to be coming by mail.

Unless the identity of the submarine, which sent the torpedo astern of the Patria, can be established, which seems unlikely as only a periscope is said to have been seen, it will be difficult for the American government to act. The embassies at Berlin and Vienna may be instructed to ask for information, but unless Germany or Austria admits responsibility the case hardly would be regarded as warranting formal representations.

Official information regarding the sinking of the Dutch steamer Tubantia, off the coast of Holland, also is lacking here.

First News.

VILLA'S PLANS REVEALED BY A CAPTURED BANDIT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 16.—Gen. P. Elias Calles, military Governor of Sonora, reported officially to Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Mexican War Minister, today, that his command had captured a prisoner who revealed Villa's plans and whereabouts in detail. Copies of this report, Gen. Calles said, were forwarded to Gen. Gavira by him and to the United States Army officers at Columbus.

The man was captured at Dos Cabezos and was in the attack on Columbus, Calles said, and added:

"He informs me that Villa, after the attack, went directly to the Corralitos ranch, where he murdered [illegible] cowboys because they refused to give him horses. From Corralitos he went to Chocolate, where he stopped on the 13th. From there he went direct to Galena."

This is the first prisoner known to have been captured since Villa's raid. He is being held in Agua Prieta.

TODAY'S BEAUTY TALK

You can make a delightful shampoo with very little effort and for a very trifling cost if you get from your druggist a package of canthrox and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. Just pour a little at a time on the scalp and rub briskly. This creates an abundance of thick, white lather that thoroughly dissolves and removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt. After rinsing, the hair dries quickly, with a fluffiness that makes it seem heavier than it is, and that takes on a rich luster and a softness that make arranging it a pleasure.

CIRCUS THRILLS.

Al G. Barnes's Animals Perform Exciting Feats and Comedy Acts that Cause Laughter—Lions and Lambs and a Thousand Other Beasts Entertain.

A circus is essentially a place of thrills. Under the big top of the Al G. Barnes's wild animal circus, at Washington street and Grand avenue, there are thrills of all kinds. After one has been brought to the verge of nervous prostration by the daring feats of the animals and their trainers; after the clowns have caused side-splitting laughter, a beautiful woman rides into the ring, and the sweet appeal of song, smooths the flurried emotions.

Al G. Barnes says his circus is the only one of its kind. In the average circus, people riding horseback, wrestling with wild animals, and do comedy cabarets, but in this circus the animals, 1000 in number, do all the acting. Sultana, a hybrid, half lion and half tiger, rides an Arabian stallion. Apes kingaroos, elephants, lions, tigers, zebras, camels—the only trained camels and zebras—horses, mules, Shetland ponies, seals and many other animals, are the performers.

The feature of the circus is the group of twenty-four African lions and their trainer, Herr Louie Roth. The lions, said to be the most valuable single collection in captivity, are valued at $50,000. Samson, the aviation lion, rises, with his trainer, Miss Stark, above the heads of the audience, in a shower of skyrockets. He does not evince the least fear of fire, the most feared of all enemies of animals.

Comedy pigs and goats ride running horses; a tiger, an ape, a bear and a lion ride horses; elephants and bears have a modern cabaret; two seals, mounted on galloping horses, toss a large ball from one to the other; leopards and llamas excite and amuse, and after the excitement has died down, pigeons fly from under the big tent and alight upon an equestrienne and her horse.

DEATH OF VETERAN.

Daniel F. Bacon, 60 years of age, a veteran of the Civil War and for twenty years a resident of this city, passed away early yesterday morning at his residence, No. 1243 Berendo street, after a long illness. Funeral services will be conducted in the chapel of the W. A. Brown Company at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Bacon leaves the widow and a son, Daniel F., Jr., both of the Berendo-street address.

The San Francisco Examiner, the most successful Hearst newspaper, in its issue of Sunday, March 5th, gave its readers and advertisers capital advice in the following words:

"When in doubt as to which of two mediums to use, choose the one with the greater amount of classified advertising.

"The small and mighty want ad., in dominating numbers, is the best associate for the advertiser who would be successful."

The Times prints more "Want Ads" than all other local newspapers combined; and, having used in Los Angeles for many years the same argument employed by its San Francisco contemporary, it welcomes this approval of its judgment in the matter.

PARTY POLITICS MEETS APPROVAL.

VOTERS ALL OVER STATE SIGN REFERENDUM PETITIONS.

Even Some Progressives Opposed to the Pill Johnson Would Administer—Presidential Campaign is Making Remarkable Headway. Precinct Club Elects Officers.

With only a few days left in which signatures for the proposed registration amendment referendum can be secured unusual activity marks the closing days of the campaign. Nearly 40,000 names have been signed to the petitions, but no less than 25,000 more will be sought because those in charge of the campaign want to be positive that the required number of signatures—47,000—are bona fide.

Reports from Chairman L. B. Carey, who is in charge of the northern campaign, are most encouraging. He declares that the voters in San Francisco and vicinity are rallying to the support of the referendum and he expects to do as well north of the Tehachepi as Chairman Benton is doing in the South. The latter declared yesterday that Los Angeles county is in the lead and will maintain it.

There is enthusiasm throughout the State and it is not confined to the Republican party. Prohibitionists, Democrats, Socialists and even some Progressives are bitterly opposed to the pill that Gov. Johnson would give them. They are not convinced that party politics should be eliminated merely to further the ambition of a one-man organization and are showing their resentment by signing the petitions.

Despite the misinformation circulated for the purpose of influencing the gullible ones that it is not necessary for a voter to state his party affiliation at the time he registers the great majority are doing so. They know that if the referendum petitions are signed by a sufficient number that the registration amendment passed at the last extra session of the Legislature will not become effective and unless they have registered their party affiliation they can not participate in the August primaries. There is no question about the referendum being upheld and the voters do not care to be put to the trouble of making a special trip to the Courthouse to reregister.

JACKSON IRISH BORN.

Speaker at Hibernian Banquet Tells that Seventh President First Saw the Light in County Limerick, and Most Others had Irish Blood.

One President of the United States was foreign-born, James Cussen, president of the order, told the Ancient Order of Hibernians at their annual banquet in Columbus Auditorium last night.

"Andrew Jackson was born in County Limerick, Ireland, and he became the seventh President of the United States," declared the speaker, adding, "Ninety per cent. of the Presidents have had Irish blood in their veins. Jackson was one of the greatest men that has occupied the White House."

The toast, "The President of the United States," was proposed by M. J. McGarry, county president of the Hibernians, who was toastmaster. He added, "It is my hope that at our next banquet we will celebrate the independence of Ireland."

It is estimated that 500 persons were present.

Mayor Sebastian was to have spoken on "The City of Los Angeles," but was unable to attend. Other speakers were Anna M. Prendergast, Rev. Joseph McManus, D. Joseph Coyne and W. J. Ford. Song selections were given by James P. Burns, P. J. O'Donnell, Maude Kearney and George A. J. Howard.

Gen. P. H. Barry, commandant of the Soldiers' Home, and Maj. Martin McGinnis, Congressman from Montana, were guests of honor.

led in the fight against a continuation of Von Tirpitz's submarine policy of general destruction.

For two months it has been a matter of general knowledge here that Von Tirpitz and Von Bethman-Hollweg have been deadlocked in a desperate struggle for supremacy in shaping the sea policy of the German empire. Von Tirpitz had the support of Von Reventlow, while Von Hollweg represented the large shipping interests of Germany.

THE U-BOAT FIASCO.

During the last two weeks the allies have awaited the beginning of the promised and much-advertised reign of new sea frightfulness which the German navy was to establish, by its own proclamation, on the first day of March. When the renewal of the submarine warfare on a greater scale failed to materialize it was evident in England that the fight for the control of Germany's naval warfare policy was still being waged. From Berlin came occasional bits of information which indicated that the struggle was desperate and that results would be shortly announced. It was even rumored that Von Tirpitz had resigned.

Except for the unusual number of German mines dumped into the North Sea the new phase of the submarine war hardly affected the commerce of England and neutral countries. According to reports reaching here the beginning of the new campaign against armed merchantmen was ordered postponed by Von Hollweg's influence pending the result of the fight between himself and the shipping interests on one side and Von Tirpitz on the other.

SUBMARINE REVIEWED.

From Switzerland today I learned that when the Kaiser visited Kiel, where the great German fleet is assembled, in the latter part of February he reviewed a fleet of submarines numbering 120. This information came from a German agent, however, and should be accepted accordingly. It may simply be a bluff for the benefit of the allies.

If it is true, however, that an undersea fleet of such proportions, assembled and ready to duck under the waves to prey upon allied commerce, is ready, it is surprising that it has not already displayed some signs of activity. At the time the Kaiser made his inspection, it is said the fleet was in readiness to begin the havoc among the ships carrying guns for defense, and to harass trade in other ways. The only explanation that can be obtained here for the delay is that Von Hollweg's influence held them in check. As a representative of the shipping interests of Germany, which, as is generally known, include the Kaiser himself, a large part of whose personal fortune is invested in the Hamburg-American line, Von Hollweg was anxious to terminate the submarine war without further possible injury to German shipping.

AWAIT FRANCIS'S MOVE.

No Successor in Office of Superintendent of Schools will be Considered Until Resignation of Incumbent has been Received by Board.

Although Superintendent of Schools Francis has warned the Board of Education that he intends to resign May 1 and accept the position of superintendent in Columbus, O., members of the local board yesterday indicated an unwillingness to even think of a successor. Two members declared emphatically they will not discuss the matter, even with fellow-members, until after May 1, when Mr. Francis will have formally tendered his resignation. Others stated they wished to approach the matter with an absolutely open mind.

Many wild rumors electing this educator and that to the position of local superintendent floated about the board rooms at yesterday's meeting. But as it is apparent the members of the board as a whole have not given the matter serious attention, all rumors are undoubtedly the merest guesswork.

"It is possible Mr. Francis may be allowed a leave of absence in August, as his resignation will undoubtedly not take effect until September," one board member said. "That would permit him to arrange his Columbus duties in time for the opening of school, while at the same time the new superintendent here would have an opportunity to get accustomed to his work. Mr. Francis still has two weeks' vacation coming and we may allow him the additional time."

Through a typographical error in the report of a recent statement of Superintendent Francis, made last Monday night while notifying the board of his impending resignation, the superintendent was made to say that little harmony existed in Los Angeles schools. What Mr. Francis said was that little inharmony existed in the Los Angeles schools.

ALIBI IS REVERSED.

Tugwell Defense will Seek to Prove, at Second Trial, that Victim of Slaying Wasn't at the Spot Designated as Scene of the Crime.

Percy Tugwell, through his attorneys, will endeavor to prove that Mrs. Maud Kennedy was in her home the night on which he is alleged to have killed her. His second trial on a charge of murder is to begin in Judge McCormick's court Monday. Evidence to show Mrs. Kennedy's movements will probably be introduced by depositions of Max Ducov and Louis Asopsky, now residents of Kansas City.

This became known yesterday, when Deputy District Attorney Helms left for Kansas City to be present at the taking of the depositions. This testimony was not introduced in the first case. It will go to show that the men called Mrs. Kennedy on the telephone the night of the murder and talked with her, according to attorneys for the defense.

Deputy District Attorney Doran will be in charge of the prosecution and will be assisted by Capt. Helms. The defense of Tugwell, who was sentenced to life imprisonment after conviction by a jury several months ago and was granted a new trial, is in the hands of Attorneys Rogers, Dominguez and Geisler.

CIVIC CENTER MEETING.

The Normal Hill Civic Center Association will hold a meeting at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening in the old State Normal school at Fifth street and Grand avenue. An extensive programme is promised, which will include singing, recitations and speeches by C. J. McCormack of the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools John H. Francis. Admission will be free.

KAISER IS DETERMINED TO RETAIN OUR FRIENDSHIP.

Break with Von Tirpitz Followed by Retirement of the Admiral Shows Emperor Retains Upper Hand — Disapproval of Ruthless Submarine Campaign Indicated in High German Official Circles of Berlin.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Emperor William's determination not to provoke a break with the United States in the new submarine campaign even though it involves a factional contest in the German Reichstag, having already brought about the downfall of Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz himself, is indicated in today's Berlin dispatches.

The tone of these dispatches from the German capital, although guarded, is taken here to prove the supremacy of the Emperor. Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, Foreign Minister Von Jagow and the army have been opposing the plan of Admiral Von Tirpitz and the navy party to carry the submarine campaign to a merciless destruction of all ships, whether neutral or enemy, bound to or from ports of Great Britain and her allies.

The development is regarded here as a potent augury for a peaceful solution of the situation with Germany.

The passage of today's Berlin dispatches by the German censor is regarded as showing the desire of the German Foreign Office to prepare the American people for such a contest in the Reichstag as was recently seen in Congress between two factions over the armed ship question.

CONFERENCE IN BERLIN.

About a fortnight ago, it is understood, a conference was held in Berlin, presided over by the Emperor himself and attended, among others, by Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, Herr von Jagow and Gen. Von Falkenhayn, chief-of-staff, and it is believed that Admiral Von Tirpitz himself was called in. The discussion turned on submarine warfare generally and particularly upon the attitude of the United States.

The general understanding is that it was the Emperor himself who decided every effort should be made to retain the friendship of the United States. The result was the rejection of the proposed extension of submarine warfare to affect neutral nations. Von Tirpitz's retirement followed naturally the rejection of the policy he had fathered.

DEBATE IN REICHSTAG.

BERLIN, March 15, 6:10 p.m. (to London, March 16.)—The Reichstag probably will devote Friday and Saturday of next week to open discussion of the international complications political problems which have arisen from Germany's methods of submarine warfare. A special committee of the Reichstag met today and decided that there is a general desire of all parties for a frank and open debate on the motives underlying the government's attitude toward neutral powers and in particular toward the United States.

In the present temper of a session of the Reichstag the debate, it is expected, will bring out some caustic and unfriendly references to the United States.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Prussian Diet today crossed swords with the administration regarding the Diet's competence to discuss the American and other issues of foreign and military policy. Herr Irmer, spokesman of the Conservative party, defended the claims of the Diet to the right of criticism. Foreign Minister Von Jagow, while admitting the Diet's right to discuss anything it saw fit, declared that the government could not and would not accept advice or criticism on these matters, which are beyond the competence of the Prussian Parliament.

The newspapers generally refrain from alluding to the sources of the conflict.

Orange Day.

PILGRIM BAND TO SING REGAL FRUIT'S PRAISE.

TOMORROW is Orange Day. The nation will join with California in a celebration inspired by the excellence and popularity of the golden fruit. At Riverside, original fountain head in America of the Washington navel industry, the observance will be centralized and peculiar interest will attach to an elaborate programme.

Spanish troubadours will lead a pilgrimage through the city, singing joyfully. Behind them will journey young folks prominent in the smart set, and all will wear the attire of Californians of mission days. Spanish and Indian maidens, just as gaily garbed, will accompany the merry throng and armed with baskets of oranges, will distribute the fruit to tourists at the hotels, passengers on the trains and the stranger on the street.

The railroads have arranged for special stops at Riverside by all trains and as the wayfarers alight, they will be greeted with early California and Spanish songs, and each will be given an orange. Guests will be similarly welcomed at the hotels.

Eastern visitors throughout Southern California will join the citrus belt throngs in the day's celebration, and at Riverside, will journey to the packing-houses, where they will be shown the intricacies of the preparing of oranges for shipment. They will be served free orange juice and given other citrus favors.

The first Washington navel orange trees were brought to the United States from Bahia, Brazil, and planted at Riverside, forty-three years ago this month. The history of the industry that has resulted from the first two trees will be told the visitors who will see one of the original trees, still standing. The homes of E. A. Chase, 73 years of age, and one of the most extensive orange growers of the world, and R. M. Fraser, manager of large orange groves, will also be visited by the pilgrims, and both will be serenaded and toasted by speakers in honor of what they have done to make the California orange popular.

Residents of California cities will ship many thousands of seedless orange day boxes of fruit to out-of-town friends as an advertisement of the industry. One thousand such boxes will go from Riverside alone. The fruit has been specially selected and packed. Appropriate labels will tell the eastern recipients what Orange Day means, and will recommend to the easterners a permanent habit of ordering for the California fruit.

The Sherman Institute students will assist in giving away orange juice the day at the Indian school and in Riverside. The Indian children will march with tourists and others in street demonstrations, and the Indian band will give concerts at the hotels and trains, alternating with the music of the Spanish troubadours.

"Hits the Bulls-eye!"

The Winning Club and Gold Offer---and the Last One!

Eighty thousand bonus votes on each new five-year club, with $75 in gold as a special prize! The one big chance to drive home a victory, and share in the distribution of sixteen beautiful automobiles and twenty-four other valuable prizes The Times will give away March 29.

It hits the bulls eye of opportunity; wholesome effort will derive the reward that success bestows. Start now—on high gear—and never stop until your winning race is run.

Not since the first days have candidates in this momentous campaign given such a vigorous account of themselves as they are during the present special offer. It's a whirlwind of action and a maelstrom of fun that promises no let-up until the final gong announces the end.

Intense rivalry exists in the outside districts, where each community is determined that honor and reward shall come to their favorite daughters.

Los Angeles is a bee-hive of industry, with many candidates pitting their full strength one against another. To win an automobile is the object fixed firmly in their minds. Their demeanor brooks no defeat.

With six days remaining of the special club and gold offer, and only one week after that until the end, interest is on a keen edge. Hundreds of thousands of people are interested in the outcome, and the added pep and snap that is being put into the race indicates a final dash to victory that will long be remembered.

The terms of the special offer now on are exceedingly liberal. By building subscription clubs totaling five years (which may include only NEW subscriptions to the Daily Times, from one month to two years,) a bonus of 80,000 votes will be added to the regular votes. Any number of clubs may be turned in—all will receive the same bonus, provided they are turned in not later than 9 o'clock on Wednesday, March 22.

Besides, the candidate who turns in during this same period the largest sum in new subscription payments will be presented with an added prize of $75 in gold. Bear in mind that this is positively the last club and gold offer of the campaign. When it is over, only one short week remains before the official judges will count the votes and announce the prize-winners.

New subscriptions will yield an abundance of votes—thousands of them. Whether you are low in the vote standing, or just beginning, now is the time when your efforts will bring you up to a commanding position—with one of sixteen splendid automobiles as a crowning happiness.

Concerning "Old" and "New" Subscribers.

An OLD SUBSCRIBER is any person to whom The Times was being regularly mailed either by The Times or one of its route men or agents, or by mail, on the opening day of this campaign (January 15, 1916.) It makes no difference whether payment for the paper was being made by the month or for a longer period; whether at the beginning or at the end of any given period of time; whether to The Times office direct, to one of its agents, collectors or route men, or by mail.

Even though the subscriber may have stopped The Times since the opening of the campaign, and later renewed it, he is still an old subscriber.

A NEW SUBSCRIBER is any person who began to regularly receive The Times after January 15, but was NOT regularly receiving it on and just preceding that day. Any person who has subscribed to The Times in the past, but failed to pay BEFORE January 15, for reasons SINCE that day, will be considered a new subscriber, just as would any person who has never taken The Times before.

All NEW subscribers, having ordered the paper during this contest for a set period, who desire to lengthen their subscription by making a second payment, will still be classified as new subscribers. Once new, always new, so far as the purposes of this campaign are concerned. On the other hand, an old subscription likewise will always continue to be old.

Persons buying The Times at Newsstands or on the streets are not considered regular subscribers.

Additions to The Sunday Times only, or changes to The Daily, or Daily and Sunday Times, thus become new subscriptions, regardless of when they began taking the Sunday only paper.

Evidence must make a thorough investigation of every subscription they secure before marking it either "old" or "new." Out-of-town candidates can verify subscriptions by consulting The Times agent in their territory. When you mark a subscription, BE SURE IT IS RIGHT.

Owing to circumstances will the practice of "crediting" subscriptions by telephone and attempts to thus gain votes prove utterly useless in the future. Subscriptions are under the misapprehension that if The Times is going to a certain address, and is merely changed to another member of the family or friend or any other person at the same address, such procedure will entitle a new subscriber out of an old one. It is utterly folly.

The object of adding New Subscribers to increase the number of names to whom the paper is sent. But, if you stop a route, and set one up, replacing it with a fresh apple, you still have the same, haven't you?

Accepted subject to the following rates and rules: Rates: The rate for inserting Want Ads in the Daily Times is 1c per word each insertion; in the Sunday issue, 1½c per word each insertion; minimum charge applicable to a single insertion and to each non-consecutive insertion, 25c; except that the following classifications, the rate for which is 2c per word daily, 3½c per word Sunday, minimum charge, applicable to a single insertion and to each non-consecutive insertion, 30c daily, 35c Sunday: Autos for Sale, Automobiles, Bicycles, Boats and Boating, Notices, Church Notices, Dancing, Dogs, Pets, Etc., Financial, "Banks and Bonds," "Money to Loan," "Salary and Chattels," "Physicians," "Medical," "Osteopaths," "Chiropractic" and Help and Massage.

An extra charge of 25 per cent is made for the use of capital letters.

Minimum space for classified advertisements ordered for more than one insertion, 14 words.

White space and dashes are charged for on the basis of five words to a line.

Ads not sold are counted strictly by the word. For paragraphed or lined-up matter set in caps, ordinate five (5) average words to a line. Not paragraphed or lined-up matter set in caps, five words to the first line, and eight (8) average words to each line following. In this kind of advertising the actual number of words set solid is counted, and eight (8) words added for each lined-up line.

The Times reserves the right to classify all advertisements under appropriate headings.

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

Errors not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly impair the value of an advertisement, will be rectified only by republication, without extra charge, on presentation of receipt within five days after insertion. No allowance will be made where the error does not materially affect the value of the advertisement.

No adjustment will be made for advertising items not affected by an error or errors which may occur in other items in the same advertisement.

Advertisers should retain receipts given by The Times for payment for "liners," as no mistake can be rectified without them.

The Times will not accept phone or verbal orders to discontinue or change "till forbid" advertisements.

Telephoned orders to discontinue advertising in The Times are numbered in the order of their receipt, and in each instance the number of the order is given to the advertiser, who should make a record thereof. In case of dispute no charge for advertising will be rebated unless the "stop order" number is presented to The Times by the advertiser.

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 9 o'clock Saturday night. Other classified "Wants," "To Lets," etc., received over counter or by telephone until 11 p.m. Saturday. Ads received after closing hours for that edition will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify." Rate 1½ cents per word.

The Sunday circulation of The Times exceeds 100,000 copies, and many "liners" are regularly printed in its columns than in the five other Los Angeles newspapers combined.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times," Main 8200, Home 10891, any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention.

AFTER ATTORNEYS' SYSTEM OF "TIPS."

POLICE CHIEF SEEKS LEAK OF INFORMATION AT JAIL.

Italian's Arrest on Suspicion of Arson Leads to Inquiry into the Method by Which Lawyers Appear for Clients Who Neither Know Nor Want Them.

Mike Pagone's arrest on a charge of suspicion of arson precipitated an investigation at the Central Police Station yesterday of the methods by which prisoners secure attorneys of whom they know nothing and for whom they do not ask.

Following the destruction of Pagone's grocery store at No. 801 Cleveland street early yesterday morning by a fire of mysterious origin, Pagone was arrested and the debris of the building searched for evidence to show the cause of the blaze. Later investigation by the police showed the stock was insured for $1500 and the police allege the goods burned was worth less than $200.

Pagone explained he was at the store at an early hour in order to receive a delivery of milk, but witnesses told the police, Pagone's partner, G. Machia, was at the store but a short time before the fire broke out and went away in a jitney bus.

Shortly after Pagone was placed behind the bars an attorney appeared, telling the police he had been asked to represent Pagone in the court proceedings. Chief Snively ordered an investigation of the agency by which the attorney was summoned.

Pagone is reported to have informed the Chief he has never heard of the attorney before he called yesterday morning and had sent for no attorney, particularly the one that called. He further declared to the Chief, it is said, that he had no friends who could have called the attorney.

The interesting machinery by which an attorney knows of a man's imprisonment within a few minutes after his arrest, and so early in the morning, long before an attorney usually appears at his office, is a matter the Chief intends to investigate thoroughly. He will ask the Bar Association to co-operate with him in suppressing the practice.

Chief Snively said: "Where a man secures an attorney of reputation and ability, who can worthily represent him in court, I do not intend to interfere, for a clinet is then getting value for his money. But I do intend to protect my prisoners from lawyers who might be called shysters and who make exaggerated representations of their ability to the prisoners, thus securing fees out of all proportion to the service given."

Unless this practice is stopped, he said, he will arrest one of these lawyers and make an example of him, for soliciting of business in the jail by an attorney is technical vagrancy.

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Phelps missed her father and upon searching found the body in the garage.

ALLEGED BANDITS UP.

Police and Other Witnesses will Testify in Preliminary Hearing of Five Youths Accused of Robbery—Confession of One is Presented.

The five alleged boy auto bandits recently captured by the police in the Mozart apartments were before Justice Brown yesterday afternoon for preliminary hearing. The boys are John Fleming, Robert Burns, Frank Shank, W. J. Shank and Frank Renwick.

The specific charge is the theft of $5 from Mrs. Ella Rosenbusch, after locking her in the ice box of her husband's butcher shop.

According to testimony of one of the arresting officers the money taken from Mrs. Rosenbusch, as well as a number of revolvers, rifles and considerable jewelry, was found in their possession. The alleged confession of young Fleming, acknowledging this crime as well as the theft of the automobile in which the bandits traveled, was introduced by Deputy District Attorney Powell.

Many witnesses were called, but only a few could take the stand yesterday, the case being continued until today. Chief of Police Snively and Assistant Chief Home may be called as witnesses today. They assisted in the arrest of the boys. The boys, according to Mr. Powell, have previous criminal records.

at least once a day. Wash thoroughly with a warm, creamy lather of it, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not often take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the perfectly pure soap is cleansing it.

POLICE CHIEF SEEKS LEAK OF INFORMATION AT JAIL.

Italian's Arrest on Suspicion of Arson Leads to Inquiry into the Method by Which Lawyers Appear for Clients Who Neither Know Nor Want Them.

Mike Pagone's arrest on a charge of suspicion of arson precipitated an investigation at the Central Police Station yesterday of the methods by which prisoners secure attorneys of whom they know nothing and for whom they do not ask.

Following the destruction of Pagone's grocery store at No. 801 Cleveland street early yesterday morning by a fire of mysterious origin, Pagone was arrested and the debris of the building searched for evidence to show the cause of the blaze. Later investigation by the police showed the stock was insured for $1500 and the police allege the goods burned was worth less than $200.

Pagone explained he was at the store at an early hour in order to receive a delivery of milk, but witnesses told the police, Pagone's partner, G. Machia, was at the store but a short time before the fire broke out and went away in a jitney bus.

Shortly after Pagone was placed behind the bars an attorney appeared, telling the police he had been asked to represent Pagone in the court proceedings. Chief Snively ordered an investigation of the agency by which the attorney was summoned.

Pagone is reported to have informed the Chief he has never heard of the attorney before he called yesterday morning and had sent for no attorney, particularly the one that called. He further declared to the Chief, it is said, that he had no friends who could have called the attorney.

The interesting machinery by which an attorney knows of a man's imprisonment within a few minutes after his arrest, and so early in the morning, long before an attorney usually appears at his office, is a matter the Chief intends to investigate thoroughly. He will ask the Bar Association to co-operate with him in suppressing the practice.

Chief Snively said: "Where a man secures an attorney of reputation and ability, who can worthily represent him in court, I do not intend to interfere, for a clinet is then getting value for his money. But I do intend to protect my prisoners from lawyers who might be called shysters and who make exaggerated representations of their ability to the prisoners, thus securing fees out of all proportion to the service given."

Unless this practice is stopped, he said, he will arrest one of these lawyers and make an example of him, for soliciting of business in the jail by an attorney is technical vagrancy.

Recent Arrival Worried Over Business Hangs Himself.

Despondent and worried over business matters, Charles P. Boynton, 62 years of age, hung himself in the garage of his home at No. 5652 Virginia avenue, Hollywood, early last night. His body was found by Mrs. V. G. Phelps, his daughter, and later taken to the W. M. Strother morgue in Hollywood.

According to Mrs. Phelps, her father came to this city a short time ago from Lincoln, Neb. He intended to make his home here, but was worrying about his business matters.

ALLEGED BANDITS UP.

Police and Other Witnesses will Testify in Preliminary Hearing of Five Youths Accused of Robbery—Confession of One is Presented.

The five alleged boy auto bandits recently captured by the police in the Mozart apartments were before Justice Brown yesterday afternoon for preliminary hearing. The boys are John Fleming, Robert Burns, Frank Shank, W. J. Shank and Frank Renwick.

The specific charge is the theft of $5 from Mrs. Ella Rosenbusch, after locking her in the ice box of her husband's butcher shop.

According to testimony of one of the arresting officers the money taken from Mrs. Rosenbusch, as well as a number of revolvers, rifles and considerable jewelry, was found in their possession. The alleged confession of young Fleming, acknowledging this crime as well as the theft of the automobile in which the bandits traveled, was introduced by Deputy District Attorney Powell.

Many witnesses were called, but only a few could take the stand yesterday, the case being continued until today. Chief of Police Snively and Assistant Chief Home may be called as witnesses today. They assisted in the arrest of the boys. The boys, according to Mr. Powell, have previous criminal records.

Young people need clear complexions

at least once a day. Wash thoroughly with a warm, creamy lather of it, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water.

It does not often take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the perfectly pure soap is cleansing it.

In severe or stubborn cases, Resinol Soap should be aided by a little Resinol Ointment. All druggists sell them. For samples free, write to Dept. 23-P, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

"On His Own Statement."

COURT CENSURES M'COWAN; DISBARMENT IS DENIED.

Found Guilty of Acts "in the Highest Degree Improper."

Appellate Review of Case Against District Attorney of Kern County Condemns in Strongest Terms His Conduct in the McCutchen Case—Says He is "Deserving of the Most Severe Criticism and Reprimand."

THE petition for disbarment of Barclay McCowan, District Attorney of Kern county, was denied yesterday by the District Court of Appeal, but the accused was very severely criticised, the court denouncing in the strongest terms "the acts of impropriety with the commission of which we find the respondent guilty."

In reference to the charge that McCowan solicited money with the intent that it should be paid to influence him in his official conduct, the court held "that his action, taken upon his own statement of the matter, was to the highest degree improper, in our opinion, admits of no question.

"Indeed, the lack of his appreciation of the impropriety of his course in the McCutchen case seems inexplicable and deserving of the severest censure.

"We can find no words of approval for the action of any district attorney exercised in the direction of settling felony cases out of court."

Among the charges against McCowan was that he attempted to influence grand jurors who were investigating his personal case. Of this charge the court said: "We regret, however, that we are compelled to characterize the acts of the accused before the grand jury as highly improper."

McCowan was also accused of "false charges reflecting upon the integrity of Superior Judge Farmer."

"In his reference to the judge of the Superior Court the accused, without justification so far as appears, used language harsh in the extreme, for which, to say the least, he is deserving of the most severe criticism and reprimand," says the court.

In conclusion the court said: "We may properly express the hope that, as time passes, the respondent, with advancing years and more practice, will gain an appreciation of the demands which the ethics of the profession impose."

Disbarment of McCowan was sought by the Bar Association of Kern county. The case was presented about a month ago to Judges Conrey, Shaw and James by Attorneys C. V. Anderson, C. L. Claflin, George E. Whittaker, I. S. Horton and C. E. Arnold, McCowan being represented by his first assistant, James F. Farraher and Marshall Stimson of this city.

THE DECISION.

Following is the complete text of the court's decision:

An accusation filed in the Supreme Court, and later transferred to this court for hearing, charged the respondent with having been guilty of acts and omissions which were not only in violation of his duty as an attorney-at-law, but also such as involved moral turpitude on his part while holding the office of District Attorney of the county of Kern. The accusation first charged that respondent solicited money from the defendant in a criminal case pending in the Superior Court, which money was to be paid in consideration that the official conduct of the respondent as District Attorney should be influenced thereby. It is further charged that when the matter of the alleged misconduct of respondent was brought to the attention of the grand jury, and while the matter was under investigation, respondent attempted to intimidate, coerce and control the members of the grand jury with reference to the action that they should take therein; that he charged that one of the jurors had been indicted for a felony in the State of New Mexico and was not a fit or proper person to sit on the jury, notwithstanding that respondent knew that the juror referred to had been acquitted of the charge in New Mexico; that he attempted to influence others of the jurors by statements designed to intimidate them; that he stated to the foreman of the grand jury that four of the jury members were in a conspiracy to deprive him of his office; that that conspiracy was made with one of the judges of the Superior Court. That during the time that charges against him were being investigated the respondent insisted upon being present in person or by deputy before the grand jury, and that he or his deputy caused to be prepared certain reports which it was urged that the grand jury should adopt in exoneration of respondent, and that as a result of the intimidation and coercion a report of the jury was finally made as prepared by the deputy of respondent. Another of the charges made, in its specifications, alleged that, while the grand jury was investigating the McCowan matter, respondent stated and charged that one of the judges of the Superior Court was "nothing but a crook;" that at a later date respondent caused to be published and circulated a certain paper called the Kern County Liberator, which was owned and published by the said respondent, and which paper in the issue of July 31, 1915, contained slanderous references to the judge of the Superior Court and his action in the matter of the case of People vs. E. W. McCutchen, which was the case wherein respondent was accused of having solicited money. The particular details of these charges were fully set out in the accusation, to which an answer was filed raising issue by denial as to any improper act having been committed in connection with the McCutchen case, and setting forth various statements by way of claimed justification as the same appear more particularly illustrated by the testimony of respondent, which is hereinafter in general substance set out.

FACTS OF CASE.

Preliminarily, the following facts may be stated as to which there was no dispute either in the pleadings or testimony: In August, 1914, one E. W. McCutchen was indicted by the grand jury of Kern county for the crime of rape alleged to have been committed with a girl named Effie Thompson, who was at that time about the age of 15 years; that the said McCutchen left the State of California and remained away from the State about six or seven months; that his whereabouts were unknown to the District Attorney; that he returned to Bakersfield about the 20th of April, 1915; that both he, his brothers and wife had several conferences with respondent as District Attorney; that McCutchen was released on bail acceptable to the District Attorney; that before McCutchen made any appearance in court for arraignment or other proceedings on the indictment the father of Effie Thompson brought a civil action as guardian ad litem for the girl, claiming a large amount of damages alleged to have been suffered by reason of the criminal act of the said McCutchen; that respondent consulted with the attorneys in the civil

VILLA LEADERS FLEE THE CITY.

Fehr Carranza Men will Find Them Here, Latter Say; Menace Lessens.

Local Carranza agents yesterday stated that since the agreement was reached between the United States and Mexico, in which each government has the right to cross the border in search of bandits, more than two score Villa adherents have fled from Los Angeles to New Orleans en route to Cuba. The men who left so hastily were all of the wealthy class, and in almost every case either stored automobiles or sold them at a sacrifice. The same source of information declared that Los Angeles is referred to as "The City of Traitors" in all parts of Mexico from the fact that Villa men found refuge here. It was feared that the agreement might be construed as a permit to search in this city for known Villistas.

The flight of the Villa men is also declared to have minimized the threatening conditions here among the Mexican population. Had these men, rich and powerful, remained in the city they could have rallied a large force of sympathizers, who would have carried out almost any plan suggested. Chief of Police Snively and Sheriff Cline stated yesterday that apparently all danger from an outbreak had passed. The vigil, however, is unrelaxed.

Alhambra Man Who Figured in Poison Mystery Missing.

Little Daughter Given Refuge in an Orphan Asylum.

Effort Made to Sacrifice Her Rights, Attorney Says.

William E. Langdon of Alhambra, who has been in the public eye more or less since the mysterious death by poison of his third wife in October, 1914, has suddenly left this vicinity, according to his attorney, Howard E. Reach. Wife No. 4 has apparently gone with him, but left behind is his pretty little daughter, Ramona, 6 years old, who has been given a temporary refuge at the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum and School of the Sisters of Charity.

Whether legal steps will be taken to locate the man and cause him to return home had not been definitely decided last night, but Mr. Reach, who is in charge of the Langdon estate and who represented Langdon when the police were investigating the death of his third wife upon the theory that she had been murdered, said there are certain matters in connection with the settlement of the estate which require Langdon's return.

"I am not sure what action will be taken," said Attorney Reach. "It is more than possible that Mr. Langdon may be charged with child abandonment. Since the death of the little tot's mother the father has not contributed to her support. I have looked after that. When he married for the fourth time the home life in the Langdon residence was made very difficult for the youngster."

WOULD SELL HOME.

Attorney Reach said Langdon called at his office a few days ago and said he had to raise some money at once. "He wanted to sell his home," said the attorney. "I told him there is a mortgage of $2500 against it, and he said, 'Well, sell it for $2600, and that will give me the ready cash.'" The attorney says the property, which is located at Hellman and Harrington streets, Alhambra, is owned by the Langdon estate and is valued at $5000.

"When the property is sold half of the money will go to the little daughter," the attorney said, "but Langdon seems to have lost all feeling for the child. He was willing to sacrifice her rights to get $100. I told him that I would never consent to such a transaction and would see that the little girl is protected in the matter."

Immediately following his fourth marriage Langdon and his bride purchased new furnishings for the house. These have been removed. Neighbors say Langdon talked before his sudden departure of returning to St. Louis for awhile and later to Ohio.

CURIOUS CASE.

When Mrs. Langdon No. 3 died physicians who examined her stomach said she was the victim of strychnine poisoning. Detectives from the District Attorney's office and other officers made a thorough investigation of the case, and while the inquiry was going on Langdon was kept under constant surveillance. No tangible evidence was uncovered and the case was finally dropped. Langdon at all times said he courted an investigation and declared he was guilty of no part in the sudden death of his wife.

The victim died after taking some bromo seltzer. Langdon had been a sufferer from headaches and was accustomed to using bromo seltzer as an opiate. On the day his wife passed away he said he returned home and found her writhing in pain. While in the throes of death she said she had taken some of the drug. A later analysis of her stomach showed that death was caused by strychnine.

Langdon's fourth wife was formerly Ida May Weyer, the couple being married in the Langdon home early in January by Rev. J. N. Garst of Alhambra.

Little Ramona Langdon, who does not realize exactly what has happened, said yesterday she is happier than she ever was at home. She is perfectly contented, and Attorney Reach says he will see that she is well taken care of. The sisters at the asylum say she is one of the best little tots they have ever had.

DEFER SENTENCE.

M. M. Clark, general manager of the Physicians' Protective Association, who was convicted of using the mails in a scheme to defraud in connection with the concern, was before United States District Judge Trippet for sentence yesterday, but the matter went over until Monday, when a motion for a new trial will be argued by James McLachlan, the counsel for Clark.

TWO GRAZE DEATH WHEN AEROPLANE TAKES FIRE.

AL SMITH assistant to Glenn Martin, and Robert Blair, a passenger, narrowly escaped death late yesterday afternoon when a Martin hydroplane in which they were flying near Wilmington caught fire while at an altitude of 150 feet. Smith, who was operating the machine, endeavored to reach the water before alighting, but was unable to do so by 200 feet, the hydroplane smashing itself on the hard ground. Smith was knocked unconscious. Mr. Blair's face was severely cut, but he retained presence of mind sufficient to extricate himself and his companion from the burning biplane.

The flight that ended so disastrously commenced at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The machine was one of the hydroplanes now being constructed for the Netherlands government by Mr. Martin, and Mr. Smith intended to try it out. Mr. Blair went along as a passenger.

No difficulty was encountered in getting the hydroplane under way, and within a few minutes it had left the water and was flying inland. Suddenly the engine backfired, the flame igniting a defective leak in the gasoline connection.

Thirty gallons of gasoline filled the tank. As the ignited gas roared out of the hole in the connection, the engine stopped. The men in the hydroplane had only a few minutes to reach the ground before the tank would explode.

By volplaning, Mr. Smith endeavored to coast his plane into the water, but the flames unbalanced the machine and it crashed to earth, turning on its nose. Mr. Smith was precipitated against the hood, the blow knocking him unconscious. Falling wires cut Mr. Blair about the face and head.

Although badly hurt, Mr. Blair worked his way out from the wires, and then, pulling his unconscious companion free of the blazing wreckage, staggered to safety. He and his burden had no sooner arrived at a safe distance when the tank exploded, and the $12,000 aeroplane was a mass of junk.

RAILWAY CHIEF TRUSTS MEXICO.

Carranza Able, Willing to Keep Word, Says Randolph.

Nothing to Show Present Move Means Intervention.

Company to Ask Big Indemnity When Fighting Ends.

Firm in the belief that the present Mexican trouble will be confined to Chihuahua and that Gen. Carranza will be able and willing to carry out his plan of co-operation with the United States in capturing Villa, Epes Randolph, president of the Southern Pacific of Mexico and an authority on that country and conditions there, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday in his private car Pocahontas. He spent the greater part of yesterday in conference with local Southern Pacific officials and will start back to Tucson this morning.

Many interesting details of present railroading conditions in Sonora were told yesterday by Mr. Randolph. Among these is the statement that as soon as the southern republic has quieted down the Southern Pacific of Mexico will present a demand for indemnity for damage suffered during the entire period of revolution in Mexico. Just how much this indemnity demand will amount to Mr. Randolph was unable to say, declaring that as yet his company has not started to audit its accounts in this matter.

"I have seen nothing to indicate that the entrance of American troops into Mexico means intervention," he stated. "I have not seen Gen. Carranza for some time and I have not been to Mexico since the outbreak that caused the present situation. But I have every reason to believe what I have read in the papers concerning Gen. Carranza's attitude. I have seen or heard nothing to indicate the trouble will spread from Chihuahua to Sonora, and I believe Gen. Carranza is able to carry out his intention of aiding in Villa's capture.

"Our service in Sonora is gradually approaching normal, although we still have quite a bit to do. During the different revolutions between 900 and 1000 bridges along our system were burned or dynamited. It was necessary for us to patch up our lines, either around the destroyed structures or over temporary bridges.

"We are running three trains a week each way for passengers and freight trains whenever the demand necessitates it. Our trains run only in the daytime because of the bad condition of the track. We are doing

BUSINESS GOOD AT THE HARBOR.

More than a Million Tons of Goods Passes Through Port in Six Months.

An excellent showing is made in the report of the Board of Harbor Commissioners for the six months ending December 31, 1915, of the amount of commerce that has passed through Los Angeles harbor during that time.

According to the figures of the report, domestic commerce, inbound, aggregated 661,165.77 tons, valued at $35,414,179. Domestic commerce, outbound, totaled 379,106.32 tons, valued at $7,086,308. Foreign commerce, outbound, equaled 30,664.56 tons, valued at $471,972. Inbound foreign commerce amounted to 13,728.23 tons, worth $2,834,197.

The grand total of all commerce, inbound and outbound, aggregates 1,084,663.33 tons, valued at $45,806,676. The number of commercial vessels arriving during the six months was 1453, aggregating a net tonnage of 1,797,464. Of this number, 1445 are registered as having departed from the port. The number of government vessels arriving at Los Angeles harbor during that period was thirty-three, fourteen of which departed.

TRAFFIC DEATHS DOUBLE IN THE SHORTEST MONTH.

ONE person was killed by traffic every sixty-three hours last month, one person was seriously hurt every fifteen hours, one person was slightly injured every two hours and fifty minutes.

The data is contained in a monthly analytical report of traffic prepared by Traffic Commander J. L. Butler of the police department, and represent the second in a series which he is preparing as an aid to solving the dangerous problems of street traffic. So unusual are the reports that he has received more than 200 letters asking for copies of his reports, that they may be adopted in other cities.

The month, the shortest in the year, provided 772 accidents, of which 51.7 per cent. were in the twenty-mile zone. This represents a marked reduction over last month, when nearly three-fourths of the accidents were in the speed regions.

Of the eleven persons killed, seven were pedestrians. The others were in motor cars. Sixty-one of the total number of persons injured were women and 223 men.

Fifth and Broadway became marked as the most dangerous crossing, having nine accidents during the month. Thirty-five per cent. of all accidents resulted in personal injuries. In January the average was 28 per cent.

In comparison with last month but five persons were killed in January, an increase of 125 per cent. A greater number of injuries during February were fatal, for in January forty-eight persons received serious injury, and in February only forty-four, a decrease of 22 per cent.

The average number of accidents per day during January was 8.83 per cent.; for February, 9.8 per cent., representing an increase of about 10 per cent.

MOVE TO SHUT DOWN WELLS.

Government Asks Injunction in Land Fraud Case.

Would Stop Oil Production in Disputed Field.

Espee to Oppose by Showing Great Damage.

A motion for a writ of prohibition was made by the government yesterday, in the trial of the Southern Pacific Company land fraud cases, asking the court to restrain any further pumping of oil from the San Joaquin Valley lands embraced in the dispute. Notice of the motion was served on Charles Lewers, chief counsel for the railroad company, claimant of the lands, and Judge Bledsoe announced that because of the importance of the action a full hearing would be given both sides before a decision was rendered.

The bill recites that on Tuesday the court will be asked for an injunction against any further drilling by the Southern Pacific Company, or any of its allied corporations, on any of the lands described in either of the six complaints now on hearing, and the appointment of an officer of the court to investigate, advise and report to the court as to the extent of the drilling operations now carried on and of the drilling heretofore done, or whether the drilling heretofore done or contemplated will injure the property.

The officer of the court will be asked also to report whether the wells now in operation can be capped without serious damage to the property. This action is to be taken, the bill recites, without prejudice to the rights of the government to make a motion at any time for the appointment of a receiver for the property.

S. P. TO FIGHT MOTION.

The motion will be vigorously opposed by the Southern Pacific Company, defendant in the alleged fraud actions. It is claimed that to stop drilling by the corporation will be to give great advantage to the independent operators who have sunk wells in the immediate vicinity of the company's property, in that the supply of oil will be exhausted. It will also be claimed that the Southern Pacific Company is now furnished 45,000 barrels of oil a day for the locomotives of the company, and that to cut off the supply would be to place the railroad at the mercy of the independent operators, who would promptly increase the price of the oil, which must be used by engines of the company, practically paralyzing the traffic, both freight and passenger.

It is further argued that the Southern Pacific Company is financially responsible to respond in any money judgment the government may secure against it as the result of the pending suits.

LOSS OF OIL.

It is alleged that while the independent operators might drill and pump oil from wells on their own land, that the supply would be secured really from land owned by the Southern Pacific Company, and that in such a case there would be no way to collect damages.

The testimony of W. E. Youle, the veteran oil prospector and operator, was concluded yesterday. It was shown that about all the oil he had any knowledge of drilling was secured in what is known as the narrow zone on the edge of the Sunset-Midway field that lay for the most part outside the limit of the lands owned by and patented to the Southern Pacific Company. He admitted that, while there was a fine flow of oil on what is known as the flats, he had secured none of it.

"Boota."

EAST INDIAN ARRAIGNED.

Prosecution of Mohammedan for Contraband-running Said to be First Case of Its Kind in History of Immigration Service.

What is believed to be the first prosecution in the history of the immigration service of a Mohammedan for violation of the law prohibiting the smuggling of aliens into the country without examination is now on in United States District Judge Trippet's court.

The defendant is Ghulam Rasul, alias "Boota," who it is alleged brought two East India men across the line last November. The aliens were for a time employed on the Panama Canal work, and had been trying to make their way into the United States for more than a year. Ghulam Rasul has a ranch right on the line, with a tent and garden on the American side and 640 acres of land on the Mexican side.

It is claimed by the government that "Boota's" place was well known to the East India men on the isthmus, and that his home furnished one of the important stations on the line of the "underground" railway. It is also asserted that "Boota" would have his countrymen work for months on his place, and instead of paying them for their labors he would help them across the border.

The accused and the two aliens, Palim Singh and Takur Singh, were picked up on the road near Calexico, on the night of November 10, 1915. The most of the witnesses for the government are Mohammedans and the taking of testimony is very slow, as the services of an interpreter are necessary.

The Mohammedan witnesses all carry a copy of the Koran in their pockets, and claim that they are far away and above the Hindus who do not believe in a Supreme Being. As one of them said yesterday, in broken language: "I am a Mohammedan; I believe in my God; Hindus do not believe in anything." And he proudly exhibited a red-bound copy of the Koran to emphasize his views.

action with the end in view that they should abandon that cause; that the defendant McCutchen made his appearance in the criminal action and that thereafter copies of certain affidavits were presented to the judge of the Superior Court, in which it was charged on behalf of the McCutchens that the respondent had solicited money from them as a condition to favorable action being taken in the McCutchen case; that the grand jury proceeded to investigate the matter; that during the investigation the deputy of respondent insisted that it was the right of the District Attorney to be present at the hearing, and that such deputy did remain during all of the time that testimony was being taken; that thereafter a new indictment was presented against McCutchen for the same charge, and that after two trials had resulted in a disagreement of the juries defendant on his third trial was acquitted.

The foregoing matters, as mentioned, were among the facts about which there was no dispute. It may be added that there was no denial made by the respondent as to the statement attributed to him as having been uttered against the judge of the Superior Court. In support of the accusation the testimony of J. B. McCutchen, a brother of E. W. McCutchen, was in substance as follows: That some time in the spring of 1915 he had a conversation with respondent, the District Attorney of Kern county, when respondent asked him if he knew where his brother, E. W. McCutchen, was; that upon his replying that he did not know of his whereabouts respondent had said that E. W. McCutchen was a good man, a friend of his and ought to be there, as it was his place and home, and that if he did return he would make it as easy for him as he could; that the witness had told the wife of E. W. McCutchen of this conversation; that at a later time, in an interview had with the District Attorney, the latter had said that he needed money and that the McCutchen brothers would all have to "dig up;" that he wanted money from them. The testimony of at least one other brother of McCutchen was corroborative of this testimony, and all suggesting directly the inference that the respondent proposed to assist E. W. McCutchen to escape punishment for the crime with which he was charged in consideration that money should be paid for the service.

WOMAN'S TESTIMONY.

Mrs. Kate McCutchen, wife of E. W. McCutchen, testified that about the 1st of April, 1915, she telephoned to the District Attorney and arranged for an appointment with him at 3 o'clock on the following day; that when she called at his office at the appointed time he said he was glad to see her and asked what the trouble was; that she replied that she had come to see about her husband, because, after what J. E. McCutchen had told her, she thought the District Attorney would befriend her husband and help him get out of the "blackmailing business;" that Mr. McCowan replied that he had "tried to give J. B. the hint, but that he didn't take it;" that he said he was a friend of the witness' husband and would do all he could for him; that the witness asked him how he would do that and he replied that there were various ways; that he told her she need not tell him about the "rotten bunch" that her husband had gotten into, that he knew all about them and was going to help him get out of it; that he then asked where the husband was and the witness had told him that she did not know; that along about the 20th of April the accused McCutchen returned to Bakersfield and the witness called up McCowan on the phone; that he told her to come up to the office at 3 o'clock, which she did; that she there told him that Ed, her husband, was at home, and he said, "I am awfully glad," and seemed overjoyed with the news; that he then said, "I am going to fix this all up for him as soon as I can; you people must be patient; this is a serious matter and it is going to take a little time; you go home and tell Ed to lay low until you hear further from me;" that the next day he called up the witness on the phone and had some conversation and told her she would hear from him again; that he called up the next day and told her to get her husband's brothers in to go on her husband's bond; that a few weeks later, while she was in the country, Mr. McCowan called her on the phone and said, "Don't you know your good friend, Barclay McCowan? I have good news for you — I can settle that suit for $500;" that he told her to tell Ed to trust him and that everything would be fixed up; that she knew at that time the civil suit had been filed on behalf of the Thompson girl against her husband.

A. A. de Ligne, a witness called on behalf of petitioner, testified that on or about the 19th day of June, 1915, he had a conversation with Barclay McCowan, in which reference was made to Judge Farmer; that the conversation took place in a restaurant on the main street of Bakersfield, "the French restaurant, I think they call it;" that he was sitting at one of the tables alone and that Mr. McCowan and Mr. Farraher came over to his table after they had finished their luncheon; that Mr. McCowan introduced Mr. Farraher to him, and that Mr. McCowan stated to Mr. Farraher, "I have been telling De Ligne what a crook his friend Judge Farmer is;" that he resented the statement made by McCowan and that there was a little altercation about it.

The accused, Barclay McCowan, testifying in his own behalf, denied that he had ever offered or suggested that money should be paid to him for services in the McCutchen case or as a condition to his favorable action in that matter as District Attorney. He testified that Mrs. McCutchen had come to him and told him that she had taken the child in the matter and wanted to keep it and wanted to get her husband back to help raise it; that he had replied, "If Ed will come back here and adopt this child and will provide for Effie Thompson and will plead guilty, I will do anything I can legally do to get him probation;" that about two weeks after that time Mrs. McCutchen came to his office again and gave him to understand, not in direct words, that her husband had come home; that he had instructed her to have McCutchen come to his office and arrange to give bond; that the next day that proceeding was carried out; that following that he had a conversation in a downtown office with E. W. McCutchen regarding the charge against the latter; that upon that occasion McCutchen had made a complete disclosure of his relations with the Thompson girl; that McCutchen had said, "I will do anything you say," and that he (McCowan) had replied, "All right, you plead guilty, adopt that child and provide for the girl;" that very soon after this John W. Thompson, the father of Effie Thompson, commenced a civil action against McCutchen for a large amount of damages on behalf of Effie Thompson; that he (McCowan) was irritated because this suit had been brought, and that he told McCutchen he would go to the firm of attorneys appearing in the action and talk over the matter and see what he could do toward getting the suit dismissed; that he did go to these attorneys and "told them of the terms on which I had got McCutchen to come back to Kern county; I told them that he was out of the State and they could not find him, that two sheriffs had failed to find him; that he had come back on the understanding that he was to adopt the child; that he was to provide for the girl, and that he would plead guilty;" that the attorneys agreed they would dismiss the suit if security was given for the provision to be made for the girl. The witness testified: "It was suggested, I believe, that the girl be put in Notre Dame Convent until she was 21 years old, and receive a reasonable sum of money at that time. I said, 'Suppose the four brothers will sign an agreement to this effect.' Foster said, 'All right.'" That an understanding was arrived at in accordance with the suggestions he had made, but that McCutchen did not at any time provide or carry out what he had agreed to do respecting the making of provision for the girl; that McCutchen continually said that he had no money, and that McCowan told him that he must get money, saying, "You have promised to take care of this girl and you must get some money; the court must be a party to the making of whatever agreement we make, and it cannot be made unless the court does approve of it; and if you apply for probation you must show the court you are worthy of it, and if you are not worthy of it the court will not accord it to you;" that McCutchen had said he would see what he could do, and later came back and said he could raise a thousand dollars; that he (McCowan) had replied, "You better find you can raise another thousand; you seem to be imposing upon my friendship, upon my kindness; if you had been thrown into jail when you came back here, as the ordinary course would be, perhaps you would realize the seriousness of your position;" that he (McCowan) obtained an extension of time within which an answer might be filed in the civil action, but that McCutchen made an appearance in that action and employed certain attorneys with whom the witness stated he was not willing to have negotiations; that one of the McCutchen brothers had offered to give him a hundred dollars, which he had refused, and had said, "Ed McCutchen could not give me a million dollars;" that after McCutchen employed attorneys no further negotiations looking toward securing for him a probationary sentence were had; that the matter was taken before the grand jury for the purpose of having a new indictment returned because of a defect in the proceedings of a previous grand jury which had returned the first indictment.

The witness further testified regarding statements affecting the judge of the Superior Court; that he had said to Mr. De Ligne, on an occasion prior to that referred to as the restaurant talk by the witness De Ligne: "I don't want to talk to you. If the testimony of H. E. Johnstone is true, that you and Judge Farmer have been traveling around this State in collusion with an ex-convict for the purpose of liberating a child rapist and of destroying my efficiency as District Attorney, and ruining me and my character, I think you are a pair of crooks; I don't want to talk to you."

"BITTEREST ENEMY."

Further, that he had told De Ligne that Judge Farmer had been the bitterest enemy he had in the world; that his bias and prejudice had blinded him to take unjust and outrageous action. The witness made no denial of the conversation having occurred in the restaurant in terms as stated by De Ligne. He said that in all of his actions in the McCutchen case he was not prompted by any motive except to cause reparation to be made by McCutchen for the wrong he had done to Effie Thompson. At another point in his testimony he stated that his purpose was to save from wreck four lives, to wit: McCutchen's, Mrs. McCutchen's, Effie Thompson's and the child of the latter. It appeared from his testimony that McCutchen had afterward had two trials on the charge, in both of which the jury disagreed, and that he was finally acquitted. He further said: "At the same time I deemed it my duty as District Attorney and in the interest of justice to do exactly what I was doing, in view of the circumstances and conditions in Kern county at that time; and I would believe it to be my duty to do exactly the same thing if the same circumstances and conditions confronted me again." He added in another answer that the character of the Thompsons also influenced him in his action in the McCutchen case. He also added, in response to a question of his counsel, that he had never practiced law in the State of California, except that he had in some cases rendered gratuitous services.

COURT'S COMMENTS.

In considering the testimony in support of the charge that respondent solicited money with the intent that it should be paid to influence him in his official conduct, it must be remembered that the testimony was given by witnesses whose interest in the matter at the time the affidavits were made and presented to the grand jury was of the greatest. E. W. McCutchen himself testified that his purpose in making the affidavit accusing McCowan of soliciting a bribe, a certified copy of which formed the basis of the inquiry made by the grand jury, was to affect the action of the jury and court in the matter of his own case. In view of the interest of the witnesses, whose sworn statements were embodied in the affidavits and whose testimony was reproduced at the hearing herein, it best comports with fairness to conclude, which we do, that the District Attorney, in his negotiations with the McCutchens having reference to the payment of money by them, was acting solely with a view to securing that money for the purpose of aiding the Thompson girl. That his action, taken upon his own statement of the matter, was to the highest degree improper, in our opinion, admits of no question.

Indeed, the lack of his appreciation of the impropriety of his course in the McCutchen case seems inexplicable and deserving of the severest censure. Closely analyzed, we find from the evidence that the whole purpose of the District Attorney in the inducement which he offered to secure the return of McCutchen to the State of California and as a consideration for his recommendation which he promised to make to the court that [illegible] should be released on probation was to secure a settlement in favor of the girl in the case wherein he was charged with committing [illegible]; that his testimony he stated [illegible] Cutchen, the accused, asked [illegible] he should do, to which he replied that McCutchen should [illegible] the girl and plead guilty, [illegible] to have assumed the entire responsibility for the making of the [illegible] ment on behalf of the girl, for [illegible] that when the father of the [illegible] had an action brought for [illegible] ages after McCutchen returned [illegible] he (McCowan) was irritated [illegible] and visited the attorneys for the [illegible] son with the idea of getting them [illegible] withdraw the action. He said to [illegible] them the "terms" upon which he secured the return of McCutchen. These terms, it was very clear, was that McCutchen should make [illegible] tary provision for the girl and [illegible] a plea of guilty, upon which the District Attorney would see his way [illegible] with the court to secure a [illegible] ary order. McCutchen was to [illegible]

COQUETTISH DOINGS.

Noted in Divorce Court Tells of Alleged Flirtations of Spouse, with Due Reference to the Bungalow Clubhouse of Beach Bachelors.

Some crept into the testimony of the divorce suit of Mrs. Mary Foss, wife of Darrell Foss, a motion-picture actor, before Judge Wood yesterday, a reference to a bachelors' club at Venice called the Ginks. Mr. Foss is relating some of the alleged flirtatious acts of his young, fair and pretty wife. The Ginks own a bungalow, and one evening, the young husband said, he saw his wife sitting in a swing in front of the club, and that a man had his arm on the back of the swing. He said he has seen her wave to a man in an upper window.

"I came home from work unusually early one afternoon," he testified, "and found her at the telephone. She called some man 'dear' and 'sweetheart,' and said: 'I can't keep that appointment with you, dear. He is here and I have to call you up from across the street.' The Ginks' clubhouse is across the street.

Mrs. Foss charges her husband with cruelty. She was married in 1913 when she was not 15. Mr. Foss asks a decree on a cross-complaint, on the ground of cruelty. The case will be continued today.

OILCLOTH FACTORY MUST BE ENLARGED.

HUNTINGTON BEACH INDUSTRY IS PROSPEROUS.

Visitors Inspect and are Entertained at Plant, Which is One of the Largest in the Country—Capacity to be Doubled and will Still be Unable to Meet Demands.

Yesterday was official visitors' day at the oilcloth factory of the Pacific Oilcloth and Linoleum Company at Huntington Beach. Delegates from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, officials of Huntington Beach and many prominent local citizens, including a number of wholesale dry goods merchants, made a thorough inspection of the $120,000 plant, which is said to be the largest of its kind west of the Mississippi River.

The factory, with an output of 5000 yards per day, has been the object of considerable attention locally since it was put into operation about fourteen months ago. Many requests have been made for permission to visit the premises, but, with every effort being made to keep abreast of their orders, officials of the company have been loath to interrupt business for even a few moments. In response to the requests, however, it was decided to set an official day for inspection. Announcement to that effect was made several days ago, and invitations were issued last week.

Leaving Seventh and Los Angeles streets at about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, automobiles carrying some sixty persons made the trip under the auspices of officials of the company. By the time the party reached Huntington Beach additions from Long Beach and other points en route brought the number of visitors to approximately 100, in the procession of more than twenty automobiles.

Under the direction of T. B. Talbert and W. T. Newland, respectively president and vice-president of the company, the inspection of the factory began immediately upon arrival. Great interest was evinced by the visitors, few of whom had ever been in an oilcloth factory before.

Assisted by W. H. Taylor, superintendent of the factory, each of the twenty-five machines was demonstrated, and a thorough explanation of the process of manufacture was given. The raw muslin passes through fourteen processes before the finished article is obtained. The time required for manufacture is six days.

Following the inspection an elaborate dinner was served at the factory, and addresses followed. Among the speakers were Mayor E. E. French of Huntington Beach, President John S. Mitchell of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; David Norton, president of the Western Wholesale Dry Goods Association; E. R. Smith of Cooper, Coates & Casey; M. L. Williams, a prominent cotton man from New Orleans, and many others, including T. B. Talbert and W. T. Newland of the Pacific Oilcloth and Linoleum Company.

After the speeches and another tour of the factory the visitors were guests of the company on an automobile tour of Huntington Beach and vicinity. The tour included an inspection of the new Huntington Beach recreation pier.

Officials of the oilcloth company state that during the past year business has been excellent. "If we had equipment that would double our output—which we expect to have shortly—we would still be unable to supply the demand," said Mr. Talbert. "Every effort has been exerted to meet our orders, but, although at the highest point of efficiency, we have been forced to turn down large contracts.

"We manufacture 100 different designs and colors, and if we had the necessary equipment could more than treble our business. We are working now to increase our capacity, and expect soon to have a factory on a par with the largest in the country."

FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Whittier Republicans Indorse Townsman for County Office.

The Republican Club of Whittier has unanimously indorsed Ralph Graham for the office of District Attorney. At a meeting yesterday Attorney A. Morre, president, told the Republicans that Mr. Graham would be the next District Attorney of Los Angeles county. The resolutions were then drafted and the club decided to get back of Mr. Graham in his fight for the office.

Mr. Graham for five years was City Attorney of Whittier, has served as president of the school board, and for four years was deputy District Attorney under Capt. John D. Fredericks. Mr. Graham has lived in Whittier for twelve years.

EX-OFFICER FREED OF BRIBE CHARGE.

THOUGH HIS CONDUCT IS HELD TO BE CENSURABLE.

Justice of Peace Releases Former Constable on the Ground that Taking of Money from Prisoner Kept at Hotel Does not Violate State Law.

Roger Woodbury, former constable, who was charged with bribery, was yesterday released by Justice Brown after his preliminary hearing. The court held that the offense charged does not constitute a crime in California, bribery being a different transaction under the code than the procedure of the deposed official.

Justice Brown held that the actions of the officer are censurable and worthy a serious investigation by the Sheriff, as well as the Civil Service Commission. The charge against Woodbury was the taking of $20 a day from a prisoner whom he kept in his custody instead of placing him in the County Jail.

During the preliminary examination this man testified he had agreed to pay Woodbury that amount as well as all expenses, and that for six days he remained in a downtown hotel, going out during the day to numerous cafes for meals and drinks.

When Dist.-Atty. Woolwine was told of the action of the justice court, he stated that if this is the law the statutes on bribery are in a most deplorable condition, and should be corrected as soon as possible by the Legislature. Deputy District Attorney Van Gott argued against the dismissal on the ground that a new point of law had been raised and that it should be passed upon by the Superior Court and finally by the Supreme Court.

no real construction work and do not propose to start any until conditions become settled."

Mr. Randolph was asked if it is true his company intends to demand $12,000,000 indemnity from the Mexican government for losses suffered during the revolutions.

"We will take the matter of indemnification up with the government at the proper time," he declared. "As yet we do not know just how much indemnity we should receive, as we have not figured out our losses for that purpose. When times become quieter we will no doubt do this. At present the Carranza government is treating us in an admirable manner. Whenever we haul their soldiers they give us boletas, or orders on the government.

TRUCK A JUGGERNAUT.

Driver Cranks Engine with Gears in Mesh and is Perhaps Fatally Crushed Under Wheels of Ponderous Machine as it Runs Wild.

His own motor truck proved a juggernaut for Marion J. Sloat, No. 462 East Thiry-second street, yesterday, when he cranked the engine while the gears were in mesh. The huge machine started, felled him and passed over him, breaking his back and inflicting injuries which the surgeons report may prove fatal.

The accident happened at Thirty-first and Trinity streets, where the two-ton machine stalled. Mr. Sloat, who is 66 years old, hopped out and cranked the big engine and with the first flutter of the pistons the truck started.

It passed directly over the form of its pilot, crushing bones and rending the flesh. Then it continued a wayward flight until it butted into the curbing, grunted and fell over on its side. The police were informed of the accident and an ambulance from the Receiving Hospital hurried to Mr. Sloat's relief. He was taken to the County Hospital for treatment.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head, no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

When dinner is called, you want them to come with the craving appetite of children. Bread is one of the most vital foods—give your family bread that is of the highest possible food value—buy Jevne's Bread and insist upon it.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) Manipulation by professional speculators, who were after profits alone, dominated the financial markets to a considerable degree, the standard stocks and bonds being, for a time, neglected. Later, however, a strong undertone set in and a general upturn occurred from a persistent demand for investment purposes. Foreign conditions were ignored. Hessian fly damage is reported in several wheat States.

(Abroad:) Canada is looking to New York for a loan said to be $75,000,000 for supposedly war purposes.

(For details see financial pages.)

FAIR WARNING.

The California poppy, the State flower, will be taboo today. Erin go bragh!

CASTING OF THE DIE.

For the second time in the last half-century American troops have invaded Mexican territory. Let us hope they will return with their shields or on them!

THERE IS FUN AHEAD.

Unpledged delegations to the Chicago convention appear to be the rule, except in States where favorite sons are in evidence. With the roll call but ninety days away it looks like anybody's fight for the first honor.

WHY OBJECT.

A Los Angeles county woman thinks she ought to have a divorce because her husband's female friend referred to her as "that old hen." Seems to us that at the price of eggs that prevailed some time ago the appellation ought to be a mark of superiority.

BIBLE VIEWS.

On the subject of the invasion of Mexico we stand square with St. Luke when in the sixty-second verse of the ninth chapter he records this: "And Jesus said unto them, no man having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God." And as it is with men so is it with nations.

KEEPING WAR PRISONERS.

It is interesting to learn that prisoners of war in Europe have to submit to one peculiar humiliation when they are captured—a subtle indignity which might have emanated from the fertile brains of the English militant suffragettes. For, besides being promptly disarmed, their trouser suspenders are immediately cut, necessitating that modest men keep their hands in their pockets to hold the all-important garment in position.

Many a man might hasard escape and risk recapture and ensuing punishment if he could rely upon his trousers; but it has been proved that the innate modesty of the male genre prevents him making any such attempt while his trousers are in jeopardy. Prisoners so treated find their adventurous spirits adequately becalmed, no thought of escape or trouble-making frets their hearts, nothing but the immediate and awful necessity to keep those trousers up at all costs.

When women go to war will a similar device suffice to keep them subdued?

FIVE RAMS FROM A KING.

The farmers of the Meuse, who suffered severely from the German invasion, are holding a donation party and receiving gifts of various kinds of stock, seeds and farming implements made by British farmers through the agency of the Relief of Allies Committee. Included in the recent gifts were five rams bestowed by King George. It is not stated whether these were steel rams taken from the bows of "unarmed" British merchantmen, or hydraulic rams from British brooks, or the old-fashioned crooked-horned, baa-baa kind. If the latter, where did George get them? Has he a ranch on which he raised them, or did he purchase them with money saved from his miserable stipend of $2,350,000 per annum—thirty-one times as much as Woodrow Wilson receives! King George by this munificent gift has evidently recalled the famous saying of Baron Rothschild, who called for mutton instead of venison a luncheon because he "preferred meat that was sheep to meat that was deer."

RUSSIA'S GRAND DUKE.

Russia has one leader at least who really deserves his title. The Grand Duke Nicholas in mind, heart and physique is as big as his name. Sent out to accomplish an impossible task, to fight the heavy artillery and splendidly-organized armies of the Kaiser without ammunition, without proper equipment, he made a good best of a bad job and saved his army from the total annihilation that under poorer leadership would have been its certain fate.

Where the Grand Duke showed himself to be a great man was in his subsequent conduct. Although made a scapegoat for the grafters at Petrograd, deprived of his chief command and apparently shelved on a side expedition into the Caucasian Mountains, after many months he emerged from obscurity as the one successful general in the Russian army able to turn a minor action into one of the major operations of the war.

A lesser man would have sulked under injustice, would have allowed his wrongs to rankle; might even have acted as did Achilles, Coriolanus or the infamous Benedict Arnold, to either turn against his country or at the most to give it lukewarm support. Nicholas has shown himself to be a really-and-truly "grand" duke.

"CONSERVATION" BUNCOMBE.

California may well complain about the withdrawals of oil lands from entry, resulting in decreased production of oil and higher prices of gasoline—a condition that cannot be remedied except by again allowing American citizens to locate, purchase and own land; but the western States and Alaska should forever damn the fat-heads who allowed the withdrawal of coal lands from entry.

The figures furnished by the Geological Survey in its last report prove that the "conservation of coal" slogan was nothing but a swindle on the people. It appears that a wealthy coal operator, interested in Virginia and eastern coals, accepted a minor office under Roosevelt, playing chief toady and head of the kitchen cabinet to that wielder of the big stick. The law creating the bureau which gave this schemer office was an idiotic and un-American interference with the rights of citizens. The coal manipulator posing as a benefactor created sentiment in favor of "conservation of resources for future generations" by free use of newspapers and numberless issues of pamphlets at government expense. Finding that the people were easily deceived in regard to the timber situation, this trickster induced the President to withdraw coal lands from entry, saying that the supply of coal would only last a few years, and that the "interests" (whatever they may be,) were gobbling everything in sight.

The order was given and about 175,000 square miles of coal land in the western States was withdrawn from entry, and the vast coal deposits of Alaska were practically sealed. In 1910 the Geological Survey disproved the claim of a possible shortage of coal, and the figures now show that even if we burn up 500,000,000 tons of coal a year we have a supply in known districts in the United States proper to last over 6000 years, and that during the past eighty years we have used up less than one-half of 1 per cent. of our known coal reserve after allowing an exceedingly liberal quantity for waste.

The timber reservation, along with these other withdrawals, almost paralyzed the whole Central West for a while, and the lawsuits instituted by the government frightened all investors from joining in ventures connected with development of any natural resources.

The figures in regard to coal production now furnished by the Geological Survey for 1914 expose the whole scheme. Virginia and West Virginia, where this schemer held large interests, produced in 1907 52,802,478 tons of coal, while in 1914 they produced 79,667,161 tons and the present year will yield 100,000,000 if transportation can be furnished. These two States have only 19,000 square miles of coal land. Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Utah produced in 1907 21,007,690 tons of coal, while in 1914, with over 80,000 square miles of coal land, they only produced 20,562,061 tons. The strike in the coal fields of Colorado decreased the tonnage for a few months, but if the mines had been operated fully there would not been an increase over the 1907 production. Alaska produced 10,000 tons of coal in 1907, and 1000 tons in 1914.

The report shows that the western production of coal did not increase in seven years, except in New Mexico, where the coal is in land held under the old Mexican grants and in Texas where the government never has owned any land. In New Mexico the production increased from 2,628,959 tons to 3,877,689 tons or 48 per cent., and in Texas from 1,648,069 to 2,823,773 or 29 per cent. The production of coal in the United States increased from 480,364,424 tons to 513,525,477 tons in the same period.

Reservation was a smooth trick to fool the people as to a coal shortage and induce the President to cut off competition from the western States and Alaska, and enable speculators, by taking advantage of the Panama Canal, to control the coal situation on the Pacific. The result was that the coal of the administration's friend increased sales by 50 per cent. and increased price 10 cents per ton at the mine during the time mentioned; although the blocking of the Panama Canal has prevented part of the scheme from working. This year the profits will be fabulous for soft coal mining.

There might be some sense in attempting to conserve waste; although private owners would do it better than government; but to seize the coal and other natural resources of the country and stop development or use violates every principle of political economy. A socialistic tyranny or centralized monarchy might be able to operate or possibly lease natural resources but a government such as ours would lose by such action and benefit the petty office holders created. Individuals could operate and create property value that would pay in taxes ten times the amount of possible profit under government manipulation. It is remarkable that any man should be returned to Congress from a western State or the Pacific Coast who had been a party to this fraud or had so little sense as to sanction these withdrawals.

The withdrawal of oil land in California and Wyoming and the coal, timber, water-power, soda, potash and the devil only knows what else, in all of our western States, should prove a lesson as soon as results such as this coal situation develop. Citizens should be tired listening to scheming speculators and socialistic agitators, who talk of saving things for the people but who either want to make personal profit out of the move or are jealous marplots who do not know how to do things themselves and want to prevent others from accomplishing results.

COMPETITION WILD INCREASE.

The foreign-trade department of the National City Bank of New York has issued an instructive bulletin on after-the-war trade conditions. It makes one point that American business men would do well to ponder upon deeply. Though exhausted industrially, Europe will have learned such a lesson in organization that competition for foreign trade and markets will be stronger than ever known before, and more efficient methods will be employed in reaching out after them. The necessity for an adequate tariff protection to combat this more strenuous competition was never so pressing as at the present time.

Why Not?

LABOR UNIONITES OPPOSE PREPAREDNESS.

The Chicago Gompersistas are opposed to military preparedness. They regard the struggle in Europe as "a struggle for the control of industrial organization," and its problems are "problems of trade." Shall the employer prescribe the wages he offers, the hours of labor he requires and be permitted to select his workmen, or shall the labor union fix rates and hours, select the laborers and enforce its rights by "beating up" men who refuse to join it and dynamiting employers who decline to allow Sammy Gompers and his crew to run their business?

The Chicago Gompersistas (alias the Chicago Federation of Labor) at a recent meeting resolved that "the time has come to call a halt," that

"Any plan for heavy armament, under present conditions, will mean the spending of billions, the building up of great ammunition trusts and other trusts which take their life out of the labor of the workers. It will mean the development of an oligarchy of powerful commercial forces which would dominate the government and crush out forever the hope of democracy. The stronger the military power would become, the stronger would become the power of the commercial interests. Not only would they dominate the social and political life of the country, but they would control the educational policy, teach their philosophy in the schools, subsidize the newspapers and all sources of information. Their power to do these things today is nothing to what it would be if a great army and navy backed them up."

"Turrible," isn't it. Will Congress by legislating for preparedness ruthlessly invade the sacred right of union-laborers to select their employers, fix their own wages and dictate who shall work in the same shop with them?

"NORMAL" CHILDREN.

One observes the frequent reference to "normal" children in the various child-culture books that flood the literary market these days. The general impression seems to be that the majority of children are cut to a standard pattern, with standard minds and physique, but that certain exceptions must be duly catered for.

Now as a matter of fact there is no such thing as a normal child. Take any large family of children, and every individual child, with the same parents, the same home influences, the selfsame upbringing, develops a totally different character and interests.

To talk of normal children implies a set standard, a narrow social measure, as though a child could be gauged and analyzed with the same precision and exactitude as a pint of milk. And in discussing "backward" children, this presumption is usually carried to a ridiculous extent. The most intelligent of children are frequently backward in some particular branch of study, but that does not make them abnormal; indeed, it could more reasonably be designated normal under the circumstances.

The fashion for child-culture is leading to many follies. Take the much-advertised Binet test for defective children; a class of twenty-five teachers underwent the tests and failed ignominiously in a majority of them.

It is the same with physique. Many a slender, pale-faced child enjoys comfortable health, while many a rosy-checked cherub makes a business of catching everything that's going. But we prefer to regard rosy cheeks and plumptitude as normal marks of health, while actually they are nothing of the kind.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

SPRING AT HAND.

Old Winter's on the downward grade, he soon will cease to blow; so burnish up the good old spade and grind the trusty hoe; Oh, grind the trusty hoe, my friends, and make it gleam like grass, for when the stormy winter ends we plant our garden sass. The birds will soon be winging back from sunny southern climes; they'll build their nests around your shack and sing to beat the chimes; they'll sing to beat the chimes, my boys, among the swaying trees, and while they raise their cheerful noise, we'll plant our beans and peas. The Frost King soon will lose his grip, the frozen brooks run free, and lambs and colts and calves will skip around in frantic glee; they'll skip in frantic glee, my dears, for all young things are brash; and when the snowdrift disappears we'll sow our succotash.

SAINT PATRICK'S COUNTRY.

BY S. S. KNABENSHUE,
American Consul at Belfast, Ireland, 1908-1910.

It has been fourteen and a half centuries since Saint Patrick, the apostle of Ireland, passed to his rest, but his memory is still vivid there. Probably there is no national saint whose name carries with it so much of reality, or means so much to his own people, as does that of Patrick to the Irish. One must live among them in Ireland long enough to get acquainted with them and their inner lives to realise how true this is. Stephen Gwynn truly says: "St. Patrick, more than any figure, stands for what is common between Irishman and Irishman beyond party and creed. More than Niall of the Nine Hostages, more even than Brian of the Tributa, he is the common father of us all, although a foreigner and a Roman."

The chief document which has come down to us of Patrick's undoubted authorship is his "Confession." It is not an autobiography, but a history of his spiritual life, written in his old age, apparently in justification of his career. It is written in Latin, but betrays that Patrick thought in Irish, and had to put his thought into Latin as he wrote. Here is Archbishop Healy's translation of his captivity:

"I, Patrick, a sinner, am the most rustic and meanest of all the faithful, and contemptible in the esteem of many. I had for father Calpurnius, a deacon, son of the presbyter Potitus, who belonged to the town of Bannaventa in Britain. For he had a villa near it where I was made captive. I was then barely 16 years old. I knew not the true God; and I was led to Ireland in captivity with many thousand persons, according to our deserts, for we turned away from God and kept not His commandments, and were not obedient to our priests, who used to admonish us about our salvation.

"Now, after I came to Ireland, I herded flocks; and often during the day I prayed; love of God and His fear increased more, and faith grew, and the spirit was stirred up, so that in a single day I said as many as a hundred prayers, and in the night about as many, and that I remained even in the woods and on the mountain. Before the dawn I used to be aroused to prayer in snow, in frost, in rain, and I felt no hardship; nor was there any slackness in me, such as I now perceive, because then the spirit was fervent within me."

In the closing years of the fourth century the power of the Roman Empire had weakened, and the wild tribes of Northern Europe were tearing at her flanks—the Irish as fierce as any. Expeditions of freebooters crossed the narrow sea to the shores of Britain, robbing, burning and destroying, and capturing the people to make slaves of them. Rome did this for centuries whenever she had occasion to make war on any land. It was the recognized mode of warfare. Patrick was the victim of one of these raids. He does not tell us the place of his captivity; but the unbroken tradition from his day to the present says that "the mountain" of which he speaks is Slemish ("the Mountain of Mish") in County Antrim; and his master was Miliuc, king of Northern Dalaradia, whose residence was in the valley of the River Braid, two or three miles from Slemish.

The tourist will find it a most interesting jaunt from Belfast, going north by raH to Ballymena, a busy little town of 10,000 population, and thence by jaunting car eastward a few miles to the foot of Slemish. Some five miles out the car driver will point out a well or spring, an ancient spot of pilgrimage, a few dozen yards to the right of the road. The water, beautifully clear, wells up in a rude basin, a foot or so in diameter, marked by a few rough stones. The bottom is of iridescent sand, and the water rising through it plays with the sand particles and gives fitness to its ancient name—Tobar-na-suil, "the well of the eyes." It is worth visiting, for it is quite likely that Patrick was familiar with it, and there slaked his thirst when watching his herds in the valley.

The dun of Miliuc, Patrick's master, was somewhere in that vicinity. The ancient duns had to be defended from the attacks of foes of all kinds. This defense was accomplished by digging a deep circular trench, the earth from which was thrown up on the inside. Thus was formed a high embankment with a trench all round it, having one opening for entrance. Whenever water could be had, the trench was flooded as additional security. The wooden residence was built on the level central space. These duns are numerous in every part of Ireland, for earthworks are the most enduring of human works, as witness the remains of the mound-builders in our Mississippi Valley. There are several still existing in the Valley of the Braid, one of which was certainly that of Miliuc. Tradition does not point out the exact one; but as it was the residence of a king it probably occupied the top of a steep, rocky hill called Skerry, on the northern side of the Braid Valley, a mile or so beyond the well spoken of. Skerry's summit is now crowned by an old churchyard, surrounding the ruins of a stone church, the latest of three or four which successively occupied the site. Tradition has it that St. Patrick founded the original church here; and near the ruin lies a broad, unhewn flagstone on whose surface the rough semblance of two footprints are said to mark where an angel stood when he communed with Patrick.

There is no certainty as to where Patrick's childhood home was located. In the "Confession" he calls it "Bannavents in Britain." There is a tradition, centuries old, that it is now Kilpatrick, a village on the Clyde, between Glaskow and Dumbarton, Scotland. Others conjecture it was somewhere on the west coast of England; and still others that it was Boulogne, France. The name Bannaventa seems to be Gaelic, and to mean "the end of the water" or river. This would mark a place at the mouth of a small river; but there is no existing place which has the name. Nor is there any certainty as to the place whence Patrick set sail from Ireland to return home, after his six years of servitude. The "Confession" says:

"And then on a certain night I heard in my sleep a voice saying: 'Thou fastest well; thou art soon to go to thy fatherland.' And again, after a little time I heard the Divine voice saying to me: 'Lo, thy ship is ready.' And it was not near by, but distant perchance two hundred miles. And I had never been there, nor had I any acquaintance among the persons there. And thereafter I betook myself to flight, and left the man with whom I had been six years; and I came in the virtue of God who directed my path for good; and I had no alarm till I came to that ship."

Patrick says the ship was at a place called Benum. This spot is unidentifiable,

St. Patrick's Country

ad is believed to have been at or near Wicklow, on the southeastern coast. A ship was ready to sail, and Patrick wished to go on her, but the master refused. Perhaps this was because Patrick had no means of paying his passage. The crew later relented, and him on board, and after a voyage of three days they landed, probably at some point on the northern coast of what is now France.

Patrick was then in his twenty-second year. There is some confusion among the chroniclers as to his life during this time; but eventually he reached his home, his parents begging him to promise not to leave them again, after all he had suffered. A vision determined his future career. He tells us:

"There there it was I saw, in a vision of the night, a man coming as if from Ireland, whose name was Victoricus, with numberless letters. And he gave one of them to me; and I read the beginning of the letter, purporting to be 'The voice of the Irish;' and whilst I was reading out the beginning of the letter, I thought that at that moment I heard the voices of those who dwelt beside the wood of Foclith, which is beside the western sea; and thus they cried as if with one mouth, 'We beseech thee, holy youth, to come and walk once more among us.' And I was greatly touched in heart and could read no more, and so awoke."

In the year 432 he began his great missionary work in Ireland, presumably at the age of 45. He landed at Wicklow, probably; then coasted northward in his vessel, entered Carlingford Lough, landed on the southern shore, leaving the boat, and penetrated inland. They were seen by a herdsman of Dichu, the chief of that region, who imagining them to be pirates, ran to tell his master. Dichu and his men went out to meet them. The saint yielded to the preaching of Patrick, and became his first Irish convert. Dichu gave the saint a barn wherein to celebrate religious services. The Irish word for "barn" is pronounced saval, now anglicized into saul; and here, on the site of the original barn, was later built the great abbey of Saul, which stood for centuries. Now a few ruins are left, and the site of the original barn is occupied by a recently built church, built about 1932.

Patrick remained with Dichu for some time, and then set out to visit his old master, Milluc. Probably his object was to convert the latter. When Patrick and his party reached the summit of a hill bounding the valley of the Braid on the south—only some six miles from Saul—and obtained a full view of the valley, he looked down three miles away, and saw Milluc's dwelling in flames. The king had heard of Patrick's coming; and for a reason which we can only conjecture, preferred to destroy himself and his goods rather than meet his whilom slave. Muirchu's life of the saint says: "For the space of two hours or three, he (Patrick) stood in a trance, uttering no word, but sighing, groaning and weeping. . . . Then praying and fortifying himself with the sign of the cross, he turned and went to the place whence he had come, following the same trail."

The hilltop whereon Patrick and his retinue stood to witness the flames is marked for centuries with a cairn, and was a place of pilgrimage for the devout; but the cross vanished long ago, and the spot is now marked by a group of small trees, inclosed by a stone wall. The place is still called Slieve Patrick, and is easily reached from Ballymena by jaunting car, being about six miles southeast of the town, on the Larne road.

Patrick remained at Saul till the following spring, when he and his retinue journeyed for Tara, the seat of the high kings of Ireland, with the purpose of converting him. The party went by boat to the mouth of the Boyne River, not far from near where Drogheda now stands. They journeyed up the valley and on Easter eve, of the year 433, stopped at the hill of Slane, which was not miles from Drogheda and about the same distance from the hill of Tara. Here Patrick, according to the Christian usage, lighted the paschal fire, from which was to be lighted the sacred candle, to burn all night and day in the Easter dawn.

At Tara, the high king, Loaghaire mac Neil, was celebrating a heathen festival; and it was an ordinance that no fire should be lighted in all Meath before evening until a fire had been kindled on the hill of Tara. So, when Patrick's fire blazed out over the darkening landscape, it raised a commotion in the royal palace. Loaghaire sent messengers to investigate; and the result was that Patrick was summoned to appear at Tara the next day and explain matters. Patrick and his companions journeyed to Tara not in fear; for the Druids of the royal court were undisguisedly hostile, and there was danger of attack on the way. There are many details of the journey, but the fact is that Patrick appeared before the king. His preaching and arguments were partly successful; for while King Loaghaire would not forsake his gods for the God of Patrick, he gave the saint permission to preach the Christian faith freely. He told why he would not become a convert; "Niall my father did not permit me to believe, and enjoined that I should be king in the top of Tara like men of my race up in war." And when his father was buried fully armed, standing erect, in a rampart of Tara, with his face turned toward the Leinstermen, his enemies.

There is little doubt that there was a powerful knowledge of the Christian faith in Ireland before Patrick's time. Palladius is believed to have preached it in County Wicklow a year or two before Patrick came; but he met with much opposition, and Palladius returned to Scotland, where he died. The latter, like Patrick, must have brought some ideas of the new faith; for King Niall must have known of it, or he would not have laid his command on his son Laoghaire not to molest it. But the latter was of broad mind; and though he obeyed his father's command, he did not object to King Patrick to labor among his people. He accordingly spent a couple of years in the territory about Tara, baptizing converts, founding churches, and ordaining priests for the latter. The chief antiquity in that region was an ancient idol, Crom Cruach. It appears to have been a large pillar-stone, covered with gold and silver, and surrounded by a circle of twelve lesser stones with bronze adornments. It is believed that Crom Cruach represented the sun, and the smaller stones the twelve signs of the zodiac; but this is not proof. Patrick overthrew the idol stones, ending their worship.

In the year 435, the saint began a great circuit of the provinces. He went west into Connaught; and the result in retreat on the mountain of Croghpatrick, overlooking Clew Bay on the Atlantic, is said to have driven the snakes and all other venomous reptiles out of Ireland. Going further north, he founded a church at Armagh, near the wood of Fooluth, which he dreamed he heard the trees sing him, a score of years before.

Many years were spent in Connaught, making converts and founding churches. He then made a tour of Ulster, but his stay in that province lasted only about a year. He visited Owen, the king of Ulster, at Aileach, a few miles from Londonderry. The ruins of that place are often visited by tourists. When Patrick reached what is now the town of Coleraine, he asked the chief to give him a place whereon to erect a church. The latter took the saint to a corner, whereon some boys were playing, and burning the ferns which covered the ground. The place was named "Cuil-raithin," or "the corner of the ferns," which is now softened into Coleraine. The present church in that town stands on the spot where Patrick built his primitive structure.

Going southward through Ulster, Patrick probably then founded the church on Skerry, presumably the site of Milluc's dun. There are two or three places near Belfast where he is reputed to have erected churches on this journey. Thence he went southward into the province of Leinster, where he remained a coupe of years. About 445 he went south into the province of Munster, going first to the royal residence at Cashel. The king and his son readily became converts, and Patrick found the field so fruitful that he spent seven years in that province, thus completing the circuit of Ireland.

We next find Patrick at Saul and the surrounding region, where he had begun his mission twenty years before. He now proposed to found a center from which to govern the churches of all Ireland, and establish an archbishopric. His choice fell upon a locality called Ard-Macha, "the height of Macha," now Armagh. This was named for Queen Macha of the Golden Hair, who, about 330 years before Christ, had founded the great dun, with its double encircling embankments, from which Ulster was ruled for over 600 years. The old earthwork still stands, two miles west of the city of Armagh. It is a pity that Armagh is not oftener included in the itinerary of visitors to Ireland, for it is a spot rich in history and tradition. It is only thirty-five miles by rail west of Belfast.

Patrick spent the remainder of his life at Armagh and at Saul, where his mission began, and which he deemed his home. There he died, March 17, probably in the year 465. The month and day are certain, for they are given by Ferdomnach the scribe in the famed Book of Armagh; but as to the years mentioned, there is great diversity of opinion. The writer has adopted the chronology of Archbishop Lanigan, which corresponds with that of most modern biographers of the saint.

Patrick was interred at Downpatrick, two miles from Saul, in the church which he had founded. The remains of Saint Columba, after resting for three centuries in Iona, were brought to Downpatrick and buried there; and the body of St. Brigid of Kildare was also brought here for interment. The great abbey and church at Downpatrick was plundered eight times by the Danes between the years 824 and 1111. It was repaired and adorned by De Courcy near the end of the twelfth century, and he conceived the plan of translating the remains of the three great Irish saints to one tomb. This was done in 1186, Cardinal Vivian coming from Rome as papal legate.

The abbey church was destroyed in 1316 by Edward Bruce, and again by the Lord Deputy, Leonard De Grey, in 1538. It lay in ruins for more than two centuries and a half, the restoration being commenced in 1790. The original nave and transepts were not rebuilt, however, and the present cathedral is really but a reconstruction of the choir of the ancient building. The grave of Patrick and his fellow-saints was apparently in the south transept of the old building. Now it lies in the churchyard, near the church on the southeast. It is marked by a huge slab of undressed granite, lying flat over the grave. On the upper surface is cut a Celtic cross and the word "Patric" in old Irish letters. It is still an object of pilgrimage by the faithful Irish.

SOCIETY.

A huge golden basket tied with a perky pink tulle bow and containing fragrant pink sweet peas nestling in maidenhair fern centered the table at the pretty luncheon over which Mrs. Charles Rivers Drake presided in the main dining-room of Hotel Virginia Wednesday, in compliment to Mrs. Charles W. Kemmler, Jr., of New York, nee Miss Marguerite R. Drake, and formerly a prominent society girl of Los Angeles, and for Mrs. Oliver P. Thompson of Des Moines.

Over the surface of the handsome imported lace cloth were strewn a few of the flowers and delicate fern fronds in artistic grace, and handsome favors of pink satin and the place cards accentuated the dominating decoration. At table were Mrs. C. W. Kemmler, Jr., Mrs. Oliver P. Thompson, Mrs. Irving Walker, Mrs. Sayre Mcneil, Mrs. Walter Brunswig, Mrs. Shelly Tolhurst, Jr., Mrs. Eldridge Rand, Mrs. Charles Morehead Nebecker, Miss Angelite Phillips, Miss Louise Hunt, Miss Amy Busch, Miss Marguerite Fleming, Miss Katherine Banning, Miss Emily McBride and Miss Penita Drake.

St. Patrick's Dance.

At the St. Patricks ball which Mrs. A. P. Kendis is extending to several hundred guests tomorrow evening, at No. 1710 West Sixth street, special enjoyment will be occasioned by a group of Irish songs which the hostess, Mrs. Nelson Evans and Mrs. L. T. Washburn will present. Many prominent ladies will assist Mrs. Kendis in receiving and supper parties will conclude the pleasurably anticipated function.

—o—

To be Luncheon Hostess.

The Enderlys reside at the Bryson.

Miss Charlotte Huckney of Delavan, Ill., and Raymond Powell were married Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. K. Chandler, No. 1607 Winfield street. Rev. J. M. Schaefle performed the marriage service in the presence of relatives and friends, the bride being attended by Mrs. Walter Morre, and J. T. Powell being best man. At the conclusion of a wedding trip the youthful couple will reside at No. 1651 Fifty-first place.

Dinner Happy Result.

As a result of being on the losing baseball team at the picnic given Tuesday on Malibu River for the guests of the Beverly Hills Hotel, Mrs. F. E. Wilbur entertained the winning team as well as her fellow-losers at a perfectly appointed dinner at the hotel Wednesday night. The place cards were baseballs, while bats were used as a part of the floral decorations and balloons were tied to the backs of the chairs. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wightman, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Butz, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Thompson, Miss Marian Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Boyd, Miss Helen Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hotchkiss, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. William McCurdy, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Greeley, J. H. Slattery, Lieut. Chester Shepard and F. M. McGonigal.

They are to be in the Southland two or three months and many happy affairs will brighten their stay. Mrs. Marshall has taken a pretty bungalow at No. 2626 Western avenue.

In Peach Blossoms.

Peach blossoms were used decoratively for the pretty auction bridge party Mrs. L. E. Adkinson gave recently at her Alhambra home, and attended by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Gifford, Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Shellhorn, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Bristol, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hobart, Mr. and Mrs. George Steinbach, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Gifford, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Robins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moorse, Mr. and Mrs. Foldy James, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Mrs. Jess's Reception.

With daylight excluded from the rooms of the handsome Stoddard Jess home, at No. 2133 Harvard boulevard, and a myriad-shaded candelabrum emitting a soft glow over the assemblage of handsomely-gowned women, one of the smartest receptions of the year was given by Mrs. Jess between 3 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to which several hundred invitations were issued—a pretty social courtesy extended Mrs. E. G. Roberts.

Long-stemmed, stately American Beauty roses and masses of greenery were used decoratively in the reception and living-room, as well as the bright sun parlor, while apple blossoms in all their radiant beauty gave a note of spring to the spacious library. The halls, where was stationed the harp-and-violin orchestra to dispense favoriate airs during the function, were abloom with gay gladioli and snap dragons, tropical palms and ferns, and the dining-room, where a bevy of charming young girls flitted about in summery frocks, showed the mastery of the decorator's art in a Japanese violet and jonquil floral combination, billows of filmy tulle and innumerable candelabra.

Mrs. Jess, always a gracious, queenly hostess, was assisted by Mrs. George Reynolds of Chicago, wife of the eminent banker; Mrs. Charles E. Seaman, Mrs. James Tabor Fitzgerald, Mrs. E. S. Pauly, Mrs. H. M. Binford, Mrs. Willis H. Booth, Mrs. George L. Cochran, Mrs. Walter Perry Story, Mrs. George Goldsmith, Mrs. A. B. Jones, Mrs. Oscar Mueller, Mrs. Herman Baruch, Mrs. A. E. Edwards of Pasadena, Mrs. T. H. Phillips, Mrs. W. J. Washburn, Mrs. Sidney Haskell, Mrs. Lee Phillips, Mrs. E. J. Price, Mrs. J. A. Kerr, Mrs. J. O. Koepfli, Mrs. Josie Witmer, Mrs. J. E. Fishburn, Mrs. C. O. Nourse, Mrs. George B. Jess, Miss June Braun, Miss Victoria Witmer, Miss Helen Martin, Miss Angelita Phillips, Miss Elsie Baruch and Miss Ada B. Williams.

It is with the happiest sort of a reception that Los Angeles welcomes to her select social and business circles Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, the former at one time the State Treasurer, who has now come in the capacity of vice-president of the First National Bank, to establish a residence here, and many are the affairs now in the planning for them. For the present they are cozily domiciled at the Darby.

To Tour Japan.

The following Angelenos are to sail from San Francisco the 28th inst. on the Japanese liner Tenyo Maru: A. J. Johnston, Miss Jessie Johnston, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Thomas Blythe, Dr. and Mrs. N. Call, Mrs. M. Drexel, Mrs. J. T. Keith, Miss Katherine Keith, Mrs. R. B. McClintock, Mrs. J. D. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Villva and Miss Alice Walters. After spending three weeks in Japan, during cherry blossom season, the party will proceed through Korea and Manchuria to Peking, China, thence to the Philippine Islands.

Pasadena Fashion Show.

Three charities of Pasadena will be the beneficiaries of a smart fashion show at the Hotel Maryland, Saturday afternoon and evening, when society girls of the Crown City will exhibit the season's modes.

The revue was planned and carried out by Grover Magnin of San Francisco. Mrs. Walter A. Edwards, chairman of the central board of charities, assisted by members of the governing board, is in charge of the social side of the show. The money received will be divided among the Pasadena Children's Training School, Pasadena Day Nursery and the William A. Scripps Home for Aged People.

The participants in the pictures will be Miss Irene Grosse, Miss Florence Grosse, Miss Agnes Knight, Miss Barbara Blankenhorn, Miss Frances Lunkenheimer, Miss Aida Reis, Miss Dorothy Melcher, Miss Frances Miller, Miss Florence Harrington, Miss Helen Smith, Miss Julia Smith, Miss Priscilla Morgrage and Mrs. Sidney Berg.

In the first tableau all the girls will appear in the latest sport suits; the picture is entitled "Country Life." The poster girls, impersonated by the Misses Irene Grosse, Reis, Knight, Lunkenheimer and Helen and Julia Smith, are to form the second tableau. Following will be the bridal party. The stage will be set in pale gray velvet with steps to a seventy-five-foot runway on which the models will parade.

No set programme has been arranged, but Henri La Bonte will render selections during the afternoon and evening performances and Miss Una Fleming will give one or two specialty dances. The afternoon performance will be on the lawn in the Maryland court and the evening performance in the ballroom.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

Frances Alda, the soprano, who with Frank La Forge, pianist, gave such a markedly satisfying recital here last Tuesday evening will be heard in an entirely different series of songs tomorrow afternoon at Trinity. This will be her last appearance on this tour, as she leaves immediately for New York, to sing, the day after her arrival there, in "La Boheme" with Caruso. She is spending most of her leisure time here motoring, and incidentally looking for a summer residence sufficiently large, and near the beach, for herself and husband, and the numerous house guests they always entertain during the vacation period.

Tally's Broadway.

The Vernon Castles in "The Whirl of Life" will be the screen feature at Tally's Broadway next week. The popular dancers will introduce many of their famous steps during the unreeling of the film. The photoplay is a comedy drama.

Majestic.

Norma Talmadge, Seena Owen, Tully Marshall and Ralph Lewis will illuminate the screen next week at the Majestic in "Martha's Vindication." This is said to be one of the most dramatic and interesting of the recent pictures of the Fine Arts company.

Clune's Broadway.

Thrilling moments are promised while the photoplay, "The Hunted Woman," flickers on the screen at Clune's Broadway next week. In this film Virginia Pearson and S. Rankin Drew are featured among the members of the cast.

Fingering Finery.

AMONG THE STORES AND ADMIDST THE SHOPS.

Along Our Dazzling Streets, where Dame Fashion's Shopping is Done.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

Now is the time to buy:

The chiffon for your dressy blouse. This lovely material in exquisite shades and colors is obtainable in that inauguration sale for as little as inferior qualities usually cost. Georgette is also included among these diaphanous im-materials, which, although so delicate, prove quite durable in blouses.

Cheese, which has been persistently high, is due for a tumble in price, as eastern shipments are coming in rapidly and local cheeses are plentiful. Imported varieties will continue almost out of reach of ordinary purses.

New potatoes will fall in price with the arrival today of a large shipment. This, one of the first of the spring luxuries for the table, will henceforth be held well within reach.

Practical Suggestion.

If, in making cake, you will warm the sugar, instead of warming the butter, for creaming, your cake will be better.

Sol's Lovely Enemies.

Beautiful with the flowers that bloom in the spring (in millinery houses!) and with many other things, as well, are the parasols with which we shall parry the rays of Sol during the coming season. Ornate with puffs, frills, embroidery, quaintly-shaped prongs and pagoda-ish roofs, the parasols of the present mode add greatly to the toilet. I have even seen them—or at least one—bedecked with ribbon run through embroidered eyelets, lingerie-wise, and at each eyelet a dainty bouquet of artificial flowers!

Look Beneath.

If the tailored suit of spring seems plain, look underneath and you will surely find, if the suit be correct, a lining of finest silk in floral effects and perhaps with a background of stripes either toning with the material of the suit or in striking contrast. Luxury finds its principal abode in linings now to prove the just-rightness of tailoring.

Those Bottle Openers.

The Good Housekeeper says, again and again, that she does not see how she ever managed to get along without one of these milk bottle openers. "The times that I have ruined my clean apron or morning frock taking out the cardboard slip in the top of the milk bottle and spilling the cream in doing so!" said she, "while now it is the simplest thing to insert that tiny spear and extract the cover, and that without spilling a single drop or upsetting my disposition. I would trade almost any article in the house for that little implement if it were necessary."

Wee Wipies.

Dainty and new are those little pockerchiefs for the breast pocket of the tailored suit. Some have delicately-colored borders and corners abloom with baskets of flowers which look as though embroidered in crossstitch; others are bordered all around with designs more or less elaborate. The material is usually Georgette, or finest of China silk, or tissue, although the latter are as a rule plaided in delicate tints to match the borders. The colorful kerchief is quite the thing this spring.

Brush Mats for Motors.

If they are not new they seemed so to us when we discovered them in that department for motoring accessories. I refer to the brush mats, with wire springs for fastening to the running board of the automobile. With these in place you almost involuntarily disengage from your shoes all sand and dirt before entering the car.

Pajamettes.

Perhaps they were not given this name at the christening bowl, but it is my name for them. I am speaking of these new pajamas for girls. Just as convenient as the mannish ones; these have the feminine touch in the closely-gathered flare at ankles and wrists. With these you may wear boudoir caps without incongruity.

A Silver Sale.

Not a sale of silver money, but one in which you may save it. There are many odd pieces of flat silver and little articles for table use, plated of sufficient quality for use, almost anywhere, for a long enough time to pay in the saving of your best ware. For use at the beach this summer, or in the mountain home, such articles are excellent and the price so small that if some articels chanced to lose en route, the family need not go into mourning.

If You Have Ever.

If you have ever owned a bird and have forgotten to feed the poor dependent creature, you will hail as pet those make-believe birds in brilliant cages. These will stand any amount of neglect and will not utter a false note in their silent song, nor will you ever have occasion to weep over having made them suffer.

Water Gardens.

Those water gardens for children's amusement are most interesting. They "grow" in low, flat dishes and comprise "waterproof" pond lilies—rendered so by means of paraffine upon their petals, while under the spreading leaves of these protecting flowers are hidden fishes and frogs and sometimes small turtles. The childish imagination would be roused to all sorts of fabrication, I fancy, in contemplating one of these little aquatic gardens, while ingenuity could be long engaged in evolving novel plans for them.

An Eatie Show and More.

At the annual pure food show there are many things of interest. In fact there is almost everything to eat, from breakfast foods to desserts for dinner and to complete the round, a fine demi tasse—coffee of the blend—which is declared to have given heart to the hero who won the chariot race long ago. In the booth where this delicacy is demonstrated to nostrils and to palate, a wonderfully beautiful table is set with finest glass and chinaware from that big popular household store, and the table from an equally popular furniture house. The flavorings, extracts and spices here displayed are such as will inspire the ambitious housekeeper to at once try new kinds of cake, desserts and confections. I think I have never imagined as many varieties of fruit flavorings as are shown there. As you pass along the broad aisles, you are made proud by the realization that every product there—or nearly every one—is a Los Angeles product. From soap to olive oil, from peanut butter to rainwater crystals, we make 'em here. We even make safety from flatirons. If you do not know what sort of invasion this may be, take a peek at that device which holds fast the iron to the board and which also makes it possible to utilize your electric flat iron to cook a meal—provided your ambitions are not too extensive as to the number of courses served. In one booth are housed the products of a well-known Los Angeles woman noted for her salad dressing, her fig puddings and a plum pudding always ready for the emergency guest. Elsewhere one receives tiny containers filled with delicious marmalade. In many cases, excellent recipes are handed out with samples of the products from which they are compounded. One can spend several profitable half-hours at the pure food show.

In Fashion's Train.

A broad band of flowered ribbon, sometimes forms the sole trimming around the bottom of a very full separate skirt of silk.

Almost too beautiful for use are some of the new petticoats which disport lace ruffles, chiffon shirring or that of finest net, and dainty ribbon bouquets, set along the hem.

Leather continues to add its quota to the smartness of outing suits and coats, especially those for motoring and golf.

High shoes for street wear are high indeed, the tops extending in many cases to a height of fourteen inches or more.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

For the reception and tea which Eschscholtzia chapter, D.A.R., is to give tomorrow afternoon at the Alexandria in honor of the regent, Mrs. James Hyde Forbes, who will depart the latter part of the month for Washington, D. C., to attend the national conference in April, a delightful programme has been arranged, as follows:

"The Little God and Dickie" (Josephine Dodge Bascom,) Miss Rachel Graves; "Over the Hills" (Chadwick,) Mrs. Thomas Sloan; Northern Dance, op. 12, No. 3 (Jonas,) Mrs. Cedric Johnson; "Onelegged Goose" (F. Hopkinson Smith,) Rowena Blincoe; song selected,) Mrs. Edna L. Eaton; "The Bravest Battle" (Joachim Miller,) "An American in Europe" (Henry Van Dyke,) Miss Rachel Graves; Allegro Maestoso-Tranquillo, Seventh Concerto (De Beriot,) Miss Nancy Crail; "The Frenchman's Apology" (Edmund Vance Cook,) Rowena Blincoe; "The Spring has Come" (Coenan,) Mrs. Thomas Sloan.

Miss Head of Brookline, Mass., prominent in D.A.R. circles of the East and a teller at the coming conference has been in the city all week, and will continue her journey on to San Diego or Coronado shortly, going to Washington perhaps Thursday. Miss Head, who is also a prominent club woman, speaks strongly for a general federation president being chosen from the Atlantic Coast, saying it is high time the honor should come to the East, though it is believed the majority of club members in the West feel that Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles is the right person, by reason of the sacrifice she made when California entertained the biennial, and of her extraordinary fitness for the position. Miss Head brings out clearly that quite too many women have been chosen from the Middle West consecutively.

Woman's Press Club.

Mrs. Haines Reed, acting president of the Woman's Press Club in the absence of Mrs. Lavinia G. Graham, who was called to New York State by the severe illness of her mother, with Miss Dorothy Willis and Mrs. W. E. Tribit, delegates, and Dr. Lottie Parke and Mrs. E. H. Young, alternates, have been chosen to represent the organization at the coming fifteenth annual convention at the Hollywood Woman's Club, starting Tuesday.

CHANCE MAY TRY FIRST BASE JOB

Will Then be Able to Carry Seven Pitchers.

Second Game of Season Played to a Draw.

Peoria Club may be Used as Angel Farm.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

ELSINORE, March 16.—This city has not continued to grow for the past two days. No ball players arrived on the noon train yesterday. This has happened twice now. However, despite the carelessness of the absent ball players in failing to arrive, there was no lack of excitement.

In the first place, the second game of the series was played, and in the second place Frank Chance's neck was feeling so much better that he said he might play first base himself and use Beef Koerner in the outfield. Beef would have served there either as a regular or an extra, and in either event would be called to first base in the case of a double-header. While the P. L. feels that he is yet good enough to hold down the regular job at first base, he will hesitate a long time before tackling any double-headers.

REAL REASON.

It is not through any irresistible desire to get out in the bright sunlight and play first base next summer that Chance is considering this change, but he is trying to figure some way in which to carry seven pitchers. In that event he would be compelled to fire only ten of them, but if he does not get into the game himself he will be compelled to let eleven go. He feels equal to canning ten pitchers, but to fire eleven is a tough job, even for a manager weighing 190 pounds in his socks.

By playing first base Chance will be able to get along with five infielders, which includes himself and one utility man. This will then leave him room for four infielders, two catchers and seven pitchers.

AWFUL TASK.

Chance has just now got one of the toughest jobs on the face of the earth. Think of having thirty-two perfectly good athletes and only Pullman room for eighteen of them on the first trip away from home. That is almost enough to drive a manager to playing first base. Happy as we are down here, we can't help taking an hour off now and then to feel sorry for Frank in having so many good ball players.

The game today, which was between the same teams as yesterday with the exception of a first baseman and four pitchers, went six innings to a draw. Koerner's team scored two runs and Ryan's did the same thing. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning to eat the noon meal.

PAUSE FOR LUNCH.

Down here they do not wait to call the games on account of darkness. If they did they would be compelled to play nine hours, as they start playing at 10 a.m., and the sun does not set down here until 7 p.m. As this city is ninety miles south of Los Angeles the sun does not set as early here as it does up there at this season of the year. Nine hours is too long to play baseball at one stretch in the spring, and anyway, it would be unlawful to do so under the eight-hour law.

Mr. C. A. Townsend, the hustling constable of this place, is a strong believer in preparedness, especially for Elsinore. He has recommended that the city be fortified, not on the outside, but on the inside. He favors importing a quantity of munitions for future use. Mr. Townsend, in addition to being the strong arm of the law, owns a harness shop here. The harness shop, however, is only a side line, Mr. Townsend's main business being that of serving as the police force of this city. Not only is Mr. Townsend the city's leading harness maker, but he is the Chief of Police, lieutenant, sergeant, patrolman and traffic cop.

IN CASE OF WAR.

He will recommend to the executive and legislative departments of the city government that guns and ammunitions be purchased and stored here for use in emergencies. The only possible argument against this is that the guns might get rusty. He does not believe that a standing army is necessary, but he does think that the citizens should have some practice in shooting. His idea is to organize a sort of informal militia chosen from among the most athletic citizens and have them get out and

RECORD RUN OF BIG TROUT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, March 16.—That millions of steelhead trout are fighting to ascend Santa Clara River where shoal waters make advance difficult is the news brought here today by Guy Crookshank. Similar conditions are reported at Surf with the exception that the trout are having no difficulty in making their way up the Santa Ynez River and are now daily leaping the fish chute at Gibraltar dam. Crookshank states that the shoal waters at the mouth of the Santa Clara are whipped white by the mass of steelheads fighting through the sand to the river's mouth. He predicts the greatest trout fishing season on record this year.

GREEK TELLS HIS STORY OF MATCH.

CLAIMS SANTELL STARTED ALL THE ROUGH WORK.

Demetral Explains Why it was Necessary to go the Limit with the San Francisco Hero—Santell Gets the Worst All the Way Along, but Referee Fails to See It.

BY HOWARD ANGUS.

Bill Demetral returned to this city yesterday and told his story of the Santell match. According to the sturdy Greek champion a man has about as much chance of winning from Santell in San Francisco as an American has of living peaceably in Villa's camp at the present time.

"The man who throws Santell in San Francisco," said Demetral, "will have to get a hammer and nail him down."

VERY DIFFERENT.

Demetral's version of the wrestling match is entirely different from the one sent down from the north. The northern story was that the Greek was a regular rough-neck who tried to win by strangling and slugging Santell and that the intervention of three policemen alone saved the hero of the north from outrage.

Now listen to Bill's story: The match for thirty minutes was as clean and fast as a wrestling match could be. The Greek was behind Santell and threatening at all times to throw him. This was not to Santell's liking, so he kicked the Greek in the stomach. The blow caused Demetral to roll up in a ball with pain and came near being thrown. He complained to Referee Westergaard, but the latter merely smiled that it was an accident.

MORE ROUGH STUFF.

The next trick that Santell resorted to was slugging the Greek on the jaw by pretending that he was brushing under the chin to get a hold on the arm. One of these blows knocked Demetral groggy. Westergaard saw nothing wrong.

Finally Demetral squirmed around and got on top of Santell and immediately clamped an arm lock on the latter's head. According to the Greek champion, the hold was around the face and not anywhere near the neck. Santell began screaming at the top of his voice that he was being strangled. Three policemen jumped into the ring and began pulling at Demetral's legs and yelling at him to let go. The Greek told them that he could not let loose and they dragged the two wrestlers outside of the ring. The Greek thinks that one of the policemen hit him over the head with a billy. He had a sore head in the morning. Here Demetral stopped in his story to ask this question, "How could Santell talk and yell if I had a strangle hold?"

MORE OF IT.

The match was continued again after ten minutes of arguing. Santell began hitting again. This angered the Greek and he admits that he roughed Santell up during the last ten minutes. Westergaard finally stopped the contest and called it "No contest."

"If I foul, as they say, why call it no contest? Because Westergaard knew I was not to blame."

In the meanwhile an announcer had scrambled into the ring and began shouting that Westergaard would wrestle Santell next Tuesday night. This caused Demetral to further open his eyes. He saw a reason for Westergaard's wanting Santell to win. It meant money to Westergaard a week later.

BEATS IT.

Everybody in the rink began yelling, "Kill the Greek. Kill him." Some began breaking chairs and getting the rungs ready to use on Demetral's head. He made an escape to his dressing-room while the going was good.

Afterwards Foley came to him and asked if he would like another match. The Greek told him that he would. Foley informed him that he would like to match the two again and would give the Greek $1500 for his share. Demetral answered that he would willingly wrestle Santell in private for $1500 side bet in San Francisco or at the Los Angeles Athletic Club

Morris Phillips,

The latest victim of the mighty golf club of Artie Shafer, reformed ball player.

Very Startling.

SURPRISES SPRUNG IN MIDWICK GOLF.

SHAFER IS RADIANTLY ON HIS GAME AGAIN.

Elmer Ralphs Defeats Canby of Santa Barbara and then Licks McLaughlin—E. S. Armstrong Walloped by Bitter Rival, Jack Jevne—Nate Mears Plays Good.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

There are two surprises among the survivors of the second-round matches in the Midwick Country Club's invitation golf tournament—Artie Shafer of Los Angeles and Elmer Ralphs of San Gabriel. And there is anguish in store for both of them today, for Shafer meets Jack Neville and Ralphs meets Robert E. Hunter.

FEELING O. K.

Shafer is very radiantly on his game again. He vanquished Alexander Macdonald in the first round, 3 and 1, and awaited Morris Phillips of Redlands, in the second round with his glittering baseball smile of happy assurance. But Phillips felt that way, too. He had comfortably disposed of W. J. Bowman, the fourteen handicap player who qualified with an 83, by 5 and 4, in the first round, and felt that Artie Shafer ought to be a perfectly simple proposition. But Artie fought every inch of the way and carried the Redlands hero to the twentieth hole where he sunk the critical putt with a coy smile.

SURPRISING.

Elmer Ralphs beat Canby of Santa Barbara 5 and 3, in the first round, and then eyed McLaughlin and recalled his recent laurels with some awe. McLaughlin had beaten Bill Campbell of Virginia, 1 up, at the nineteenth, but Bill was going strong all the same. Wherefore when Ralphs found himself the winner against McLaughlin by 2 up in the second round he was almost as surprised as anyone. When he heard that Robert E. Hunter awaited him in the semi-demi-finals today, he quaked at the knees and wondered if men died of fright.

WELL, WELL.

Another surprise of the day was the

COAST TEAMS ARE PUT OUT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—The national A.A.U. basketball championship will be fought out between the University of Utah and the Illinois Athletic Club here tomorrow. In the semi-finals tonight Utah defeated the Olympic Athletic Club of San Francisco, 36 to 35, and the I.A.C. disposed of the Oakland Y.M.C.A., 41 to 21.

WEALTHY OIL TOWN WANTS HAL CHASE.

BUFFALO (N. Y.) March 16.—Hal Chase is liable to be a winning proposition after all. Harry Sinclair, Federal "angel," who holds an $8000-a-year contract on Hal, has been approached by the Warren (Pa.) enthusiasts. This wealthy oil town would like to secure the services of Hal if possible to manage its baseball team.

BOXER EHLE WOULD TACKLE THE EAST.

Walter Ehle is of the opinion that the East offers much better opportunities for a young boxer than the West. This lightweight fighter has licked most of the local talent and wants to take a whack at the ten-round game in the East. Ehle received an offer from an eastern aggregation, and thinks he will take it up.

Christie says Bears will Have a Twenty-point Margin at the End of the Meet

Not Much Doubt.

BEARS EXPECT TO WIN MEET

Hope to Lick U.S.C. by at Least 20 Points.

Firsts are Sure in Shot and Hammer Throw.

Outcome of Hurdle Race is Very Doubtful.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY, March 16.—A track squad which Walter Christie thinks should defeat U.S.C. by twenty points left for Los Angeles tonight. The men have had a week of good weather for training and go south in fine condition. After tomorrow's rest they should be in shape to give a good account of themselves.

DOUBTFUL.

Except in the shotput and hammer throw, fans here feel no certainty as to the disposition of first places. The sprint men, except those in the 440, will make their first appearance in the south, but most of the balance of the squad has had considerable intercollegiate experience.

The outcome of the hurdle race will be watched with great interest. Capt. Preble has already raced the high hurdles in 15 2-5 seconds, and is out to get the championship. If he can defeat Thomson, recent victor over Kelly, he will be in a fair way to land the title.

Searby, a two-flat man in the 880, and Davis, a 4:34 man in the mile, are picked as favorites for the distances. Swain, two-miler, is a possibility.

Nichols and Maker are capable of clearing six feet in the high jump, but their records so far this season have not equaled this.

UNDER NEW RULE.

This meet is the first in which California competes under the freshman ineligibility rule. An agreement with the Trojans, which expires this season, allows them to use freshmen for this contest. California will watch with interest the first meet under the new rule.

A two-man tennis team accompanied the track squad. The players, Clark and Godshall, have been on the second string until this year. Rogers and Capt. Lipman, because of studies, are unable to make the trip. Though the two California men have shown excellent form on the campus courts they are hardly expected to be a match for the U.S.C. veterans.

Charley Paddock,

The ninth-grade sprinter of Pasadena High School, who apparently is the best prep sprinter in Southern California. He will run in the county meet at Pasadena tomorrow.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED FOR PREPS

The baseball schedule of the Southern California high schools has been drawn up and is now officially ready for the public gaze. Beginning on March 24, a week from today, there will be games galore and the whack of a bat with ball will pervade our peerless climate incessantly, until the latter part of May, when hostilities are to cease.

Here are the dates: March 24, L. A. vs. Lincoln, Polytechnic vs. Hollywood, Manual vs. San Pedro. March 31, L. A. vs. Polytechnic, Hollywood vs. Manual, Lincoln vs. San Pedro. April 4, L. A. vs. San Pedro, Polytechnic vs. Manual, Lincoln vs. Hollywood. April 7, L. A. vs. Manual, Lincoln vs. Polytechnic, Hollywood vs. San Pedro. April 14, L. April 21, Lincoln vs. San Pedro, Hollywood vs. Manual, L. A. vs. Polytechnic. April 28, L. A. vs. San Pedro, Hollywood vs. Polytechnic, Lincoln vs. Manual. May 5, Lincoln vs. Polytechnic, Hollywood vs. San Pedro, L. A. vs. Manual. May 9, L. A. vs. Hollywood, Lincoln vs. Manual, Polytechnic vs. San Pedro.

Any games scheduled for the week of Easter vacation will be played off during the week of May 7. It has been stipulated that in case of rain any games affected will be played off the following Tuesday.

Exclusive of the championship series, the date of which is yet to be arranged, there will be thirty games in the league, each of the six teams taking part in ten contests.

HILL'S HEROS STAR IN BILLIARD MEET.

Kirkland and Schallagarger of Hill's defeated O'Brian and McLean of the Lyceum in their pocket billard match last night by the score of 50 to 15. Schallagarger was the hero of the evening, making a high run of 23 and scoring 43 of Hill's points. Hill's is now in first place.

Evans and Willison of the Lankershim defeated Lewis and Doane of Ball's in seven innings by the score of 50 to 35.

MIKE PETRIE WINS POCKET BILLIARDS.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Mike Petrie, Chicago, and Joe Concannon, of Jersey City, were the victors in the afternoon games of the pocket billiards tournament today. Petrie defeated Morris Fink, Philadelphia, 100 to 93, in fifty-two innings, and Concannon beat James Maturo of Denver, 100 to 96 in twenty-nine innings. Petrie's high run was 23 and that of Concannon 18.

Hurrah!

CORONADO POLO SQUAD VICTORS.

Win the Pacific Coast Junior Championship Title.

Coronado Mounts Outclass the Riverside Steeds.

SAN DIEGO, March 16.—The Coronado Country Club four won the Pacific Coast junior championship competition today when they played the finals with Riverside in a hard-fought game. The score was 6¾ to 5½ and during much of the game there was but one-fourth of a point difference in the scores. Both sides played desperately and until the last period it was anybody's game.

CLASSY MOUNTS.

Coronado's mounts outclassed the Riverside ponies, which showed plainly that they were fagged out before the close of the game. The Riverside men only brought a few ponies over for the tournament and have played them in five fast games, so the little steeds were worn out.

And while no one could have told it from the way they played, for first-class polo was played all the time, all of the Riverside players except Hugh Drury were slightly disabled. Hillyard Lett, who played a dashing game, was suffering from an attack of ptomaine poisoning; Harry Pattee's thumb, which was hurt months ago, was giving him trouble, and Frank Hudson had a "riding leg."

Malcolm Stevenson played the best game he has this season and as one of his grand stand admirers said, was in "international form" today. He played as though his life depended on winning those cups and constantly shouted commands to his team in no gentle manner, determined to keep each man keyed up to the top notch.

STRANGELY SILENT.

For some inexplicable reason Hugh Drury, whose voice can generally be heard on the field, was silent and Stevenson had the speaking parts to himself with his "Go after it, Steve," "Take the ball," and so on.

Today's victory by Coronado gives that team two legs on the big trophy. The trophy has been won as follows: Coronado, 1913; All Hawaiian, 1913; San Mateo, 1914; Onwentsia, 1915; Coronado, 1916. Replicas of the trophy are given to the individual players.

SCORE TELLS STORY.

The score today tells the story of the hard-fought game. At the close of the second chukkur the score stood 3 to 2 in favor of Riverside. At the close of half time the score was 4¾ to 3½ in favor of Coronado, but in the fifth period Riverside made two more goals and was ahead again. Stevenson took two goals in the next period and the score was held to 5¾ to 5½ in favor of Coronado until the eighth period, when Weatherwax won the deciding goal for Coronado.

Summary:

Coronado—G. M. Hecksher, 0; No. 2, C. M. Weatherwax, 1; No. 3, S. H. Velle, 1; No. 4, Malcolm Stevenson, 5. Total goals, 7. Penalties, safety against Hecksher; net score 6¾.

Riverside—No. 1, H. Lett, 2; No. 2, H. Pattee, 3; No. 3, F. Hudson, 2; No. 4, Hugh Drury, 0. Total goals, 6; penalties, foul against Drury. Net score, 5½.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—Tommy Tennant, for years prominent as a first baseman in the Coast League with the San Francisco, Sacramento and Salt Lake clubs, signed a contract today to play the coming season with the Mobile club in the Southern League. He leaves Sunday to report to the new club.

ADDISON DOUGLASS ELECTED CAPTAIN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MINNEAPOLIS, March 16.—Addison Douglass, Minneapolis guard on the University of Minnesota basketball team, has been elected captain of the team for next year, it was announced today.

The hero.

Malcolm Stevenson, who came into his own as the big star of the match for the Pacific Coast junior polo championship at Coronado yesterday.

Good Game.

ST. VINCENT BALL MEN LICK MANUAL.

DO ALL OF THEIR WINNING IN FINAL INNING.

Bright and Shining Light of Manual Arts is Shortstop Bailey. Starts Game Right by Knocking Out Speedy Three-bagger—St. Vincent's Team will Play Long Beach.

The St. Vincent's team defeated the Manual Arts High School in a seven-inning baseball game at Exposition Park yesterday afternoon, by the score of 6 to 4. The St. Vincent boys did all of their winning in the last inning.

Beaten 2 to 1, Klinkhammer started the rally by a clean single. Clemens continued the good work a little later by driving out a three-base hit with the bags full. Hickson sent Clemens home with another hit. Once under way the winners were hard to stop.

NO CHANCE.

The brave and plucky Manual youths strove gamely to wrench the game out of defeat in their half of the seventh, but without avail. They did make two runs, however, on one hit, thanks to several errors on the part of the St. Vincent youths.

The bright and shining hero of Manual Arts was none other than Bailey, the shortstop. He carved his name on the honor roll in the first inning when he drove out a hissing three-bagger. Catcher Alexander, no relation to Pitcher Alexander of the Phillies, scored on the hit.

RETURN BATTLE.

The St. Vincent's team is going to play Long Beach at Baer Field Saturday. This is a return engagement. The two teams played at the beach town and St. Vincent lost by the score of 12 to 11. The Fifty-third-avenue boys are not only confident that they can win the game, but feel sure that they will be able to win much more decisively than the sand diggers did on their own beach.

MISS BJURSTEDT WINS AT TENNIS.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Matches in the semi-finals of the singles and doubles of the women's national indoor tennis championship tournament here today, returned Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the Norwegian girl, a winner in each event. The terrific speed of Miss Bjurstedt's drives, at once placed her opponents on the defensive and kept them there. In the semi-final of the singles, Miss Bjurstedt beat Miss Marie Wagner of New York, former champion, 6-1, 6-2.

Mrs. Schmitz, of New York, a former titleholder, beat Mrs. D. C. Mills of Orange, 6-2, 6-1.

Miss Wagner and Miss Bjurstedt will pair in the doubles. They won a place in the final round by beating Mrs. Mills and Mrs. George Humphries, 6-2, 6-2. Mrs. Schmitz paired with Mrs. S. F. Weaver in the other semi-finals. In the second set they wavered under the aggressive mid-court game of Miss I. A. Kissel of Morristown and Miss Helen Alexander of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 6-2. The finals in both singles and doubles will be played Saturday.

APPENDICITIS KNOCKS COOPER OUT OF RACE.

JOY and gloom mingled freely on the Ascot Speeway during the practice yesterday afternoon.

The gloom came first. Earl Cooper, driver of the famous Stutz No. 8, announced that he could not compete in the speed matinee Sunday afternoon.

The joy stuff rolled in just as the practice was closing. George W. Adams, owner of the English Sunbeam, countersigned the entry blank signed by Hughie Hughes, and the Sunbeam is to compete in the race Sunday.

COOPER OUT.

For several weeks Earl Cooper has been under the care of a physician and has been advised several times to undergo an operation. The diminutive speed champion has held up hopping to get the better of a malignant attack of appendicitis, but he finally had to give up. Wednesday he called his physician and, after a sleepless night, made arrangements to go on the operating table yesterday.

"I feel that it is not fair to my mechanic nor the other drivers on the course or the spectators to drive in my present condition," said Cooper at the speedway yesterday. "My doctor tells me that I am in a dangerous condition and may faint any time, and this would mean a great disaster were it to happen during a race. If I don't take the physician's advice and go to the hospital now it may be too late after the race. By being operated on now, I expect to get back on my feet in time to drive at Corona, and there is not a day to lose."

QUITE RIGHT.

George R. Bentel, manager of the speedway, was naturally sorry to have Cooper withdraw, but he readily agreed that it was the thing to do and wished the champion the best there was in stock in the way of sympathy and good will. All the drivers present, although it meant for some of them just one more chance to get in the money Sunday, expressed regret when told of Cooper's condition. Accompanied by Mrs. Cooper, Earl drove out in his wife's Stutz limousine and was formally excused by George R. Bentel, and the withdrawal was approved by Al G. Waddell, representative of the contest board of the A.A.A. The unfortunate speed king was then driven away under the care of Dr. C. W. Cook.

ELIGIBLE.

The eligibility of Frank Lowry to act as starter of the races Sunday was settled yesterday when he showed a contract signed by the speedway manager, calling for his services up to and including the last race held at Ascot, and a letter asking him to act as starter. When these were shown, the A.A.A. official declared Mr. Lowry eligible to officiate and he is to handle the flags on Sunday.

Caleb Bragg and Glenn Martin, members of the Contest Committee of the Ascot Speedway Association, who were named as judges for Sunday and declared ineligible on account of their interest in the speedway, were replaced by F. B. Silverwood and J. B. Magee. Mr. Bentel stated that the names of the speedway officials crept into the list of judges through error, and the matter was righted immediately.

VERY FAST.

The speed made yesterday showed that the new surface will add miles per hour to the meet Sunday. Barney Oldfield on the Christie turned a lap in 47⅛s. Pullen on the Mercer did a lap in 49⅘s, and George Hill made the mile in 52s. flat on the Cyclone. Oldfield drove the same car around in 50⅕s. Eddie O'Donnell on the Duesenberg made two laps at 50s. flat and one at 50⅘s.

For the first time the class-C cars were out yesterday. There were fourteen of these semi-stock creations on the course, and the ten-mile class-C event Sunday promises to be the classiest thing of its kind since the 1913 light-car race on the famous Santa Monica course.

Still Going.

BOXERS WORK IN SPITE OF STORM.

Willard Increases Number of Boxing Matches.

Moran Tackles Three Speedy Partners.

Both Fighters Travel Over Sloppy Roads.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Although the snowstorm had made the roads in this vicinity almost impassable in places, neither Jess Willard nor Frank Moran shirked road work today. Early this morning each covered nearly three miles at a fairly good pace and neither showed any sign of fatigue.

In the gymnasium Willard eliminated the wrestling part of his programme, but increased his boxing bouts by taking on an extra man, going through nine fast rounds altogether. A short session at the pulleys was his only other exercise. The bouts were lively.

ANOTHER ONE.

"Whitey" Allen, who will meet Jack Dillon at the Brooklyn Club for ten rounds next Saturday night, was the added starter. The champion handed Allen a few hard knocks. Rodel, the Boer, boxed three rounds with Willard, and Hample and Monahan followed, each going two rounds.

Monahan, in his second round, smashed a right swing upon Willard's cheek and it stung so that the champion retaliated with a left to the face which started the bleed from Monahan's nose. The time-keeper was so interested in this unlooked-for exchange that he forgot the three-minute limit. Four minutes almost had expired when Monahan shouted: "Hek, there, has that watch stopped working?" and then "time" was called.

ENJOYS WORK.

Willard seemed to enjoy the fast work this afternoon. He perspired freely, but did not exhibit any signs of weariness.

At Moran's headquarters in Westchester the Pittsburgh man virtually repeated his work of yesterday, although he had made up his mind to take a day off. Five fast rounds with his three sparring partners were all Trainer Lewis allowed Moran after a brief turn at the punching bag and some rope skipping. Moran turned the scales at 202 pounds after he had a rub down. Tomorrow and Saturday he intends to take about the same amount of exercise, but Sunday is to be a day of rest.

EXCITING PROGRAMME FOR BIMINI BATHS.

Billy Logg, one of the leading swimmers and divers in Southern California, will tonight at Bimini Baths exhibit his much talked-of fire dive. Logg has a specially prepared suit for this dive and leaps into the tank a flaming torch. The dive is a spectacular one, and well worth witnessing.

The Bimini Women's Swimming Club also will give an exhibition. The exhibition will be along the lines of the entertainment furnished last Friday night. Novelty dives will make up the better part of the programme while several races will be staged.

A water polo contest between the members of the Bimini Boys' Club, also will be staged. The Bimini lads are practicing daily for they are to issue a challenge to the Los Angeles Athletic Club team in the near future for a game for the Southern California championship.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY FOR ROLLER SKATERS.

St. Patrick's Day will be honored at the New Los Angeles Rink with a Fancy Hat Party, with prizes offered for the skaters wearing the most original headgear. Races and other contests will be staged. By special arrangement with the Bert Levey circuit, Manager W. J. Simpson will present the Helen Carlos Trio, made of three of the most skilled roller experts in the country, who are playing a vaudeville engagement here. Billy Carpenter, who holds the title as champion long distance toe spinner, will do his famous spin in the center of the rink floor.

RECORD ENTRY LIST FOR ORANGE MEET.

Over 400 athletes have now signified their intentions of entering the Orange county track and field championships. This is a record list of entries for a southern county meet, and it is probable that at least 100 more names will be turned in before tomorrow.

Jim Donohue, official referee of the big affair, very nearly fainted when he heard the number of contestants read off. The battle is to be started at 9:15 Saturday and will last until evening.

F. V. VIETH CALLS OFF SWIMMING MEET.

Frederick Vance Vieth is authority for the statement that the Los Angeles Athletic Club swimmers will not meet the crack University of California team. It seems that the northern aggregation has asked for several unreasonable things, and Vieth decided to call off the tournament. The guarantee did not tempt the California men, and some of the numbers on the programme failed to excite them.

OXY BASEBALLERS WILL TRY AGAIN.

Occidental College baseball demons will don their uniforms this afternoon with the firm intention of licking Ed Knox's College All-Stars. The battle of brains and muscle will be conducted on the Harvard school diamond. Learock will do the main honors for the Knox team, and is expected to show class. Montijo will toss the pill for the Tigers, and claims that he will astonish the natives with his speed, skill, strength and general all-around ability.

BRENTWOOD CLUB LINKS SOON OPEN.

SANTA MONICA, March 16.—With nine holes of the fine new golf course of the Brentwood Country Club about ready, they will be formally opened for use by the middle of next week, according to Thomas McCall, an officer of the club. Work will then begin on the remaining nine holes of the eighteen-hole course, and work on the tennis courts will be started.

The decision as to the clubhouse has not been reached yet, there being three sets of plans out. The club has 300 members and will become one of the golfing centers within a few months. Work on the golf clubhouse will begin soon, possibly in a month.

NEW RULE ADOPTED BY NORTHWESTERN.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Northwestern University today adopted a two-sport rule, permitting students to compete in only two branches of major sport. It is believed among the followers of college athletics here that Northwestern will stand practically alone among western conference universities in the adoption of the rule.

WOMEN'S GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS.

There seems to be a certain misconception that the State championship for women golfers is settled at the annual Del Monte meeting along with the men's, but as a matter of fact, that event is purely a fashionable one and carries no State laurels with it.

The official State championship for women, under the auspices of the California Women's Golf Association will take place on the links of the San Francisco Golf Club April 17-22, this year; it comes south alternate years and is usually won by a northern and southern woman alternately, as few players feel inclined to make the long journey. This year, however, several of our southern players contemplate going up for it and the San Francisco Golf Club is making special arrangements for their comfort. Mrs. Dudley Fulton is the southern official this year and she is endeavoring to arrange a party of southern players to participate.

Something New.

MANUAL TRACKSTERS IN THREE AFFAIRS.

TOILERS EXPECT TO WIN THREE VICTORIES AT ONCE.

Decided Competition Assured When Lamports Tackle Brashear and Paschael in the Sprints—Lincoln High and Normal are Stacking Their Best Against Artisans.

Something that has never been done before is the programme Coach Fritsch of Manual has on for his tracksters this afternoon. That something is a triangle track meet, in which three different squads of Manual tracksters will compete as individual teams against Whittier State School, Lincoln High and Normal School. All three of these meets will be pulled off this afternoon on the Manual Arts track.

The Manual tracksters have been trying for the past week to get some competition before the city meet. By the way the teams are lined up against the Artisans, Fritsch will have all the competition for his boys that he cares for.

LENGTHY.

As all three of the meets will be held on the Manual Arts track, it means that the programme will start with running three-mile races one after the other. Following this there will be the three races in the 100-yard dash, in which different Toilers will compete against Whittier, Lincoln and Normal. The only provision made is that any one Manual runner cannot compete against two of the schools.

The feature races of the day will be the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash against Whittier State School, in which Mistah Brashear and Mistah Paschael, both 10:1 men, will be out for honors against Warren Lamport of Manual. The Whittier runners are expected to outclass the Artisans in the century event, but in the 200-yard dash Warren Lamport should give them a hard rub for first. Knighten, the husky colored lad that played full-back on the Whittier football team, will be their best bet in the weight events.

Following are the Manual squads as they will line-up against the various schools:

LINE UPS:

Against Whittier State—W. Lamport, S. Smith, Zolle Handley, Schoeppe, C. Bluett, Patallo, McCloskey, Wright, Griffith, Baty, H. Lamport.

Against Lincoln High—A. Sarrail, Griffin, Aberle, McKellar, Duffy, Cook, Robertson, Willenburg, Mintle, Jimmie Blewett, Brockman, Toney, Beggs, Oyler, Abercrombie, Wallace, Kammerer, Kingsbury, Shapland, Saffell and Ward.

Against Normal School—Wooda, FitzSimmons, Heberlein, Tanner, Lukina, Wyndon, Kistler, Stevens, East, Patrick, Wilson, John Blewett, Jones, Allen, McMillan, Cassidy, Zuchelli, Bushmeyer, Twiss, Cooley and Lee.

Billy Gibson, the New York boxing promoter, may run bouts in the Manhattan Operahouse, which, next to Madison Square Garden, was once a temple of grand opera. Next to Madison Square Garden it will be the largest boxing club in New York City.

Quite an Honor.

DUESENBERG IS PREMIER ENTRY

Indianapolis Speedway Ready for Big Race.

Stutz Honors may Fall During this Affair.

Ed O'Donnell to Navigate Big Car.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—Officials of the Indianapolis motor speedway have accepted the first three entries in the annual Memorial Day 500-mile stakes. The honor of premier entry belongs to F. S. Duesenberg, who has nominated his three racers, with Ed O'Donnell, Henderson and Wilcox as drivers. The entry of the Duesenberg racers gives basis to the report that the team has been carefully groomed for the season's campaign and that Duesenberg hopes to attain the honors of American speed champion for the year, cast by Barney Oldfield, premier figure of the sport.

AFTER 'EM.

There is every reason to believe that Duesenberg team is going after the Stutz honors this year. The Stutz has been in the field for two years, and last season it only starts won one first, three seconds, five thirds, two fourths, two sixths, one seventh, two eighths and one ninth. This was a record of twenty-one times the Duesenberg machines finished "inside the money," an average, considering they were pitted against stellar fields in every race and entered races which were not for stanch machines to place in many instances.

The lone first captured by the Duesenberg was the 106-mile event run in August at Des Moines. The Duesenberg averaged eighty-seven miles per hour in this event and captured a purse of $15,000.

BOWLING NOTES

The Long Beach Elks defeated the Santa Ana Elks and the Whittier Owls defeated the Pasadena Owls in the Elks' and Owls' bowling tournament at the Hollenbeck alleys last night. The tournament was won a number of years ago by the members of the Long Beach Elks' team, and the championship is being fought for again by the same team. The tournament will be completed on Monday, March 20, at 2:30 p.m.

Summary of individual scores and handicaps in the Elks' and Owls' tournament will be given out as soon as the secretary of the Elks' lodge can get his work completed. The name of the bowler who will be given the handicap for the season will be given out.

FULTON THINKS HE WILL LICK FLYNN

CHICAGO, March 16.—Fulton, who is scheduled to meet Flynn at Milwaukee tomorrow, appears to be in excellent shape. He seemed to be sure of winning as he spoke laughingly of Flynn's chance of knockout. Flynn has proved a hard smack the Rochester boy in a few rounds.

ANGELS INVITED TO FAKE DANCE.

Mabel Doll up for Doings and Miss Out.

Jack Ryan Still on Trail of Mysterious Gopher.

Rough Infield is Almost Decided Upon.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ELSINORE, March 16.—Frank Shaw has sent to Chicago for a couple of Pinkerton men to come out here and try to apprehend the guy who mailed invitations to the baseball players to attend a dance tonight at Hotel Lucerne, a hotel that no longer exists as a hotel. Speaking frankly, Hotel Lucerne, so well known to local lore, is little more than a burning old wreck near the head of the lake. Indignation is rife among the athletes as a result of this dirty trick being perpetrated on them.

As many as could crowd into the truck piled out last night in response to the invitation, while Chance slept sweetly.

Through the postoffice there arrived yesterday a bundle of lavender-scented, violet-scented invitations—one for each ball player on the team. Graphically they were handsome and a real triumph of the printer's art. There was nothing to indicate that they might be loaded. They looked like the real article. The pulses of the athletes quickened and their hearts fluttered with anticipation when they opened the envelopes and found the following invitation:

"You are cordially invited to attend an informal dance to be given by the GIRLS' GLEE CLUB
of Elsinore
BEARLESS BASEBALL TEAM
at
Lucerne Hotel Ballroom
Friday evening, March 16, 1916, from 8:00 p.m. to 10:30.
IMMEDIATE INTEREST.

Now some of the married men in town showed a certain degree of interest. Babe Ellis yawned and tried to look indifferent, remarking that he supposed he would go down and look in on the young fellers danced.

However there seemed to be no weak points in it. However, it occurred last night to be lacking in two respects, towit: There was nothing as the Girls' Glee Club, nowhere, never has been and never will be, and there isn't a floor in Hotel Lucerne on which you could dance without breaking a leg. In a state of dilapidation that is one of the most satisfying things in these parts. The hero exhibits it blinked in astonishment when the boys arrived on the scene and inquired regarding the dance. It is a question whether he was any more surprised than the ball players.

FOUL WORK.

Some of the citizens of Elsinore had heard of the dastardly business. The plan of luring the athletes two and two into the dark is believed to have germinated by somebody from Los Angeles. It was a low-down trick, and nearly all those concerned hope that the guilty man will be apprehended and shot at sunrise.

Jack Ryan, finding himself unable to hit hell divers, has taken to shooting gophers. Jack has been trailing one particular gopher for a day now, and expects to land it before the end of the week. He says he is handicapped by having no dog to assist him in treeing the game. That shows how much Jack really knows about hunting gophers. What he needs is a trained ground owl to go down and drag 'em out by the tail.

Grover Cleveland Brant is displaying a much freer movement than he did last season—not with his mouth, but with his right arm. He always was free and easy at the dining table. Last year, however, he seemed to be somewhat cramped in the region of the pitching arm. His delivery was more or less halting; had sort of a stutter in it. Now, thanks to Dr. Finley, all this is changed. His arm is now so free that sometimes you think he is going to fly with it. Shortly before the close of last season, Finley discovered while exploring Mr. Brant that the latter had for a number of years been handicapped by a misplaced ligament in his arm. This ligament, it seems, slipped down and got tangled up in the hinge at the elbow joint. Finley readjusted the same with the result that Brant's closest friends hardly recognise him when he gets to flapping his wing out in the middle of the diamond. Aside from that new hat, Brant now seems to be all right.

R. S. Nelson, one of the two millionaires who have been assisting entertain the athletes here, left yesterday for his home in Long Beach. J. H. Munholland, the other millionaire, will remain a few days more for the purpose of being rubbed down by Dr. Finley. Learning that Mr. Munholland was rich, Finley told him that he should have a few treatments. It is a wise doctor who seeks his patients among the wealthy. Dr. Finley is fully equipped both to rub them down and shake 'em down.

At this writing it looks like Koerner at first base, McLarry at second and Fisher at short, with Galloway for utility. Third base still is in doubt. With Fisher's arrival Larson and Groeling probably will be shifted over to third, making it a four-cornered fight at that corner with Butler and Rapps. The man who lands the job must show a lot with stick, as Chance is believed to want a complete infield of .300 hitters. He already has three of these in Koerner, McLarry and Fisher, while Galloway, probably utility infielder, is a .300 smiter. Chance still has his eye on McCarthy of the Cubs, and probably will send for him in case none of our third basemen now on the ground show up strong enough with the bat. The F. L. thinks that McCarthy will qualify in the .300 division out here. Maggert, Wolter and Ellis all are normally good for that mark or better, while the season may develop a .300 man behind the bat. With Jack Ryan pitching the fans may see the novel spectacle one of these days of a team with nine .300 hitters in the field. All these things may not come to pass, but the club is certain of six or seven fence wreckers, and the things which they will do to some of the pitchers will come under the head of murder in the first degree.

A LITTLE DOPE.

We have not been doing much "doping," it being too early to get a real line on the men, but you can tell a good deal about a gent as a hitter by the kind of a cut that he takes at the pill even this early. Furthermore, all of the gentlemen mentioned are backed up by records.

The club may not be quite as fine a fielding organization as last season, but it will far overshadow the 1915 organization in other departments. Its outstanding features will be a powerful attack and topnotch pitching, and because of the latter it will be even stronger on the defensive than last season's club, even if not quite as finely geared in the fielding department. It looms as a team with enough hitting power to win a lot of games even with mediocre pitching, and yet it is to have heaving of the highest order. Figure it out for yourself.

Pete Standridge, it is predicted, will be even more effective than in 1914, when he was with San Francisco, and Pete at that time, as all of us down this way know to our sorrow, was a tough guy to beat. Unlike a lot of young fellows who go to the big league, it helped rather than hurt him. Some are forced to sit on the bench up there for a year or so, and sort of rust out. Pete worked enough with the Cubs to keep his stride, and also increased his store of knowledge. He is now a polished gentleman, an enterprising citizen and a well-informed pitcher. His famous "fork ball" still has all its prongs.

Frank Chance has received a unique letter from Charley Murray which will not be published at this time. Charley is thinking some of working out with the Angels and gives his record, which would seem to entitle him to a uniform, if not a medal. He and Barney Oldfield are sort of expected down here within the next few days. Some of the leading cafe proprietors of this city are hoping that they will bring Dave Joyce along. Welcome to our city, Dave.

Bud Mars, the promising young war correspondent, who sometimes writes under the nom de plume of Bud Mars, feared yesterday that he was going to have a sunstroke. Mud—e-e-r, we mean Bud—came into the hotel holding his head in his hands. He said that it felt hot and asked if his forehead did not look red. At first it did look like sunburn, but an investigation showed that the trouble came from the inside. Some of the cogs in Bud's head, it seems, got red-hot from rapid thinking. He is trying to find some way in which to oil them up. It is believed that the only way to reach the cogs with an oil can will be through Bud's ears, unless he consents to having a hole bored in his head.

Misfortune's favored protege.

Earl Cooper, Stutz pilot and 1915 road-racing champion, is compelled to withdraw from Ascot Speedway races scheduled for Sunday by order of Dr. C. W. Cook. In a weakened condition the champion drove out to the speedway yesterday in Mrs. Cooper's Stutz limousine and asked to be excused on account of physical disability. The request was granted by George R. Bentel, speedway manager, and approved by Al G. Waddell, representative of the Contest Board of the A.A.A. The beautiful wife of the speed champion is shown watching the tryouts at the speedway yesterday with her husband just before he went to the hospital to undergo a serious operation.

VERNON TIGERS NOT SO NOISY.

Boys are Muscle-bound and Rather Tired.

Yannigans Stage Large-sized Come-back.

Long Hike will Close Regular Practice Week.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA SUSANA, March 16.—The Yannigans came back this afternoon and made it two out of three for the series against the regulars by putting over an eleven to one victory. The Yans went wild at the plate and hammered poor old Dough Hitt all over the lot for eight runs in three innings and then turned their wrath against smiling Jack Gilligan, their old friend the umpire of yesterday's game, and walloped him for three more in two innings.

NOT SO NOISY.

There was less noise on the field after the first few innings than during the preceding games. The boys were muscle sore and rather tired and lacked the ginger, but this applies more to the regulars than the Yannigans. Capt. Swede Risberg is always there with the loud noise and Tub Spencer, Honus Mitze, and Gus Gleichman were but little behind. Jack Bliss had an easier time of it than Gilligan did yesterday, but his way was not paved with roses by any means.

The heavy hitting end of the Regular line-up failed to come through at all and it remained for the battery men to bring home the solitary count in the run column. Bert Whaling whaled one over the center field fence for a double and then Dough Hitt, wit hthe count three and two, pickled one of Frommas's hooks over the right field wire for one of the same kind, and Whaling ambled home.

LETTING DOWN.

The boys are letting down a little on their hiking because of sore muscles, but will wind up the week of training up here at the ranch by making the long hike to Burro Flats Saturday morning. The bunch will start from here about 9 o'clock and Patterson expects to have them back here by 2 in the afternoon. The distance is abut ten miles over canyon and mountain trails.

The second string men will play a regular game with a local team Saturday afternoon and will not be asked to make the long hike with the regulars. There will be no regular workout Saturday and the squad will leave for Los Angeles on the 9:30 train Sunday morning. The score:

O'XY BASEBALL STARS LOSE ONE MORE GAME.

History repeated itself yesterday afternoon when the Occidental College baseball team received a severe smacking from the L. A. High nine. The repetition is not so much in L. A. winning as it is in Oxy losing. The Tigers have developed quite a losing streak lately and throw away the pastimes with consistent regularity. The score yesterday was a little worse than usual, but not much—8 to 1.

Montijo failed to heave for the Tigers as he is sick in bed with a bum orb which he got a couple of days ago when somebody let loose of a bat. The crack pitcher was replaced by a second string hopeful who lost the struggle just as niftily as the regular help could have done it.

According to all reports the 8-to-1 score tells the full and complete story of the game.

H. LAMPORT CINCHES BIG TROPHY CUP.

Harry Lamport, star hurdler and captain of the Manual Arts track team, has already cinched the large trophy cup given every year to the highest point winner on the Manual track team by Mr. Beswick of the artisan faculty.

Up to the present Harry Lamport has pulled down a total of 60¾ points, which is an excellent average for the five strenuous meets in which the Manual team has taken part. Warren Lamport is in second place in points won and is far behind with 28 5-8 digits. The only other man with over 20 points are Martin Rolle with 27 and Harold Cook with 24.

THOSE VILLE BOYS.

The Ville baseball nine will journey to Sierra Madre on next Sunday to battle with the Sierra team. A fast game is expected as both teams are going good.

...NKSHIP'S TEAM ...KES THE O'CONNORS.

SAN JOSE, March 16.—The O'Connors and Blankenship's nine clashed today, O'Connor's team losing, 5 to 3. In the last inning Munsell in the box, with three men ahead of him, smashed out a home run, winning the game. Blankenship did good work for the picked team, and says the Long one is just as fast as the two were the batsmen for Washington Americans. Mulligan, catcher obtained from Los Angeles, looks good, and will stand on as one of the regular members.

The Texas League southpaw left last night, and was out of condition today.

Ed Eldred, infielders, the left-handed twirler of Santa Rosa, are showing great form and Manager Dunn considers them real prospects.

Outfielder, tore a ligament in his knee while turning first base in a game, and the injury may keep him for the season.

Reed, pitcher, has been released, too slow and not enough.

WOLVERTON WONDERS ABOUT EXTRA TALENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN JOSE, March 16.—Already is Harry Wolverton debating with himself as to what he will do with some of his promising youngsters, particularly the catchers, Harwood and O'Brien.

Two Northwestern League clubs would like to be rated a "farm" for San Francisco, and Wolverton hopes to ship some of the excess talent into the Northland.

Machold and Dutch Rock will probably fight it out to be retained permanently as a member of the pitching crew. Machold's performance in the opening contest is still being discussed here, and even Wolverton admits Machold is some pumpkins for a new man.

Dutch Rock did some pitching to the batters today and showed a deceptive side-arm fling that caused the talent to sit up and take notice. Reinforced by the pitching of Baum, Fanning and Couch, the Yannigans went back at the regulars today and lost by a score of 4 to 1.

OAKS SHARPEN CLAWS FOR INITIAL BATTLE.

BOYES SPRINGS, March 16.—"Roxy" Middleton, latest arrival in camp, was out for his first practice today, and he looked rather good to the baseball sharps gathered here.

Though Middleton was late in reporting, he worked all winter on his farm near Flat Rock, Ill., and is in fine shape.

The Oaks are on edge for their first practice game, which will be played here against the Maxwell Hardware Company Saturday.

Sunday Oakland will oppose Vallejo.

All the pitchers will get a chance to work in the first two practice games. Klawitter, Boyd and Prough will be worked three innings each Saturday. "Speed" Martin, the Oakland recruit, will be sent to the firing line Sunday. Pruiett and Klein will also be used in the Sunday combat.

The regular infield, Barry, Kenworthy, Davis and Barbeau will line up in the first practice game, and Gardner, Randall or Middleton and Garden will appear in the outfield for the Oaks.

BEAVER SQUAD IS STILL DEPLETED.

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Cullen, Guisto and Clark loom up as the most promising of the small army of recruits trying out with the Portland Beavers.

Jimmy Clark, erstwhile Vancouver pitcher, and Cullen, a young outfielder, are already in camp, and Guisto will be here tomorrow playing first base for St. Mary's College. The collegians will tackle the Beavers tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Today's dual workout developed that McCredie hopes to transform Lyle Bigbee, his University of Oregon pitching phenom, into an outfielder. Bigbee has surely been swatting the ball during batting practice. He knocked two balls over the right field fence today during batting practice.

None of the Beaver absentees reported for work today and the bunch on hand sailed through the usual preliminaries—batting, bunting, fielding and a run around the park.

SPOTLIGHT SPARKLES.

ROADHURST IS PLAY-BUILDING AT CORONADO.

By Grace Kingsley.

George Broadhurst is at Coronado Beach, working on a dramatization of Maximillian Foster's "Rich Man, Poor Man." The play will be produced in New York with a notable cast. Negotiations are under way to secure Olive Tell as leading woman. Brandon Hurst, the very excellent actor appearing at the Orpheum this week in "The Girl," has been engaged for one of the leading male roles, that of a dominating man of the world.

Hello, Tom.

Tom Wise, the well-known actor, has been secured by Manager Oliver Morosco for a season at the Morosco Theater. Wise has been one of the biggest drawing cards in New York for years, and is a member of an old and distinguished a stage family as John Drew. He is perhaps best known for his characterization in "A Gentleman from Mississippi."

"The Song of Songs," a play in which Mr. Wise distinguished himself in New York last season, has been secured also for production in Los Angeles.

Good for Gracie.

"The Third Party," a comedy, is shortly to be presented at the Morosco, with Grace Travers in the leading role. Miss Travers's part will give her some excellent (and deserved) opportunities for real acting.

Ida's Backfire.

These innocent little ingenues are hard to beat. Elmer Harris said to Ida St. Leon the other day: "You're English, aren't you?"

"Oh, yes," answered Ida.

"I could tell by your complexion," said Mr. Harris.

"Oh, I'm English, but my complexion's French," responded Ida.

Gracie's Props.

Grace Travers will have the role of an East Side Italian girl in "A Romance of the Underworld." She will wear a pair of earrings her distinguished author-aunt, Mrs. Egan, brought her from Naples. They formerly belonged to the wife of a soldier who perished in the present war.

What's the Use?

Speaking of Italians, Director Lloyd of the Morosco Photoplay Company persuaded a waiter from that country working in a restaurant where he (Mr. Lloyd) sometimes dines to go and see George Beban, at Tally's Broadway, in "The Pawn of Fate."

"How mucha money he get?" demanded the Italian next night as he served Lloyd. The director told him.

The Italian threw up his hands.

"That wop get all thata money?" he demanded. "Me, I no more serva the sphagetti. I go act!"

Soft for Lillian.

Lillian Elliott is delighted beyond words, she says, because she will be able again to unlace and unhook, move into a Mother Hubbard and turn herself loose in a character part in "A Romance of the Underworld" at the Morosco next week.

To Welcome Jean.

Jean Haves's friends are preparing to give him a welcome at the Majestic tonight. Haves is the author of several tons of songs and plays which have been up and down the land. He will appear in his own sketch, "The Knockers' Club," with Charlie Parrott and Billie Dale supporting him.

Sincere Knockout.

Not all the painful stuff is done at the Keystone.

Remember the scene in "Between Men," where Peters hits Hart over the head with a vase? Hart was really knocked groggy. The property men were told to make that vase of rosin. They did, with a basis of cement, and Peters, growing overenthusiastic in the fight, gave Hart a really hard knock, which cut the latter's head open and felled him to the floor.

Sings, Too.

Earl Carroll left off writing million-dollar musical comedies long enough Tuesday to address the Ad Club. Carroll admitted he knew nothing about advertising, that he never owned a press agent in his life, in short that he was as modest as a Democrat announcing his fitness for office. After which he sang a very delightful little song of his own.

Some Surprise.

Charles Murray and the Keystone cops are rehearsing daily for "Surprise Night" at the Majestic next Monday. De Wolf Hopper is all ready for his big stunt Tuesday night. He only has 5000 stories up his sleeve.

Out of the Silence.

Oliver Morosco and Elmer Harris are due back from the beach today, with "Canary Cottage" all polished up. Plenty of time will be allowed for rehearsal, as the musical comedy will not go on at the Mason until May 1.

Writes, Too.

George Beban is filming "Pasquale" for the Morosco Photoplay Company. He himself wrote the scenario, and in it he plays the part of an Italian.

Everybody's Doin' It.

Well, it's a lonely week in which somebody doesn't write a comic opera. Homer Grunn and William Hooper Howells, all undaunted by the war, the high cost of liv-ing, the fact that Messrs. Carroll and Harris write all Mr. Morosco's musical plays, and other deterrents to the production of works of art, have sat them down and written a comic opera—Mr. Howells the book and Mr. Grunn the music. They hope to get a hearing for the book before Mr. Morosco, but in case this fails, will take it to New York.

Big Ince Photoplay.

The big Thomas H. Ince feature, "He Who Returned," on which Mr. Ince has been working for the past ten months, is completed and has been turned over to Victor L. Schertzinger, who henceforth will devote his time exclusively to the arrangement of incidental music preparatory to the first public showing of the film.

"He Who Returned" is one of the most ambitious films ever undertaken by Mr. Ince. It has peace propaganda as its subject.

Lillian as a Russian.

Lillian Gish yesterday for the last time donned her Russian costume and played in the concluding scenes of "Sold for Marriage," an intense drama which the Fine Arts studio is filming.

The character Miss Gish portrays is the familiar exotic girl that we find in the novels of Tolstoy, Turgeniieff, Gorky and others.

The Fine Arts staff is at work on the new play for Miss Gish, which will very likely be directed by Allan Dwan.

Busy Hogaboom.

Winfield Hogaboom, former publicity manager for the San Diego exposition, and author of "The Argonauts," just finished by the Monrovia Feature Film Company, has written another film play entitled "The Daughter of the Don," which the company will set about producing at once. The photoplay is said to deal with a phase of early California history as yet almost overlooked.

BOB FISHER ALL SIGNED.

Bob Fisher, the new Angel shortstop blew in from Chicago yesterday roaring like a lion and blew out to Lake Elsinore today as docile and tame as a lamb.

Fisher came to town with a chip on his shoulder. He did not like the terms that Frank Chance had offered him and said that he would not sign a contract until he got what he demanded.

Johnny Powers called the player into his office and the door was closed. A half hour later Fisher emerged smoking one of Powers's cigars and announced that he would leave in the morning for Lake Elsinore. A signed contract was bulging from his inside pocket.

Dorothy de Mendoza,

Who comes to the Mason next week in "Freckles," and (above) Bessie Clayton, who has been achieving a sensational success with her dances at the Orpheum. She will close her engagement Sunday night.

SWIMMING RACE WILL GO OVER.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—The fifty-yard swimming race for girls, an event of the Pacific Coast championships of the Amateur Athletic Union held here March 10 and won by Ethel Daly, an unattached swimmer, and which was protested, will be re-swum April 9, according to announcement made tonight.

Dorothy Burns of Los Angeles who was second in the protested race, will return for the retrial.

in public, but that he would not wrestle Santell under any condition at the Dreamland rink.

Demetral went to the Los Angeles Athletic Club yesterday afternoon and tried to induce George Towle to get a match with Santell at the club.

DON'T BLAME HIM.

"I don't blame Gotch for not going to San Francisco. All they have to know is that a wrestler was in Los Angeles and it is 'good night' for him."

Demetral will leave today for Butte, where he is to wrestle Joe Stecher. The Greek would have much sooner met Stecher in this city than in Butte. The altitude affects him and the water tastes like oil. After being there a day, Demetral says he begins to feel loggy and pepless and pants like a dog after fifteen minutes' workout.

"I cannot wrestle there more than an hour without feeling very weak."

CONFIDENT.

Demetral is confident that Stecher will not be able to get the scissor hold on him. He points with pride to the fact that Gotch could not use the famous hold. The Greek is small around the waist and can span it with his hands. Even if Stecher gets the hold it will not punish Demetral like it did rotund Mr. Cutler.

The Greek's greatest worry is the high altitude. He is going to try to get away from that by not arriving in Butte until just the day before the bout. He hopes that the thin air will not affect him in that short a time.

OREGON FRESHMEN SHOULD WIN MEET.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE (Corvallis, Or.) March 16.—The annual interclass track and field meet at the Oregon Agricultural College is scheduled for Saturday, which will be a good preliminary to far western meet and will show up the Aggies' talent to a T.

Track aspirants, representative of all four classes, have been out regularly for the past week getting into condition for the pre-season classic. The freshmen are doped, by everyone familiar with the situation, to walk away with the meet hands down.

Sutharland, junior, is slated to win the pole vault. Foster, senior, should give Chesy keen competition for first honors in the shot put.

JIMMY SMITH IS TO LEAD CLIFFMEN.

Jimmy Smith will be the next football captain at L. A. High. A sealed vote was taken several months ago but the school authorities would not consent to a counting until fraternities were wholly abolished. Yesterday the votes were taken out of the school safe and added up. Smith received 8, to 4 for Woods.

Smith played right tackle last year and was considered one of the best prep tackles in the south. He is also a track man of no little ability, often pressing Joe Isenberg for first honors in the javelin throw.

ANOTHER PREP COURT ENCOUNTER.

Hollywood and L. A. High will cross racquets in a dual tennis tourney on the Cliffdwellers' courts tomorrow morning. Dark horses have appeared in the ranks of both institutions and undoubtedly there will be much class displayed.

A feature of the morning will be the faculty play. Messrs. Montgomery, Noble and Smith of the Hilltop teachers are out to maintain their record of no defeats.

CLASSY BOXERS TO INVADE AUSTRALIA.

CHICAGO, March 16.—Four high-class boxers left Chicago yesterday bound for San Francisco and Australia. These gents will tackle all comers on their trip, and expect to engage in numerous battles over on the other side. Harry Stone, lightweight; Buck Crouse, middleweight; Eddie Moha and Alexander Coster, lightweights, make up the aggregation.

Surprises Strong.

defeat of the Coast champion, E. S. Armstrong, by Jack Jevne of Los Angeles by no less than 5 up and 3. I think this is the first time Jevne has ever defeated Armstrong, so if there was the merest soupcon of a hint of a swagger in the Jevne deportment who shall chide him? True, Armstrong was not exactly on his game, but for all we know he was merely cowed by the exuberant dominating air of conquest about his old-time opponent, who obviously felt that at last his hour had come. At all events when Jevne met Gregory Palmer in the second round it was a mere matter of "Jevne 5 up and 4" for the records.

W. K. Jewett had two stiff matches and is playing as in the days of his former triumphs when he held many golf laurels to his credit. He beat George Cline in the first round, 1 up, and then defeated Laurence Cowing, who is playing very much on his game just now, at the nineteenth hole.

EASY WORK.

Jack Neville won both his matches with large margins, Keeney of Santa Barbara, 7 and 6 (that settles an old account when Keeney beat Neville on the Santa Barbara course a year ago,) and H. B. Ingalls, 6 and 5.

Nate Mears, playing a good steady game, beat Clyde Graves, 2 and 1, and W. D. Cameron of Annandale, 2 and 1. Cameron put S. G. Graham, the crack eastern player, out in the first round, 2 and 1.

Robert Hunter defeated A. C. Volk 5 and 4, and Bill Bacon (alas, poor Bill) 7 and 6, in the second round. Bill is seriously contemplating a future devoted entirely and exclusively to mules. He had a brief interval of restored faith and hope when he beat Jack Niven 1 up in the first round, but fate was merely saving him for a more stylish conqueror.

Harold Lamb beat Raymond Hornby, 6 and 3, and E. H. Seaver, 1 up.

FIRST FLIGHT.

Today's first flight matches are between Neville and Shafer, Mears and Jevne, Lamb and Jewett, and Hunter and Ralphs.

No one had the disdain to default in the first flight of the beaten sixteen—and eight gentlemen at least feel decidedly better.

Ed Tufts, who had been put out by H. B. Ingalls in the first flight, met A. H. Keeney with a look of grim purpose. Keeney had an air of wanting to giggle, but he didn't dare. Tufts waited till the twenty-first hole to permit himself a smile, for at last his grim determination was accomplished.

GLORIFIED.

S. G. Graham restored his self-respect by beating Clyde Graves 5 and 4, and Armstrong took it out on "Pink" Smith, who was sufficiently glorified to find himself in the first flight, anyway. Raymond Hornby slew Dr. Sellery, but left no wound, for the doctor was amply rewarded with first-flight qualification, and carrying Hornby to the nineteenth hole.

Bill Campbell soothed his feelings by licking Canby 1 up, and Conde Jones tried to take some of that "demon golfer" reputation out on George Cline, beating him 2 and 1.

The Rev. C. T. Murphy is king of the outlaws. He won the cup, eighteen-hole medal play handicap, with a net 70 on 14 handicap. Thus Oireland is vindicated on St. Patrick's eve, even if McLaughlin was beaten by a dark horse.

J. V. Eliot had the next best score with 78-6-72. R. M. Pearson was third with 92-19-73; A. W. Bumiller, 81-8-73; H. L. Billson, 84-10-74, and Dr. Damron, 99-24-75, all coming within the honorable mention class.

THE RESULTS.

First flight: Neville beat Keeney 7 and 6; Ingalls beat Tufts, 5 and 4; Phillips beat Bowman, 5 and 4; Shafer beat Macdonald, 3 and 1; Cameron beat Graham, 2 and 1; Mears beat Graves, 2 and 1; Palmer beat Smith, 4 and 2; Jevne beat Armstrong, 5 and 3; Lamb beat Hornby, 4 and 3; Seaver beat Sellery, 4 and 3; Jewett beat Cline, 1 up; Cowing beat Jones, 5 and 4; Bacon beat Niven, 1 up; Hunter beat Volk, 5 and 4; Ralphs beat Canby, 5 and 3; McLaughlin beat Campbell, 1 up in 19; Neville beat Ingalls, 6 and 5; Shafer beat Phillips, 1 up in 20; Mears beat Cameron, 3 and 1; Jevne beat Palmer, 5 and 4; Lamb beat Seaver, 1 up; Jewett beat Cowing, 1 in 19; Hunter beat Bacon, 7 and 6; Ralphs beat McLaughlin, 2 up.

First beaten sixteen. Tufts beat Keeney, 1 up in 21; Macdonald, beat Bowman, 2 and 1; Graham beat Graves, 5 and 4; Armstrong beat Smith, 4 and 3; Hornby beat Sellery, 1 up in 19; Jones beat Cline, 2 and 1; Niven beat Volk, 1 up; Campbell beat Canby, 1 up.

Second flight. Merrill beat Knappe, 4 and 3; Frinck beat Davis, 4 and 3; Green beat Brown, 1 up; Guyer beat Cravens, 2 and 1; Shirley beat Collins, 3 and 1; Robinson beat Warner, 3 and 2; J. C. Smith beat A. D. Jones, 2 and 1; J. M. Hixon beat F. P. Hixon, 1 up.

Third flight. Tod beat Bixby, 2 and 1; Hudson beat Orr, 2 and 1; Thayer beat Jergins, 6 and 4; Stewart beat Macdonald, 3 and 2; Gamble beat Thurston, 3 and 2; Forsman beat Paul Wold, 2 and 1; Newby beat Urmston, 3 and 1; E. A. Sumner beat I. J. Sample, 2 up.

Fourth flight. See beat Furst, 3 and 1; Stowell beat Condon, 2 and 1; Wilcox beat A. C. Twist, 1 up; Reis beat Day, 1 up; Parkinson won by default; Col. French beat F. F. Carpenter, 5 and 4; Magee beat Wallace, 1 up; Lindsley beat S. S. Wold, 4 and 3.

Fifth flight. Copell beat A. M. Strong, 2 and 1; Dawson beat J. H. Harrison, 7 and 6; Walker beat Clark, 1 up in 19. Other matches won by default.

First round matches in all the beaten eights of the second, third, fourth and fifth flights will be played today.

GIRLS WILL HAVE TENNIS TEAM ALSO.

The Los Angeles Junior College has decided to put a girls' tennis team in the field and an elimination tourney will begin today. Those who have signed up to compete for places are Beulah Collings, Ida Truman, Ethel Junkins, Florence Bridge and M. Hopkins.

YALE CAPTAIN HAS RESIGNED.

NEW HAVEN (Conn.) March 16.—Arthur M. Milburn today resigned the captaincy of the Yale 'varsity baseball team and Roland V. Vaughn of Haverhill, Mass., was elected to succeed him. Milburn was chosen captain last June, but with four other players recently was declared ineligible for violating the summer baseball rule.

Vaughn is an outfielder and a former Andover star.

It was the Mexican trouble which set Mr. Townsend to thinking along these lines and caused him to branch out and add a side line of recruiting to his main business of making harness and policing the city. He does not anticipate an invasion because the only way the Mexicans could attack the city from the south would be to bring their submarines overland from Mexico and launch them on the other side of the lake. This will be so difficult to do that it is felt that no coast defense will be necessary on this side of the lake.

Mr. Townsend feels that all the city needs to do is to protect itself against the cholces who do section work on the railroad to the north. These are all armed with picks and shovels and he wants to provide against a possible uprising. He is to be commended for his foresight.

THE NEW FARM.

Chance stated yesterday that the Peoria club may be used as a farm for the Los Angeles club, the deal for the purchase of the Houston franchise not yet having materialized. It seems a pity to be compelled to send a player that far away from California, but it must be done because even as large as this State is it can not possibly make room for all the ball players now on the Los Angeles club. Chance says that the Chicago club, which is sending so many athletes here, either owns or will own the Peoria club. In a way it will be a three-club alliance. For all that we know both Powers and Chance are financially interested in the purchase of the Peoria property.

The noon train has been arriving ahead of time. It is supposed to put into port here at 12:30, but has been showing up as early as 12:30. It seems that the railway officials in making out the schedule did not figure that it is down hill here all the way from Perris. This makes the train run faster and accounts for its early arrival. Either the grade must be reduced or the schedule changed in order to remedy this defect.

In today's game Ryan's club used Ryan himself and Ware in the box. Scoggins and Smith pitched for the Koernarites. Ralp Works officiated at first base for the Ryanites and showed to good advantage. Twice he took ground balls and forced runners at second and third.

DETAILS.

The Ryanites scored one in the second on a single by Works and a triple by Bassler and another in the third on a triple by Rapp and Groshling's sacrifice fly.

Koerner's bunch tied it in the fifth on Smith's single, an error by Attorney Works, a force out and singles by Galloway and Larson. A great running catch by Ellis of Thompson's fly finally retired the side. The score:

Wilson solar observatory, the final work of mounting the immense cement pier in the great steel dome on Mt. Wilson, has commenced equally as long in building, has begun.

If the weather permits the giant tube, which forms the tube of the telescope, will be hauled up the mountain in a few days. The largest automobile truck obtainable will be used for the purpose. The tube, which will be taken up the mountain in four sections, is forty-five feet long and [illegible] feet in diameter. It was too large to be hauled by train so when it arrived in Pasadena a month ago it was shipped from Massachusetts on a steamer, coming around Cape Horn to San Pedro.

IRRIGATION BONDS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, March 16.—At the conclusion of the meeting of the directors of the Terra Bella irrigation district the officials were authorized to start circulation of a petition calling for a bond election to pass on the proposal for an issue of $1,250,000 in securities for the irrigation of 15,000 acres of citrus lands in the Deer Creek district. This action was taken after several small parcels of land had been excluded on the declaration that water had already been developed and they were therefore exempt.

NOTE CONFESSES FUND SHORTAGE.

Attorney Gone; Leaves Indebtness Through Speculation.

Promises to Repay if He Lives to Earn the Money.

Policeman Shot by Mexican, Who Makes Escape.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, March 16.—A written confession left in his desk before he disappeared from this city, bearing out the belief of the authorities that, he was guilty of embezzlement of nearly $30,000, was found today in the office of Lester D. Welch, attorney, who is being sought throughout the State as a fugitive from justice. Welch was a candidate for the Senate in the last State election.

Welch's desk was broken open by the police today and a message with the words, "My last note, L. D. Welch," on the envelope, was found. Following a paragraph in which he said that speculation had caused his ruin, and that he had used his clients' money, the note read:

"I did so expecting to pay it back, but the crash caught me. I am sorry, God knows, for my wife and baby. I have done my best and failed. I hope God will protect and care for them. I will pay back every dollar if I live."

Welch, it is estimated, is short about $30,000 in his accounts. Mrs. Henrietta S. Huff of San Jose, Cal., who said she had placed about $15,000 in Welch's keeping for the making of loans, swore to a complaint last week charging felony embezzlement, when she said Welch failed to make a settlement. The attorney has been missing for a week.

POLICEMAN SHOT.

Patrolman W. A. Weymouth was about 3:50 o'clock fatally injured about 3:50 o'clock this morning by a Mexican believed to be Braulio Galindo, whom the officer had ordered to halt. The shooting occurred in the lower section of the city and the identity of the Mexican is believed to have been learned through his losing his hat in his flight from the scene.

Despite the vigilance of the police, Galindo in some manner made his escape from the lumber yard and all trace of him has now been lost. A thorough search of the Mexican quarter of the city is being made, and all roads to the border carefully watched.

Weymouth was taken to a hospital where it was learned that he had been shot through the stomach. No hope for his recovery is held out by the physicians. Galindo, the Mexican who is supposed to have done the shooting, was released from San Quentin Penitentiary January 13, after serving a term of four years for burglary in Ventura.

FAILS TO APPEAR.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, March 16.—Attorney Rusk P. Mossholder, the well-known young lawyer who is charged with smuggling opium over the border at Tia Juana, did not appear in court this morning when his case was called before Judge Edward R. Cushman, of the Federal Court in session in this city. Mossholder's attorney, Louis Kirby, asked that the case be postponed until the court's next term in Los Angeles, and the request was granted.

Kirby stated out of court that he did not know of his client's whereabouts, but that he would appear when his case was tried. It is stated by many that Mossholder has gone to Mexico, but this is denied by his family. A warrant has also been issued by the Sheriff's office for Mossholder on a charge of complicity in the robbery of Mrs. Elizabeth Rae, on the Coronado Strand.

The last warrant was issued following a confession of C. A. Layman, in which he said that he and Al Waugh, now in the penitentiary, and Mossholder were in the conspiracy to rob Mrs. Rae, with whom Mossholder was driving at the time.

GAS CONCENTRATION.

Thirteen Towns to do Business Through Pomona with Southern Counties Gas Company—Offices Being Fitted up to House Big Force.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, March 16.—On the first day of May the Southern Counties Gas Company, which recently acquired the gas business of this city from the Southern California Edison Company, will open up at this place a general office, through which the gas business of the Southern Counties Gas Company properties in thirteen cities will be managed.

The gas systems of Pomona, Lordsburg, San Dimas, Claremont, Chino, Monrovia, Sierra Madre, Arcadia, El Monte, Covina, Azusa, Glendora and South Santa Anita will center here in headquarters which will be established in the store building of the Pomona Implement Company, at the northwest corner of Third and Garey avenues.

Business will be directed from that point by F. H. Bivens who is superintendent of the northern division of the company, embracing the thirteen towns mentioned. He will be assisted by J. R. Jones, who will be in charge of the office. All extensions and reconstructions will be carried on in the district from this city. During the next few months the local gas plant, which was acquired from the Edison company, will be enlarged and developed in efficiency so that it can generate enough gas to supply Covina, Azusa and Glendora, in addition to Pomona, Lordsburg, San Dimas, Claremont and Chino.

The main office of the company, according to Mr. Bivens, will be as fine as money can make it. The company has taken a long lease on the south east corner of the big implement building, which houses the Pacific Electric passenger ticket office and is directly across the street from the new $65,000 Avis Hotel, which was opened the 1st of January. It is estimated that 2000 local persons a month will visit the gas office to pay their bills.

Monday morning a gang of carpenters will begin tearing out the side of the implement building for the purpose of constructing a corner entrance and making two nice show windows for the company to use in displaying gas fixtures. Hardwood floors will be laid and magnificent office fixtures will be installed. The gas company will use the basement for storage purposes.

HYDROMOTOR TO CUT CAPERS IN THE SEA.

VENICE, March 16.—Sunday will be hydromotor day, when the initial water demonstration will begin at Venice. The hydromotor was one of the features of the recent San Francisco exposition. It is a combination of power boat and automobile. It runs just as well in the water as it does upon the land. Its maximum speed on land is sixty miles an hour, while in the water it can do eighteen knots. It is made entirely of aluminum and looks like an armored cruiser.

The hydromotor will give its exhibition from the end of the Windward-avenue pier, where the huge derrick will deposit the car in the water. In it will be the operator and several bathing girls. The machine will travel directly out to sea, then will return and do several stunts in the water.

More than 200 bathing girls are to hold Sunday the annual spring water contests for the loving cups offered as prizes for the occasion.

CITY'S PERCENTAGE.

Santa Monica Attorney's Opinion Involves Revenue of Pleasure Piers. Efforts to Recover Body of Drowned Man Prove Failures.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, March 16.—In a legal opinion addressed to the City Council this morning the City Attorney sets forth as his opinion that the city, after five years' usage, may collect 2 per cent. of the gross earnings of amusement piers within the city.

The opinion came as the result of a request for a franchise for an amusement pier here presented by Charles I. D. Looff, who is erecting a large pier near the municipal pier.

According to the opinion the city may collect 2 per cent. of the gross profits of the piers for the remaining period of a twenty-year franchise, except the first five years.

NEWS NOTES.

With a half-mile of line and 1000 large hooks, Tom Venzuela was not able today to find the body of George O'Neil of No. 1809 Third street, in the surf between the Crystal and municipal piers. O'Neil was drowned Sunday.

The newly-elected directors of the Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce named officers for the year today. William Schreider, an attorney, was chosen president; Maynard Gunsul, first vice-president; Leonard Kill, second vice-president; Percy J. Dudley, treasurer, and R. W. Hadden secretary. The directors include the officers, except the treasurer and secretary, and John A. Morton, T. W. Sheffield, W. G. Lutz, W. M. Conklin, C. J. Lick and Les Henry.

Manipulation is a Feature of the Trading, Various Specialties Being Lashed into Furious Activity at Times with Standard Issues Barely Steady or Backward — Motors, Sugar, Mexicans and Steel in Forefront.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Manipulation was a more obvious feature of today's irregular market, various specialties being lashed into furious activity at times, while standard stocks were barely steady or backward. United States Steel led the erratic movements advancing a point to 87¼, its best quotation for the present period, but receding later in common with other prominent issues. Crucible Steel was second to United States Steel in point of activity but extremely feverish, losing 6 to 99½ and falling back 3, closing at 96¾. Other conspicuous features included American Can, Westinghouse, Kennecott and Inspiration Coppers, Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin Locomotive, American Smelting and Reading, all showing gains at various times, but forfeiting much or all of their advantage in the uncertain and confused dealings in the final hour. Rails in general were a negligible factor. Motors, sugars and Mexicans were in the forefront at intervals, all at substantial advances. Three new records were scored, American Zinc rising 3 to 91, South Porto Rico Sugar, 3 to 188 and Inspiration 1 to 49¾. Bethlehem Steel, after making a small loss at the opening, ended with a net advance of 11¼ at 529. Total sales of stocks amounted to 965,600 shares. There was increased weakness in exchange on Paris, which was quoted at 597 for demand, with some recovery on renewed purchases of bills. Marks showed a better tendency and sterling was firm. ## BIG JIM BREAKS ON LOCAL EXCHANGE.

SENSATIONAL MINING STOCK SLUMPS BADLY.

Other Oatmans Hold Firm, While Boundary Cone Advances—Union Oil Continues to Acquire Strength. Home Telephone Issues Active. Investment Declines.

Big Jim furnished all the thrills at yesterday's session of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, and the stock took one of the most sensational drops in the history of the local board. The first sale recorded in the morning was at 1.60, exactly 10 points below the previous day's close. From that point the stock steadily declined with each sale until a low of 1.08 was reached, when the security picked up a little strength to close at 1.09 bid, 1.10 asked. What was the reason for the sudden break is anybody's guess, as there was not a broker on the floor but had a different view of the matter. Some claimed that it was manipulation on the part of insiders to depress the stock upon the eve of striking high-grade ore, others that it was but the natural result of heavy selling orders both here and in San Francisco, still others that the company was about to become involved in litigation with the Tom Reed corporation, etc. The other Oatmans held up well considering what was happening to their leader, and as a matter of fact, Boundary Cone advanced during the meeting. For this reason, if no other, it seems as if the decline of Big Jim was an individual affair, caused in some measure no doubt by a reaction from the very high levels the stock has been selling on for the past month. Union Oil was stronger and the security advanced to 71.37½. Trading in Los Angeles Investment was heavier at slightly weaker prices and both the preferred and common stocks of the Home Telephone Common were active at unaltered quotations.

It is reported that the delinquent interest on both bond issues of the San Diego Home Telephone Company were paid last Wednesday. The corporation defaulted on its interest payments on December 15, 1915, and the company, it is predicted, will have to pass through some sort of a reorganization before it will be able to compete successfully with the Bell concern in the southern city.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

The dried fruit market continues easy. Prunes are still half a cent off in the primary market, peaches are offered at almost any price, and apples are selling very low. Two weeks ago England announced an embargo on all canned and dried fruits to the British Isles until August, 1916. This means that unless a change is made by the British government, no more 1915 pack California fruit will be sent to England, which places a rather severe handicap upon marketing last season's crop. The reasons given by England for her embargo are as follows: (1) There are not enough ships to handle all the merchandise offered for shipment from America to England, and that it is necessary therefore to curtail shipments of luxuries so that there will be plenty of steamer space for munitions and necessary war articles; (2) Every shipment of canned and dried fruit into England makes that country the debtor to the United States to that amount, and therefore affects the exchange rate between the two countries as well as weakening Great Britain's credit; (3) The British government has decided that the subjects of the Empire must economize on their food consumption, and as both canned and dried fruits are classed as luxuries, they can be dispensed with. As far as the canned fruit market is concerned, the embargo is not important, inasmuch as the crop has been pretty well cleaned up, which is not true of dried

DAMAGE TO CROPS IN MANY STATES.

HESSIAN FLY IS REPORTED IN SOUTHERN KANSAS.

Dakota and Other Sections Also Had Complaints and as a Result of Gains in More Than a Cent Wheat—Corn and Oats are Irregular, but Firm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, March 16.—Hessian fly reports to crops in Northern Kansas and today to lift the price of wheat, as no old many crop damage com- pared Nebraska and other win- ter wheat States. As a result, the market closed steady at ¼ to 1@1¼ advance, with May 1.11⅝ and July 1.03⅝. Corn finished ¼@⅝ off to ⅛@¼ cent at a shade decline to ¼ cent, and provisions varying from 5c down to a rise of 7½c. Although wheat prices at first underwent a bear slump in sympathy with lower quotations from Liverpool, the market soon rallied sharply when disquieting crop advices affecting the domestic crop outlook began to attract attention. Fresh buying by longs wiped out losses as advance in corn. Oats followed the action on corn. Active demand for grease put strength into the provision market, especially lard. Prices of pork and ribs, though unsettled at the advance, caused some- what of a reaction.

MEXICAN DOLLARS AND SIGHT DRAFTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Mexican dollars, 43½; drafts, sight, 1; do, telegraph, 3.

Cotton.

TONE OF MARKET MUCH IMPROVED.

PRICES GENERALLY HAVE TENDENCY TO ADVANCE.

Drouth in the West, Conspicuous Strength in Southern Spot Quotations and the Absence of Disturbing Political Conditions All Give Bulls the Upper Hand.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, March 16.—The tone of the cotton market was considerably improved today, and prices had a tendency to advance although the enhancement in values was light. Continued drouth in the western part of the belt, conspicuous strength in southern spot markets, and the absence of disturbing political developments, encouraged local bull support and a small amount of outside buying. As offerings were light, and the South showed no disposition to offer freely, bears became discouraged and put up little resistance to the improvement. Some think that the augmented demand for the actual is for the purpose of fulfilling March export committments, but there are not a few who think that foreigners, owing to the small supplies held abroad, are accumulating with the idea of forwarding when the shipping situation is more favorable. A dispatch from Galveston today stated that 30,000 bales of cotton was booked for shipment at a rate of 2.50 a hundred pounds, or 35 lower than the last booking. This, if true, surely shows that possibilities of securing tonnage are brighter, and may probably be the forerunner of more liberal clearances. Liverpool cables due 5 lower on May, 2½ lower on July, 4 lower on October and 7½ lower on January, came 2 better than due on May, ½ better on July, and 2½ better on October. Fair demand for spots; prices easier; sales, 8000; receipts, 23,000; American, 15,800; middlings, 7.82; futures opened easier.

FIGHT EXTRADITION IN HIGHER COURT.

MISS CLAYBURGH TO APPEAL FROM RULING.

Young Woman in Alleged Blackmail Conspiracy Returned to Jail While Attorneys Prepare to Carry up Case on a Point of Construction of a Washington Statute.

The two weeks' legal battle of Miss Isabel Clayburgh to prevent the Washington authorities taking her back to Seattle to stand trial on a charge of conspiracy to blackmail resulted in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday in the slender, dark-clothed young woman being remanded to the County Jail and a twenty-four-hour stay of execution issued, until Earl Rogers, her attorney, can perfect an appeal to the Apellate Court.

Miss Clayburgh sought to be released from jail on a writ of habeas corpus. She came into the courtroom escorted by Deputy Sheriff Blaisdell. Later John J. Sullivan, formerly assistant United States District Attorney at Seattle, sat down beside her. After the interchange of a few words Miss Clayburgh burst into tears.

Attorney Rogers raised the question that the charge of conspiracy sworn to in Seattle does not charge any particular overt act concerning the alleged blackmail to extort money from the so-called victims. No overt act being alleged in the complaint, the charge was not sufficient to warrant the California courts to turn Miss Clayburgh over to Deputy Sheriff M. E. Hally of Seattle, who was in the court-room.

It was pointed out that the published volume of the Washington sessions laws of 1909 contains an error, the word "not" being inserted in section 131 to conform to the heading of the section, which provides that no overt act is necessary in a charge of conspiracy.

Miss Clayburg's counsel construed the section to mean that it required an overt act to be proved, and if necessary to be proved, he contended it must be alleged in the complaint on file.

Deputy District Attorney Selph held that the section must be construed in connection with the heading, which provides that no overt act is necessary, and further, that the Supreme Court of Washington has had the section before it with the word "not" in parenthesis in that particular section. He argued that the Supreme Court must have known the reason for the word being in parenthesis, and in its decision it said that an overt act is not necessary to be alleged or proved.

Mr. Selph, therefore, contended that the decision of the Washington State Supreme Court should be followed by the State of California, and if there is any defect, ambiguity or error in the law, that matter should be passed on by the Washington courts, and not by the State of California.

Judge Wilbur held with Mr. Selph, and on the motion of Attorney Rogers, with whom Mr. Sullivan was associated in the case, he granted a stay of execution.

ALIENATION.
OBSERVING NEIGHBORS.

Mrs. Emma Reider, a witness called by Mrs. Bessie L. Caruthers in the trial of her $10,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Dora M. Phillips, before Judge Hewitt yesterday had her curiosity aroused by the alleged frequent visits of a woman to the Caruthers's house. She testified that she had seen this woman, now known as Mrs. Phillips, at the house fifteen or twenty times.

One night at 10:30 o'clock, she said, she heard some one tiptoeing in the Caruthers's back yard. She looked out and saw Mrs. Phillips peeking into Mr. Caruthers's bedroom window.

"I told Mrs. Caruthers it was a good thing for Mrs. Phillips it 'is you instead of me' she has to deal with, for I said I would knock her paint off. And believe me, I would do it, too," the witness added.

A girl among the spectators tittered, but undismayed Mrs. Reider continued her testimony. Other witnesses were called who testified to the great interest Mrs. Phillips's visits to Mr. Caruthers had aroused in the neighborhood.

After the plaintiff's testimony was in, the defense made a motion for a nonsuit, which the court denied. Mrs. Phillips will give her version of the affair today.

APPRECIATION.
ESTATE TO FRIEND.

His $40,000 interest in the estate of his mother and father was willed by Chris J. Hofschulte to Mrs. Harriet J. Smith. The will, drawn by Mr. Hofschulte, was executed less than a month before he died, and was filed for probate yesterday by Mrs. Smith, through Attorney Robert Young.

The latter states that Mrs. Smith was a devoted friend of the testator, almost a mother to him, in fact, and in appreciation of her care of him, a bachelor he bequeathed her his fortune. Mr. Hofschulte died last Monday.

The will briefly states that all his property and all of the money coming to him from the estate of his parents, Herman and Lena Hofschulte, is given to Mrs. Smith. The heirs are the brothers, Henry, Herman and William Hofschulte, and children of his brother, John, now dead, and the children of his deceased sister, Annie. The brothers reside at Goodhue, Minn., where the Hofschulte estate is located.

SHARE TROUBLE.
FROM SAME SOURCE.

Dr. Katherine Narance's grievance against her husband, John H. Narance, was that, she said, he neglected her and then deserted her. It developed in her divorce suit, before Judge Wood yesterday, that the main cause of her trouble was her mother-in-law. Mr. Narance, she told the court, passed a great part of his time with his mother. The latter would not allow her to come to her home.

"No one could get along with that old lady," said Anthony Kalal, who was called as a witness by Dr. Narance. "Dr. Narance's troubles with her husband were about like the troubles between me and my wife."

This testimony did not appear to the point until the court ascertained that the "old lady" was his mother-in-law as well as the mother-in-law of Dr. Narance. The case was continued until Mr. Narance could appear and give his version of the family affair.

SON'S DEBT.
IS FATHER LIABLE?

The liability of a father for the debts of his adult son came before a jury in Judge Houser's court, as a question, yesterday, in the suit of Dr. Conrad Deichmiller, dentist, against J. B. Steininger. The latter is the father of Hugh Steininger, also joined as a defendant, but not served.

The son's jaw was fractured some time ago when his motorcycle ran into the rear end of a milk wagon. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where the wound was dressed, and from there sent to another hospital. Subsequently Dr. Deichmiller got the case for dental treatment. His bill was $1050. It is claimed that the Steiningers offered to compromise the bill for $250, but this was not accepted, and Dr. Deichmiller brought suit to recover the full amount. Mr. Steininger, the elder, claims he is not liable for the bill.

IN AND OUT
ABOUT THE COURTS.

LOSES SUIT. Madeline Hedrick, a minor, who was one of the quartette riding on a motorcycle August 6, 1915, when it struck a loose rail in Fair Oaks avenue, Pasadena, and was in turn struck by a Pacific Electric train, lost her suit for damages before a jury in Judge Myers's court yesterday. The verdict was for the corporation, on the ground that it had not been negligent, and that a warning light had been placed at the excavation at that point. In this accident one of the quartette was killed.

NOW ON TRIAL. The suit of Lewis J. P. Squires, a dental instrument salesman, against the Southern Pacific, for malicious prosecution, asking $10,000 damages, was called for trial before a jury in Judge Myers's court yesterday. The incident leading up to the suit took place August 6, 1913, when Mr. Squires was arrested at Santa Barbara for disturbing the peace, put in jail, and later dismissed. The trouble grew out of his alleged refusal to pay fare demanded when he held a ticket from Santa Barbara to Los Angeles. The fare was demanded because he boarded the train above Santa Barbara, the company claims.

AWARDED DAMAGES. Harry C. Greene was awarded $956.20 damages by a jury in Judge Houser's court, yesterday, in his suit against Will F. Sepulveda, growing out of an automobile accident at Nigger Slough last year. The machines driven by the two men met at the Slough, Mr. Sepulveda coming from San Pedro, and, the testimony showed, having only one headlight burning. Mr. Greene's auto was damaged and he claimed he was injured.

STATUTORY OFFENSE. John Dalton, accused of a statutory offense against Norman Bolton, an 8-year-old son of a neighbor, was brought before Judge Craig yesterday afternoon for trial. The alleged offense is said to have been committed on July 10, 1915. Practically the whole afternoon was passed in the impanneling of a jury, and the case continued until today.

FORFEITS BIG BAIL.

J. K. Tennant Fails to Appear to Answer Mail Fraud Charge and Judge Trippet Declares Ten Thousand Dollar Bond Forfeited.

J. K. Tennant, charged with Harry Z. Adams and C. Loagnecker, with using the mails in a scheme to defraud, in connection with the operations of the Western Underwriting and Mortgage Company, did not appear for trial under the indictment, in United States District Judge Trippet's court at San Diego, and the bond of $10,000 was declared forfeited. Judge Trippet fixed the new bond at $20,000. The trial of the case against the three defendants was then set for September, on a date yet to be determined.

After Tennant was released from the County Jail after furnishing the $10,000 bond, it is alleged that he secured funds on bogus drafts at Denver, El Paso, and other points. He is supposed to be somewhere in South America. Notice will be sent at once to the local bondsmen to make good the undertaking in the sum of $10,000, and there are likely to be some interesting developments.

BANKRUPTCY MATTERS.

Lillian M. D. Byington, a housewife of this city, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. She gives her liabilities as $7253.66, and her assets as $200, which is the value of her household goods. Most of her creditors are San Francisco business houses.

DESPAIRING WOMAN NOW HAPPY MOTHER

Mrs. Stephens Did Not Need The Surgical Operation.

Patoka, Ill.—"I had been married five years and my greatest desire was to become a mother. The doctor said I never would have a child unless I was operated on for female troubles and I had given up all hopes when a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly for sometime, and I am in better health than ever, and have a healthy baby girl. I praise your Vegetable Compound for my baby and my better health. I want all suffering women to know that it is the sure road to health and happiness."—Mrs. GEORGE STEPHENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Patoka, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

CITY'S FINANCES IN A NUTSHELL.

COMPARISON WITH THOSE OF OTHERS FAVORABLE.

Los Angeles Spends More on Education and on Interest Charges, but the Per Capita Expense for Most Other Departments is Much Lower.

Where the city's revenues come from and where they go is shown so that he who runs may read in a graphic statement of the main facts regarding the finances of Los Angeles issued yesterday by the Efficiency Commission.

In the illustration of the sources of municipal revenue it is shown that general taxes provide 69.9 per cent. and licenses, 11.9 per cent., while in the table of expenditures, salaries and wages at $3,450,894 make up 39.9 per cent. of the city's expenditures and redemption of debt at $2,956,095 make up 34.2 per cent. of the total.

For purposes of comparison the commission takes the average expenditures of the nine cities ranging from 300,000 to 500,000 population. These are: Buffalo, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Newark, New Orleans, Washington and Minneapolis, and the per capita expenses are compared with those of Los Angeles. In public service enterprises and highways, Los Angeles spends about the average of these cities, while this city spends $9 per capita on education while the average of the cities is only $5.75. The per capita cost for police and fire protection in Los Angeles is about $3.50 as compared with the average of $4.50 per capita for the cities used for comparison. The interest expense of this city is almost $4 per capita while the average of nine cities is one dollar a year lower. The per capita revenue from general property taxes in Los Angeles is $23.09 and among the eighteen cities of the United States above 300,000 in population, Los Angeles ranks fifteenth, with San Francisco, New York and Boston higher. In the matter of per capita expenditures from special assessments of California cities of over 8000 population, the illustration shows that Los Angeles spent in 1913 $9.93 per capita, this figure being exceeded by Bakersfield, Long Beach and Fresno and almost equaled by San Diego and Pasadena, with Oakland following closely at $8 per capita.

The expenses of the city of Los Angeles per capita are 40.4 per cent. of the total outlay as compared with an average expense of 64 per cent. for all cities of 300,000 to 500,000 population in the country.

PUBLIC SERVICE.
OFFICIALS HEAR REPORTS.

Discussion of the affairs of the Public Service Department was the feature of the programme yesterday at the monthly luncheon for city officials and heads of departments. President Betkouski of the Council and chairman of the Public Service Committee called on President Del Valle of the commission for an outline of the work of the Water Department and on Chief Engineer Scattergood of the Power Bureau for a report on progress on the municipal electric plant. Mayor Sebastian was unable to attend but practically all departments and commissions were represented excepting the Board of Public Works.

Mr. Del Valle said it is the purpose of the Public Service Commission to give to Los Angeles the cheapest water and electricity enjoyed by any city in the United States, but to do this, he said, the Public Service Commission must have co-operative support from every other city department. Mr. Del Valle deplored the lack of decent offices for any city department and urged the necessity for a new City Hall.

Mr. Scattergood said that with the funds at its command the Power Bureau is in a position to construct lines that will supply 60 per cent. of the power consumed in Los Angeles today. In answer to a question as to when the city plant will begin business, Mr. Scattergood said that the question of procuring certain rights of way is the main issue, so far as time is concerned, but, if there are no unforseen delays, he believes the city will be supplying electricity in the northeast districts by September 1.

Councilman Langdon was named by President Betkouski as chairman of the next meeting.

CHEAPER WATER.
OPENING GUN IS FIRED.

The opening gun in what he declares will be a determined fight for lower water rates was fired by Councilman Wright yesterday when he filed with the Council an analysis of the Public Service Commission's earnings during the last year. This analysis shows that the department's income from water for the year was slightly over $2,500,000, while disbursements for extensions and improvements were $700,000 and depreciation about $300,000. This, Mr. Wright said, would permit a reduction from 7 cents a hundred cubic feet to 2½ cents for industrial purposes, and still leave the water department $1,000,000 a year profits.

Councilman Wright called attention to the refusal of the public service department to present a budget of its expenditures, and he said he will demand that this budget be presented to the Council and will also insist that the Public Service Commission turn over to the city its surplus earnings each year.

EVIDENCE DESTROYED.
UTILITIES BOARD RULING.

Because the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation destroyed all the evidence in its case against the J. W. Robinson Company, the Public Utilities Board ruled yesterday that it cannot collect a bill of about $1000 for electricity which the utility company claims it furnished the department store by mistake. The testimony before the Utilities Board was to the effect that the meter at the store was so arranged when installed that it registeerd only one-half of the current used. This was discovered by the utility company and the wires were changed, and then the Utilities Board was asked to test the meter. Then the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Company presented a bill for $1000 back charges. The Utilities Board said that the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation should have opened its case before the wires were changed, so that a proper investigation could have been made at the time.

FOR OPEN CUT.
ESTIMATES ARE HIGH.

The letter sent by J. A. Hill, contractor, to the City Council, stating that the excavation work for the Bunker Hill open cut can be done for less than 20 cents a cubic yard, was referred to the Public Works Committee of the Council yesterday. Councilman Topham, referring to the letter, said that he was not surprised to learn that the work can be done at that price. "In making his estimate at 35 cents a cubic yard the City Engineer has, I believe, figured an ample margin of safety," said Mr. Topham. "If the work can be done for 20 cents or less, it will reduce the cost way below the estimates on which the tentative assessments are based."

For Preparedness.

By an ordinance adopted by unanimous vote of the Council yesterday Chief Snively was authorized to appoint as many special policemen as he deems necessary. The ordinance was introduced by Chairman Brain of the Public Safety Committee, who said that it will enable the Chief to build up a reserve list for emergency call in case of riots or disturbances and will also allow the delegation of police powers to the special guards that may be engaged to protect industrial plants. None of the special police authorized will receive pay from the city.

In Health Service.

The Council passed an ordinance yesterday providing two more assistant health commissioners at $75 a month each. The physicians will give half-time to the city, serving at the tuberculosis free clinic. The ordinance providing for an investigator for the Civil Service Commission at $100 a month was laid over for one week on objections from Councilmen Topham and Wright.

Public Hearing Ordered.

The Police Commission was ordered by the Council yesterday to hold a public hearing on the charges of undue violence against Patrolman Broady, who is accused of using his fists or something more effective in arresting Mrs. Nora Palmer, a negress. The Police Commission reported that the Chief has dismissed the charges after an investigation.

McCowan Censured.

for the girl and was then to escape a prison sentence, if it were within the power of McCowan so to procure such a result for him. We can find no words of approval for the action of any District Attorney exercised in the direction of settling felony cases out of court. The duty of every prosecuting officer is, where sufficient evidence is obtainable to warrant a well-founded belief in his mind that the person accused is guilty, to present such evidence to a court or jury and not use his position and power in negotiating with the defendant for an adjustment of damages to the prosecutrix in consideration of promised favorable action. The latter remedy belongs to the civil side of the tribunal and one altogether outside the cognizance of a district attorney. The prosecuting officer here accused acted with an entire and complete misconception of what his official duty required of him in attempting to "trade" with the defendant in a criminal case.

However, we have stated that we think his action was not that described by the prosecuting witnesses, to-wit: designed to secure money for his own use, and so acquit him of such criminal intent. Neither can it be concluded that any action of his taken before the grand jury was of influence in determining a report to be made other than as it was intended by the jury that report should be.

"HIGHLY IMPROPER."

We regret, however, that we are compelled to characterize the acts of the accused before the grand jury as highly improper. The common ethics of the profession would, we think, suggest to the average lawyer that the District Attorney should have refrained from appearing before the grand jury while the matter of his own alleged misconduct was under investigation. With our understanding of the law we would deny that he had any right to be present at the sessions of the grand jury, either in person or by deputy, while charges against him of a criminal nature were under investigation. The law, it is true, does permit the District Attorney to be present where criminal matters are being investigated, but that provision, we can readily see, is for the purpose of enabling the District Attorney to present his evidence against the accused whose indictment is sought or is being considered. It would hardly be supposed that the District Attorney would prosecute himself, and that the provision of law which we have referred to is wholly inapplicable, must suggest itself most convincingly. The statement made by respondent before the grand jury that one of their number had been indicted for some crime, where the juror referred to had been acquitted, was a thing which savored not of fair practice. In his references to the judge of the Superior Court, the accused, without justification so far as appears, used language harsh in the extreme, for which, to say the least, he is deserving of most severe criticism and reprimand. It appears that these statements were made, however, after all action had been taken in the McCutchen and McCowan matters by the grand jury and Judge Farmer. The respondent seems to have been obsessed with the idea that he was being combatted on every pretext by the court and practically the entire bar of Kern county, and in this attitude of mind was inclined to characterize the opposition in terms implying a want of any honesty on the part of those against whom he was arrayed.

The judge of the Superior Court would have been remiss in his duty, where such a serious charge as that preferred against the District Attorney was brought to his ears, not to have required an investigation of the matter. We would have imagined that such an investigation would not only have been sought on the part of an accused official conscious of his innocence, but, untrammeled by his advice to the grand jury in the matter, would have been demanded and insisted upon. The attitude of the respondent herein, however, was not so intentioned or expressed. A question asked him by his own counsel and the answer thereto may be mentioned in palliation of his conduct in this regard. We quote from the transcript: "Q.: By the way, right in this connection, did you ever practice law in the State of California." We may properly express the hope that, as time passes, the respondent, with advancing years and more practice, will acquire an appreciation of the demands which the ethics of the profession impose. So learning, he will no doubt avoid like acts of impropriety and vehement characterization of individuals which the evidence here ascribes to him. While condemning in the strongest terms the acts of impropriety with the commission of which we find respondent guilty, we are not prepared, however, to find that the facts require a judgment of disbarment or suspension from practice, and exercising justly, as we believe, the discretionary power confided to this court.

The judgment prayed for in the accusation is denied.

High School Girl Whose Picture was Reproduced in Two Newspapers to Advertise a Film Star Asks Big Damages for "Mortification."

The reproduction of a photograph of Miss La Verne Burton, a 16-year-old Los Angeles High School girl, in San Francisco and Los Angeles newspapers last winter did justice to her excellent photograph. But unfortunately it was not Miss Burton's name appended to the reproduction, but the name of Miss Norma Talmage, a motion picture star billed to appear in a film production.

Yesterday Miss Burton, by her guardian, Mrs. Hazel E. Burton, filed suit against the photographer and the Vitagraph Company of America, demanding $60,000 actual damages and $15,000 exemplary and punitive damages. She declares she is not a motion picture actress; that she has never acted in any public entertainment and that the reproduction of her photograph to advertise a film star is a trespass and a violation of her right and privacy.

Miss Burton says she leads a quiet and retired life. Any reference to her as an actress is, she declares, peculiarly offensive, causing great mortification, embarrassment and humiliation, exposing her to ridicule, contempt and the derision of her friends. It is declared she has been caused mental anguish, and the notoriety has interfered with her studies at school. Furthermore, the publication is offensive to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Burton. The suit was filed by Attorneys Larrabee and Larzelere.

Presidential Delegates.

Assemblyman Bartlett, who is chairman of the Presidential Campaign Committee, said last night that the nominating petitions being circulated in the interests of the twenty-six men and women who were chosen at the State Republican Convention to represent California at the national convention in Chicago are being generously signed. As it is necessary to sign a petition for each candidate it is an arduous task but loyal Republicans have not hesitated because of the labor.

NEW WAIL FROM REDS' UTOPIA

Secretary of Desert "Paradise" Gets Menacing Letter.

The difficulty of managing the affairs of Job Harriman's socialistic Llano del Rio colony, near Palmdale, will probably again be aired in the local courts through the action brought by Secretary G. P. McCorkle against Leonard G. Langefeld, who is charged with threats to kill. The latter was arraigned yesterday before Justice Brown and will be given a preliminary hearing this afternoon if the court calendar will permit.

According to the affidavit of the complainant, Langefeld sent him a number of the Socialistic colony and his mother had invested $750 in the scheme. Several days ago, it is charged, Langefeld sent him a threatening letter, demanding that the major portion of that sum be returned as damages.

When arrested yesterday morning by Constable Hayes at his home, 6832 Denver street, Langefeld declared he and his mother had been duped. He stated that they had gone to the colony lands after having paid $750 for the privileges. On arriving the place so vividly and alluringly described as a veritable paradise, which all dreams of Socialism are true, Langefeld declared he and mother were assigned to the most tent, which contained no furniture.

Inclement weather, with many sharp cold, failed to secure the tent and son better accommodations or shelter, he said. "We were not the actual necessities of life, but not enough food to satisfy us," declared Langefeld.

"Not only were we starved almost to desperation, but I was taken sick and threatened with pneumonia. Medical attention was refused and it was only with difficulty that we secured sufficient money from other members of the colony to get back to Los Angeles. Our return was the end of our dreams of the air and I determined to have revenge against Job Harriman and other officials of the company, who I brought these unfounded charges and threats to kill against me."

Secretary McCorkle in addition of his action against Langefeld produced a letter which the latter is alleged to have written. It is addressed to McCorkle and follows: "I hereby demand you to return to me and deliver to my residence, the sum of $1500 (one thousand five hundred dollars) in gold for damages and the investment of $750 stolen from a poor widow.

"I am a sick man and must go to Denver on account of tuberculosis. I have but a short time to live, and if you don't pay this sum I will be croaked. A nice hole in your attic will settle your business of robbing poor women and sick men. He chooses, if you don't live. Pay or die, Corkle. Remember this is just what will happen if you don't obey."

Langefeld's name and address appear on the missive.
